She extolled the ten States which have given women equal rights and bitterly assailed the thirteen original States as the most hostile to the cause.

QUOTES THE DECLARATION.

Dr. Shaw quoted extensively from the original Declaration of Independence, and declared that it was not framed to exclude Jew or Gentile, male or female; its authors had no idea of depriving women of their liberties and the rights of suffrage.

"This is only a so-called right," said the president of the National Suffrage Association, "since only a small portion of it is free."

Among those who rode in the leading limousines to Independence Square were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braley of California, Miss Florence Allan of Utah, Mrs. Ella McHose of Boone, Iowa; the Rev. Mary Safford of Des Moines, Iowa; Mrs. Anna M. Orme, Miss Harriet Stanton Blatch, Miss Lucy Anthony and Mrs. Elizabeth Price Burns.

The chief figures of interest was the Rev. Anna H. Shaw, silvery-haired and golden-tongued, she held a little court wherever she appeared and after several hours of debate on vital measures, dinnerless, with a crowded five days before her, and a possible contest for continued leadership as national president looming on the horizon, she was still as unhurried, as magnetic

GIRL WHO KILLED MOTHER WILL MARRY IN JUNE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GREENSBURG (Pa.) Nov. 21. —[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Gladys Elizabeth Myers, who shot and killed her mother Mrs. J. Rappe Myers in a sleeping car on a Pennsylvania train near Trenton, N. J., early in the morning of November 13 is being carefully guarded in the fear that she will become insane and destroy herself as she has repeatedly threatened to do since the distressing tragedy.

Miss Myers who is slight of figure and has always been extremely nervous had a horror of burglars from childhood. She had read of robberies of trains, there having been an epidemic of that sort of crime last year, and women were robbed in sleeping cars. Because of this, she carried a revolver which she placed under the pillow in her berth. When her mother who had arisen early and gone to the dressing-room without awakening her daughter returned silently and opening the curtain of her berth, started to lean over her, the girl mistaking the intruder for a robber, snatched the revolver and fired, the shot resulting in the death of her mother a few hours later in a Trenton hospital.

The mother and daughter were returning from Salem, Va., where they had visited J. Blair Dillard, a druggist to whom the daughter was betrothed. He had given her some costly jewelry which she says the train she thought the intruder was the porter had noticed in particular and porter who intended to strangle and rob her. She was acquitted at the inquest and taken home in a state of collapse.

Miss Myers and J. Blair Dillard expect to be married next June, by which time it is believed that the young woman will have recovered from the shock.

ARBITRATE PANAMA TOLLS, ROOT'S PLEA APPLAUDED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Elihu Root, addressing men famous for their part in the life of the nation, State and city, who gathered tonight at the Waldorf to help the New York Chamber of Commerce celebrate its 144th birthday, analyzed what he said was the greatest danger now confronting the nation—the danger that great masses of people were out of touch and misunderstood other great masses. He made a stirring appeal to the nation to keep faith with England and submit to arbitration the question of tolls of the Panama Canal.

That he had won his point with the notable men present was shown by the great burst of cheers and applause that followed when he said:

"I say to you that if we refuse to arbitrate it we will be in a position of a merchant who is known to all the world to be false to his promises."

CARNEGIE WILL PENSION NATION'S EX-PRESIDENTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Future ex-Presidents of the United States are to be pensioned in the sum of $25,000 annually by action of the Carnegie corporation of New York today. The grant is provided for with the idea of enabling former Executives of the nation to devote their unique knowledge gained in public affairs to the public good, free from pecuniary care. A similar amount is to be paid widows of ex-Presidents as long as they remain unmarried.

The pensions are to be promptly offered to the ex-Presidents or their widows so that no application will be required from them. Payment is to be continued as long as the recipients remain unprovided for by the government."

The announcement followed the second annual meeting of the corporation held at the residence of Andrew Carnegie here.

Five of the eight trustees are the heads of the five institutions which peace, Elihu Root, president; the Carnegie endowment for international peace, Elihu Root, president; the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching, Henry S. Pritchett, president; the Carnegie institution of Washington, Robert S. Woodward, president; Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, Charles L. Taylor, president; Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, William N. Frew, president. The successors of the five men become ex-officio trustees of the Carnegie corporation of New York. In addition there are three life trustees. The trustees authorized this statement of the corporation's aims:

"A total of $125,000,000 in securities has thus far been transferred to the corporation, which will carry on the various works in which Mr. Carnegie has been engaged and such others as he may from time to time think it advisable to establish. Mr. Carnegie believes he has taken the surest means of securing for the future a body of the best possible trustees."

BATTLE OF THE TUBS.

The Kind Mrs. Grover Cleveland Used Supreme Court Judge Must Ascertain.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] Supreme Court Justice McCall was asked today to decide which of two kinds of tubs was the one formerly used by Mrs. Grover Cleveland in bathing her children, and whether a similar kind of tub was used by Lady Curzon for the morning ablutions of her children. Decision was reserved.

The question arose on a motion in behalf of Mrs. Sarah C. Neal, a trained nurse, who invented a bathtub for babies. Mrs. Neal asked to have a New York firm enjoined from selling a tub similar to her invention.

Photographs of wealthy babies in bathtubs were submitted to the court that he might have a clear idea of the two types of tub. Among the customers who used her tubs, Mrs. Neal includes the Vanderbilts, Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Mrs. William R. Hearst, Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid and Mrs. George Gould.

Turkish Troops Leaving for the Front.

In the picture is seen a regiment of Moslem infantrymen leaving the city of Jerusalem for European Turkey to take its place at the front in the war with the Balkan allies. A notion of the kind of weather prevailing in the holy city at the time the photograph was taken is gained by observing the parasols over the heads of men and women spectators. For many years Turkish troops have done guard duty in Jerusalem, where they maintain they are necessary to keep the Christians from fighting one another for possession of the sacred relics.

Germans and French Enter Protest at Athens.

Confirmatory Cablegram from Constantinople.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—The United States government today was asked to take action to protect Jews in Turkey against slaughter by the Greek conquerors.

The appeal was made by Adolph Kraus, international president of the B'nai B'rith.

Mr. Kraus forwarded to the State Department the text of a cable message which he received during the day from Constantinople, a few hours after Jews had been reported put to the sword in Salonika.

"I forwarded the cablegram to Washington by telegraph," said Mr. Kraus. "It tells its own story." The cable dispatch to Mr. Kraus read:

"In Salonika the Greeks are plundering the Jewish quarter, desecrating the synagogues and outraging the women. The German and French governments have protested at Athens. We pray you to urge the United States government to act."

AMERICAN CRUISERS COAL AT GIBRALTAR.

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 21.—The United States cruisers Tennessee and Montana arrived here this morning. They are coaling preparatory to proceeding to Turkish waters for the protection of American citizens in the Ottoman empire.

INSULT RESENTED WITH A MASSACRE.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

ATHENS, Nov. 21.—The Athens newspapers print a report published in Salonika that the Bulgarian officers at Serres, on the ground that they had been insulted by the Turkish populace, ordered the troops to fire, with the result that 500 persons were killed or wounded.

According to information from Janina, the Consuls have advised the Governor to surrender in order to avoid unnecessary bloodshed.

Greek steamers arrived at Piraeus today with 4000 Turkish prisoners from Salonika.

Greek troops have occupied the Turkish town of Florina, to the south of Monastir, and cut off the rear guard of the Turkish army retreating from Monastir after its capture by the Servians. Large quantities of ammunition and stores fell into the hands of the Greeks.

The Turkish soldiers who succeeded in escaping through the Servian lines around Monastir number about 20,000.

FRANCE DULY WARNS PORTE.

RESPONSIBLE FOR CHRISTIANS.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Nov. 21.—France notified the Turkish government today that she would hold Turkey responsible for any violence against Christians, and asked her to adopt rigid measures to prevent any outbreaks.

France took this step in fulfillment of her duty as the recognized protector of Christians in the Orient and as a result of reports that massacres of Christians were possible in different parts of the Ottoman empire.

BULGAR TORPEDO HITS. A TURKISH CRUISER.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

SOFIA (Bulgaria) Nov. 21.—The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh which was attacked today by Bulgarian torpedo boats in the Black Sea off the port of Varna, was hit by a torpedo. The vessel, however, put out to sea on being joined by another Turkish cruiser.

The four attacking torpedo boats returned to Varna with damaged smokestacks. The Turks reported two Bulgarian boats sunk.

Armistice Is Broken.

a document containing conditions for an armistice which were communicated today to the Council of Ministers and were considered to be unacceptable.

"Consequently and likewise, in view of the fact that the commander-in-chief has been trusted in principle with the task of negotiating conditions with the plenipotentiaries of the belligerent states—if these plenipotentiaries are invested with the necessary powers—and has also been directed to communicate the result of such negotiations to us—the commander-in-chief has been instructed to continue military operations, with the help of the Almighty, until reasonable and moderate conditions are proposed to us."

It is said the Bulgarian conditions included a demand for the surrender of Adrianople and Scutari, and withdrawal of the Turkish fleet from the Black Sea and the cessation of dispatch of troops to Tchataldje and the building of fortifications.

Gen Shupri Pasha, military commander of Adrianople, has received the title of "Ghazi," which means "victorious" in recognition of his splendid defense.

An official dispatch from the captain of the cruiser Hamidieh, which was attacked by Bulgarian torpedo boats in the Black Sea this morning, says he sank two of them and damaged a third, which was able to draw away.

"When at a distance of 2000 yards, the third torpedo boat discharged two torpedoes, inflicting slight damage on us. We eventually obliged her to withdraw out of range of our guns."

PROLONGATION OF WAR MAY EMBROIL EUROPE.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The formal suspension of the eastern war proved only for a day. Turkey rejected the Balkan terms for an armistice apparently before the plenipotentiaries had time to come together at Hadem Keui.

Khamil Pasha, the Grand Vizier, declared the allies' overtures were "impossible." He ordered the commander-in-chief to continue fighting "with the help of the Almighty until reasonable and moderate conditions were proposed."

This declaration came as an utter surprise, and diplomats are not wholly convinced the Ottoman troops will take up arms again in the cholera-stricken trenches of Tchataldje.

While the Bulgarian conditions—for Bulgaria is acting as the mouthpiece for the allies—were extreme, stipulating the surrender of Adrianople and Scutari, both of which are making a heroic defense, as well as the cession of all the territory except a narrow strip above Constantinople, these conditions were advanced as overtures; in other words, they are apparently put forward as a basis for negotiations.

The Porte treated them as an ultimatum and this perhaps is the oriental method of beginning negotiations, designed to induce the enemy further to show his hand. A Balkan diplomat in London pointed out tonight that these terms were submitted merely as an answer to Turkey's pressing and repeated demands for an armistice, and said:

"It is practically certain that their rejection will result in a more active and determined resumption of hostilities. Probably the allied troops will now refuse to treat with Turkey until they are in a position to dictate perhaps sterner terms in the capital of the Sultan."

The negotiations thus far have been conducted through the Russian Ambassador at Constantinople, but the Turkish Ambassador at Berlin was on his way to join his colleagues appointed to meet the Bulgarian representatives when the Turkish government's startling decision was telegraphed abroad.

Even yet it would seem that the Turkish officials have not abandoned hope that the powers will come to their rescue and attempt to dictate a compromise, but Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, announced tonight that the powers had not gone so far as to arrange a general conference after the conclusion of the war. Their only agreement, as far as surface indications go, is to keep their hands off.

The probability of the resumption of hostilities has started rumors afresh from Vienna of Austrian and Russian mobilizations on their borders, and a naval demonstration by the triple alliance on the Albanian coast, if Servia pushes her onward march to the coveted seaport.

The continued successful defense of the Tchataldje lines would strengthen Turkey's diplomatic position, but, defeat after prolonged fighting of her own choosing, would inflame the Bulgarians' desire to make a triumphal progress into Constantinople.

Popular clamor in Sofia is demanding more strongly each day that the advance stop only at the Bosphorus.

European military officials consider the terms of the allies harsh in one respect, that is, that they compel an unconditional capitulation of Scutari and Adrianople instead of allowing the garrisons to march out with the honors of war.

Two more chapters of the war are reported—a naval engagement off Varna between the Turkish cruiser Hamidieh and Bulgarian torpedo boats, and the occupation of Florina by the Greeks. The Bulgarians report that they did great damage to and probably sank the cruiser. The Turks report that they sank two torpedo boats and that the cruiser was only slightly damaged.

By the occupation of Florina, which lies south of Monastir, the Greeks, according to the Athens report, have cut off the rear guard of the Turkish army to the number of 20,000 retreating from Monastir.

CHINA BEARDS RUSSIAN BEAR.

DISPATCHING ARMY TO SAVE MONGOLIA FOR ITSELF.

Republic Will Also Maintain Its Claim to Manchuria and Big Secret Societies Are Stirring Up People of Republic to Patriotic Enthusiasm.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—The Chinese Free Press, a daily newspaper here, is in receipt today of the following dispatches bearing on the Mongolian situation.

The first, from Canton, reads:

"Wu Han Wen, Governor of the province of Kwang-Tung, is prepared to dispatch 20,000 troops to the Mongolian frontier for the protection of the inhabitants. The Governor appeals to all Chinese, in whatever portion of the world, to raise funds for the support of this patriotic cause."

From Peking the Free Press has this:

"The Peking government has dispatched 50,000 troops to Mongolia to protect the people who have opposed the convention between Russia and Mongolia in which Russia recognized Mongolian independence.

"The Chinese government has opened negotiations with the Russian government strongly opposing any Russian interference in Mongolian affairs."

Dispatches have been received here by Yow Gook Har, secretary to Fung Chi You, Secretary of State of Yuan Shi Kai's Cabinet, to the effect that an army of 60,000 has been mobilized in Peking and that Gen. Wong Hing, hero of the revolution, has been appointed its leader. According to a report, Gen. Wong Hing already has ordered his army north to Mongolia, with instructions to establish military rule in Mongolia and drive Russian soldiers out.

Cablegrams received from China in the local Chinese quarter announce that the republic is preparing to go to war with Russia for the possession of Manchuria. The big secret societies which fostered the revolution have been exchanging dispatches with President Yuan Shi Kai.

The Young China Association has opened subscription lists and lecturers have spoken at every Chinatown corner, explaining the encroachments of the Czar's troops in the ancient Chinese territory.

CHINA MAY DOCTOR TREATY.

AUTONOMY FOR MONGOLIA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A special cable to the Chicago Daily News from Peking, China, contains the following on the Mongolian situation:

"Lu Cheng Hsiang, formerly Premier, but now Minister of Foreign Affairs, yesterday presented a note to the Russian Minister concerning Russia's action in making a treaty with Mongolia. In this situation China appears to be following the tactics adopted by Tang Shao Yi in 1906, when he converted Sir Francis Younghusband's treaty with Tibet into a treaty with China.

"Tang Shao Yi's treaty, while embodying the text of the Tibetan treaty, altered it sufficiently to save China's susceptibilities.

"Lu Cheng Hsiang proposed altering Russia's recent note so as to preserve Chinese suzerainty over Mongolia with the minimum loss of control and dignity at the principal points, China to send sufficient soldiers to Mongolia to guard the Chinese residents and interests. The Chinese apparently are willing to concede autonomy to Mongolia, but they are not willing to allow lands, mines and railways to be owned and operated by foreigners, including Russians."

TURKS MYSTIFIED BY BULGARS' TACTICS.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Ashmead Bartlett, in a dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Constantinople, says:

"I have just returned here from the extreme east of the Turkish line, where I have been the last three days, and have been able to examine the whole position in this quarter. It is almost impossible to understand what is happening. Since Sunday and Monday's fight, there has been no real engagement, but merely a desultory artillery duel and now the Bulgarians are in retreat, having abandoned Tuesday, all the advanced positions they captured at 1 o'clock Monday morning.

"This move has taken the Turkish army completely by surprise, as for three days past, they have been expecting a decisive assault on the main line between Hademkeui and Jasoren. To meet this expected attack, they brought up all the reserves, but even then they were not confident of being able to hold the position and had made preparations for a general retirement, should the necessity arise. Now, without any apparent reason, the enemy abandons the positions he won, burns the railroad station at Tchataldje, and all the surrounding villages and retires, occupying high ground facing the right wing of the Turkish line, where he is reported to be strongly entrenching himself."

"What is the reason for this sudden abandonment of the offensive by the Bulgarians? No one can answer the question for certain, least of all and only reply "In shall"—(God and only reply "In shall" (God knows.)

"The effect of the retirement of the Bulgarians on the Turkish troops has been magical. They passed from almost excessive gloom to equally excessive optimism. Today when I rode round the lines of the second and Third Army Corps I found I was in an altogether changed atmosphere. There was an air of gaiety and self-confidence about the men which was lacking throughout the campaign."

Los Angeles Muddle Delays Secretary's Count.

Wilson Gained Twenty-eight Votes Yesterday.

Thirty-eight Counties Ready for Certification.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—After having spent the greater part of today in checking the totals of the San Francisco precincts, Statistician Cremin tonight announced his office force was up with the work of certification and would be able to complete it as soon as the returns from the seven outstanding counties are received. These counties are Los Angeles, Alameda, Santa Clara, Madera, Humboldt, Trinity and Del Norte. The first two counties are detained by court writs of mandate.

Thirty-eight of the fifty-eight counties of the State had been prepared for certification to the Governor when the work was concluded this evening. Six additional counties were checked today. The thirty-eight counties give Wallace, the leading Republican-Progressive elector, 84,910 votes, and Griffin, the leading Democrat, 98,045.

When the San Francisco lists are rechecked tomorrow, the final step in the procedure, and made ready for certification, Griffin's plurality will be raised substantially.

Two counties, San Bernardino and San Francisco, are in the hands of Deputy Cory of the Secretary of State's office for rechecking. Eleven are still out for trivial correction in the various counties.

Wallace lost one vote in Riverside county today, when it was ascertained the County Clerk had transcribed Precinct No. 1 incorrectly in that column. Other than this change no corrections were made.

ORANGE COUNTY ERROR.

No opinion has yet been received from the Attorney-General by Secretary of State Jordan with reference to the error in Orange county.

The counties checked today and the votes cast in each for the leading Progressive and Democratic electors follow:

County.	Wallace.	Griffin.

WAGERS CALLED OFF.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Nov. 21.—At a gathering of local bettors held today it was decided that owing to the complicated turn the election returns have taken all bets will be called off and the money withdrawn. The alleged tampering with the ballots in Los Angeles was discussed during the meeting and this phase of the count brought about the agreement to call off all wagers placed on Wilson and Roosevelt.

UTILIZE FLOW OF COLORADO.

Surplus Water Will Reclaim Five Million Acres.

Yuma Closes Shop to Attend River Convention.

Los Angeles Held Up to View as a Wonder City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YUMA, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Every store in Yuma closed today, the courts adjourned and the public schools were dismissed that the people might attend the Arizona-California river regulation convention held at the Zeller Theater.

The stupendous scheme to have the government spend $50,000,000 out of a general appropriation of $500,000,000 asked for by the Newlands bill, at a rate of $5,000,000 a year that the flow of the Colorado River and its tributaries may be controlled and 5,000,000 acres of land be brought under irrigation was discussed by eminent and brilliant speakers before an enthusiastic assembly.

SPECIALISTS AND ENTHUSIASTS.

All River Valley was represented by John B. Orme, president of the Association of Water Users there and Eugene Brady O'Neil. Graham county was represented by State Senator William W. Pace. Seated upon the stage were irrigation specialists and enthusiasts from many sections of the country, including Imperial and Yuma, Cal., and bankers and merchants and prominent land holders of Yuma and its valleys.

Joel H. Smith, president of the Salt River Water Users' Association, presided. In calling the meeeting to order he emphasized the fact that there will be a strategic point in the immense project now before the people.

HOMES FOR THE PEOPLE.

Eugene Brady O'Neil, said that farmers can never spend too much money in preparing homes for its people. If this country could afford to do that it has expended to maintain and develop the Philippines, it is much better afford to create a real empire within its own confines. Millions spent in building the Panama Canal are now more vital to the welfare of the United States than will be the proposed expenditure on the great conservation scheme. It is true that this country can take care of persons who are now under industrial bondage within forty-eight hours of starvation and give them the freedom of the soil. No investment goes beyond the design and support of its citizens and it benefits all the people of the West, he said, to clamor for this good work which is not a dream, but which is the vision of those possessing the spirit of prophesy.

LOGIC AND PHOPHECY.

George H. Maxwell, presented the case with dramatic fervor and when speaking of this 5,000,000 acres of land from Bull's Head reservoir to the international boundary as a vast, exotic, copious and illimitable area was a thunderburst of applause. His argument contained as much logic as fervency, insisting that the government has as much right to put to use the water now only an agency of destruction as it has to protect the people of Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Mississippi and Louisiana from floods. He explained that the government cannot expend the vast sum directly for irrigation, but can protect the west from floods expend it protects the East and the water thus conserved be put to wonderful use. What has been done in the past is only as the laying of a cornerstone for the great construction of the future.

INCALCULABLE RICHES.

"Before we face the rising sun," said Maxwell, "thus far we have only been stepping stones over which we have raised ourselves to future achievements. The water of the Colorado holds incalculable riches. Here in this mighty basin we have as much land as has ever been under cultivation along the Nile. There is no reason why it should not be as large as Alexandria and why Needles should not be a greater city than Cairo."

LOS ANGELES A WONDER CITY.

The world wonders at the growth of Los Angeles. Within a few years that city has towered into a metropolis. Yuma can experience a like magnificent through the development of the waste waters. The people as well as wafer to make this fruition and the people available in vast armies. Instance's immediate need is the case of the great colonization and education so that the East with small means can come to understand that ten acres can give comforts that he never can by wage-earning in any city, that a tract of land of this size larger profits in the West than acres could net him in the Illinois."

At the conclusion of the meeting the chair of the Yuma County Commercial were delegated to raise $1000 as a contribution of the valley towards the Arizona-California river project and its Ways and Means committee, consisting of Dr. Fetherside, F. E. Elliott and Smith, announced that they would immediately go to work to organize an educational campaign that will be its end the unifying of interest in this part of the country in the great plan.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MA, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Every store in Yuma closed this morning, the courts adjourned and the public schools were dismissed that the children might attend the Arizona-California river regulation convention to be held in the Zeller Theater.

The stupendous scheme to have the government spend $50,000,000 out of the next appropriation of $500,000,000 asked for by the Newlands bill, a total of $5,000,000 a year that the waters of the Colorado River and its tributaries may be controlled and millions of acres of land be brought under irrigation was discussed by practical and brilliant speakers before the enthusiastic assembly.

H. Smith, president of the Imperial Valley Water Users' Association, opened the meeting by calling the meeting to order and emphasized the fact that Yuma would be a strategic point in the reclamation project now before the people.

Mr. Maxwell contained as much logic in his speech insisting that the government was much right to put to water now only an agency as well as it has to protect the floods in Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana by floods. He explained that government cannot expend money directly for irrigation, but that the west from floods expended protects the East and the saving of the water thus conserved is wonderful use. What is done in the past is only as the laying of a cornerstone for the erection of the future.

INCALCULABLE RICHES.

"We face the rising sun," said, "thus far we have only turned stones over which we have to future achievements. Under the soil of the Colorado holds untold riches. DRESSES HER HAIR FIRST.

Girl in a Wrecked Building in Portland Takes Her Time About the Business of Getting Out.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Eva Aldrich, 20 years old, night telephone operator for the Equitable Hospital Association, who had offices on the Sixth-street front on the fourth floor of the eight-story Marquam Building, was sleeping in one of the office rooms when she was awakened at 4 o'clock this morning by a crash. Arising she found that one wall of her room had fallen out. Looking further she saw that the whole eight floors and outer walls of the section of the building were gone, and a cloud of rising dust showed where the debris lay in the street.

"I thought right away that perhaps part of the building had fallen," she said, afterwards, "because we had been joking about the possibility of such a thing. I got up and looked out of the window and saw that only the reception-room was between me and the place where one of our offices had fallen."

Miss Aldrich was scared, but she did not run. She telephoned to her chief, Dr. L. Morey, who told her to hurry and leave. Then she telephoned to Mason Manghum, attorney for the company, who said the same thing. But before she finally went she used the telephone a third time and carefully dressed her hair before she went to the street.

The Marquam Building had been undergoing alterations and a heavy false work which supported a section of it had given away. The section affected is about thirty feet wide by forty feet deep and is completely wrecked.

CHICO WANTS NEW ROAD.

Willing to Put Up Thousands of Dollars to Divert Trade Now Going to Oroville.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICO, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A company of Chico and Butte county people interested in the eastern part of the county have organized for the purpose of building a road to take the place of what is now termed the Humboldt road and which will have for its object the switching of traffic and business that now goes by direct route to Oroville.

On account of the impassable condition of roads leading from eastern Butte to Chico, this city has lost much of the trade that naturally belongs here and it is to regain this prestige that the local people will put up several thousands of dollars for the construction of the new thoroughfare. It will traverse the Bidwell property, pass Soda Springs and tap the Butte Meadow region and have a terminal at Prattville. That is the center of eastern Butte business, and from that point thousands of dollars' worth of business is sent monthly, Oroville now getting it all.

DEADLY FIGHT WITH COYOTE.

Wounded and Enraged Beast Had Better of Elk Grove Man When Stockman Makes Timely Rescue.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ELK GROVE (Cal.) Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Nin Coons of this place reports a deadly struggle with a wounded and enraged coyote in the brush on the McConnell ranch near here, in which but for the timely arrival of help, he would have come out second best.

Coons states that he saw the animal devouring the carcass of a sheep and fired once, wounding it. Immediately the beast sprang for his throat and a desperate struggle ensued. In an effort to throw off the coyote Coons slipped and fell with the wild animal on top, clawing and biting. At this moment, a stockman arrived and dispatched the coyote with a hunting knife.

It is the intention of the officials to commence the erection of the building without delay.

FORTUNE IN OLD PAINTING.

Masterpiece Picked up for Trifle in Monterey Second-Hand Shop Brings Big Sum From Museum.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MONTEREY, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A painting picked up in a Monterey second-hand store by the famous Danish artist, Hugo V. Pedersen for $15 has been sold to an English museum for $20,000, the picture proving to be an old Dutch masterpiece.

Pedersen succeeded in restoring the canvas, of which he sent descriptions with photographs to leading art critics, and in this way made it possible of identification as one of a period when Dutch genius did not affix its name, each painter then having his individual way of working.

The local shopman purchased the painting from an old lady with a lot of house furnishings, the woman remarking that the picture had been in the family over 200 years and had been brought to America from the old country. A festive gathering in the wooded place near a village is the motif of the work, some sixty figures showing in the gay scene painted in oil on wood. Pedersen has passed two years at Monterey finishing sketches made in India.

RENEW FIGHT ON ORIENTALS.

Women's Clubs of California Sound Tocsin.

Would Bar Japanese from Owning Property.

Will Urge Legislature to Enact Laws.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first note of what may become a State-wide movement to prevent orientals from owning property in California was sounded today in the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Northern District of California Women's Clubs.

It is the first rumble of the approaching storm that is sure to break at the next session of the Legislature, when pressure will be brought to bear to have the State of California carry through the laws against orientals which were squelched in the Legislature of 1909.

Mrs. J. Henry Miller pointed out the growth of the Japanese, their tactics of gobbling up property cheap by first lowering its price by their presence, and spoke of their standards of living that forever bar them from equal association with Caucasian races.

She told how a Japanese had approached her with an exceedingly large offer for her residence and explained its size by stating that surrounding property would drop in value as soon as Japanese took possession of her house. His offer was refused.

Delegate after delegate sanctioned the views of Mrs. Miller. The Executive Committee was undecided whether it would be better to make an effort to have such laws passed by the Legislature or by Congress. The women have not investigated the legal phases of the proposed movement.

TO MAKE MARKETING EASIER.

National Grange at Seattle Indorses Plan for State and National Bureaus of Information.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPOKANE, (Wash.) Nov. 21.—The Brauer plan for a $10,000,000 corporation for direct co-operative marketing of farm products was voted down by the National grange today after a sharp fight. In place of the Brauer plan the grange indorsed a plan for State and National "bureaus of information," as the first step toward co-operative marketing of farm products.

A resolution calling upon each State to send a delegation to Europe to study rural credit systems and asking the Legislature of each State to appropriate $2400 for this purpose, was adopted, as was a resolution indorsing the Senate bill providing for a bureau of markets in the Department of Agriculture.

Matters still pending include proposed changes in the constitution and bylaws with reference to expulsion of members by subordinate oranges and proportionate representation in the national grange.

REPRIEVES MURDERER.

Instead of Two There Will Be Only One Hanging at San Quentin Today Because of Executive Clemency.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Gov. Johnson today issued a reprieve to Willie Luis, who was under sentence to be hanged tomorrow at San Quentin prison for the murder of his father's American-Chinese wife, who had taken the place of his mother, who is living in China. This reprieve extends to December 6, 1912. Luis was sentenced from San Luis Obispo county in 1910. Gov. Johnson declined to comment on the reprieve or to give his reasons for extending clemency.

Thus instead of two hangings tomorrow at San Quentin there will be but one, the execution of Alexander Szafscar, who murdered his divorced wife in San Francisco early this year.

ASPIRES TO BLACK'S SEAT.

Herbert C. Jones, Indorsed by Educators, to Be Republican Candidate for State Senate.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the names of large percentage of the faculty of Stanford University, the University of Santa Clara and the College of the Pacific attached, the nomination petition of Herbert C. Jones, to succeed Marshall Black as State Senator from the Twenty-eighth Senatorial District, was placed on file with the County Clerk today. Jones is the Republican nominee in the recall election to be held January 2, as the result of the disclosures of Black's financial methods in his management of the affairs of the Palo Alto Mutual Building and Loan Association.

Prof. R. L. Green of Stanford University, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, filed a petition which bears 421 signatures instead of the seventy required by law. More than 100 of the signers are business and professional men of Palo Alto, where Marshall Black lived and conducted his business prior to his arrest for embezzlement from the Palo Alto Mutual.

Jones's high scholarship standing in the law department of Stanford University, his interest in the Sempervirens Club, which is essentially an organization of educators, and his interest in College Park School affairs brought him the indorsement of the large number of educators who signed his petition, it is said by the signers. Black is still in the County Jail here and will not be free to make a fight against the recall proposition, according to present plans of the District Attorney.

STANDARDIZATION OF PACK.

Fruit Growers of Placer and El Dorado Favor State Legislation to Enforce Pure Food Act Rules.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PLACERVILLE, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is a strong sentiment among the fruit growers of this county in favor of State legislation, if possible, to govern the packing of deciduous fruits in California, the object being to enforce certain rules under a pure food act which would result in practical standardization of the pack throughout the State.

As the matter now stands, only two counties in the State (Placer and El Dorado) market their fruits under a system of complete standardization—which means that the contents of each package is correctly told by the label upon the outside and that a purchaser desiring to order a similar quality of fruit has only to refer to the label upon the first package to be assured of getting it duplicated.

Asa W. Daniels, secretary of the El Dorado County Fruit Growers' Alliance, is investigating the matter with a view to having a bill presented to the next Legislature that will compel the Japanese, Chinese and irresponsible fruit growers to live up to some recognized rules in the matter of packing and labeling fruit to be shipped out of the State.

Butte County Pioneer Who Lived Over Half Century in One House, Dies at Chico Vecino.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICO, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank Delaney, one of the oldest and best-known residents of Butte county, died at his home in First avenue, Chico Vecino, this city today at the age of 76 years.

Delaney had practically lived in one house for over half a century and had been a resident of Chico for sixty years, coming here when a mere boy and before there was a settlement of any great magnitude here. He was taken ill three days ago and died unexpectedly. Delaney was one of the rugged pioneers who came across the plains when a lad and was always full of reminiscences that would, if gathered together, make an interesting and thrilling narrative. He was known throughout the northern end of the State, and in Chico had always been identified with every move that meant for the best interest of the community. His funeral will take place Sunday.

ASSAIL GOMPERS.

Delegates to the Federation of Labor in Rochester Have a Row Over Chief's Course.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) Nov. 21.—An important feature of today's session of the convention of the American Federation of Labor was the adoption of the report of the Committee on the President's Report. This indorsed the non-political policy pursued by Gompers and other officials of the federation.

The indorsement came after a long debate.

Andrew Gallagher representing the California State Federation of Labor, introduced an amendment to the committee's report, proposing that the matter of forming a national labor party should be left to the Executive Council of the Federation.

Gompers declared the amendment out of order and Gallagher appealed.

In the vote on the appeal Socialist members of the radical wing voted with members of the conservative wing to sustain the president's ruling.

The committee's recommendations for the continuance of the federation's non-political policy then was approved by a large majority. In this vote radicals, including Socialists, opposed the committee's recommendations and conservatives favored the committee's views.

An attack on the political stand taken by Gompers was made by Max S. Hayes.

Hayes assailed the report of the committee on the president's report which included a concurrence with Gompers' stand in the recent campaign. Hayes declared he would not stand by the report favoring the Democratic party.

A motion to allow the executive council to take over the matter of forming a new national labor party was defeated by a decisive vote and the motion that the federation should continue its policy of non-partisanship in politics was carried.

WOULD DELAY CANAL A YEAR.

Hence Commission Modifies Coastwise Ruling.

Foreign Vessels Permitted to Carry Material.

American Ship Builders Are Disappointed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—With a delay of perhaps a year in the completion of the Panama Canal in prospect unless foreign vessels are allowed to continue carrying material and supplies to the canal zone, the Interstate Commerce Commission decided today to modify its recent administrative ruling that "shipments destined from points in the United States to Porto Rico, the canal zone or the Philippine Islands are coastwise shipments."

The precise terms of the modified order are not yet available, but they will amount practically to a withdrawal of the order.

The original ruling of the commission was recognized as of vital importance to vessel owners throughout the world. Under the status of this country, coastwise shipping may be carried only in American vessels. The commerce between the United States and the canal zone, Porto Rico and the Philippines now is carried largely by vessels flying foreign flags.

By the terms of the commissions ruling shipments to the territories named could be carried only in American ships. The ruling was hailed joyously by American shipbuilders, one of whom informed the commission yesterday that it would mean the doubling of the capacity of his shipyard.

The government itself, however, and particularly the isthmian canal commission, was thrown into a commotion by the ruling. The matter was presented immediately to the commission with the statement that the ruling, if it should stand, would be a heavy blow to the construction of the canal, delaying its completion probably a year.

CHEAP SEATS IN CONGRESS.

Successful Candidates in California Spend From Nothing to a Few Hundred for Election.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21. — [Exclusive Dispatch.] California Congressmen who ran in the last election did not spend very large sums for their campaigns.

Reports of election expenses filed with the clerk of the House, show that Representative Raker spent nothing, Representative Kent, $255; Representative Needham, $744; Representative Hayes, $626.

A few of the others spent small sums and the expense accounts of a few of the Congressmen have not been received by the clerk yet.

NEW SHIP FOR CANAL TRAFFIC.

Santa Cecilia Is Latest of Four Additional Lumber Carriers for San Francisco Firm.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Word was received at the local offices of the shipping firm of W. R. Grace & Company that another vessel will be added to its fleet to be placed in the lumber trade between Pacific Coast ports and New York with the opening of the Panama Canal.

The launching of the new ship, which is to be christened the Santa Cecilia, will place four carriers in the company's new intercoastal trade.

The Santa Cruz, which was launched this month on the Atlantic Coast, will go into commission immediately, to be followed shortly by the Santa Clara, a steamer of 10,000 tons. The Santa Catalina, of the same tonnage, will be ready by August 1, 1913, and the other vessel will leave the ways in the following September. In shipping circles here it is thought that the canal will be opened to ships by September, 1913.

The new ships will carry general merchandise into the Pacific from New York and return by way of the canal laden with lumber, opening the New York market direct to California redwood and Oregon pine for the first time.

URGE FOUR NEW BATTLESHIPS.

Germany and Japan Will Outstrip United States, Declares the Navy League in Statement.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Members of the Navy League of the United States are preparing a statement to be presented to Congress to back up the demand of the General Navy Board, presided over by Admiral Dewey, which recently reported that Congress should appropriate for four battleships at the next session or this nation would fall behind Japan in the race for naval supremacy.

The statement shows that Germany, the nearest naval rival of the United States, is rapidly outstripping this country in strength, even if Congress appropriates for two battleships per year, which has been the programme for several years until the last session, when the Democrats refused to allow more than one battleship. At the present rate of shipbuilding of both countries, Germany in 1915 will possess twenty-one capital warships and the United States only eleven.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Agitation that has recently sprung up in Chicago for State control of private banks, led J. H. He described it as one of the biggest banking swindles in existence and said no law for the regulation of private banks should be made without including it. "The 'garlic bank' is started," he said, "by an Italian whose only asset is ingenuity." Mr. Nicolai says in the last two years as many as twenty of these banks have failed. The depositors did not even know enough to complain.

REBELS TAKE PALOMAS WITH DYNAMITE BOMBS.

All of Madero's Troops in Border Town Taken Prisoners With Their Supplies and Ammunition—Gen. Blanco Defeats Two Insurrecto Bands and Kills Their Leaders—President Blames Press for Disturbances.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 21.—One hundred Federal troops defending the Mexican port of Palomas on the New Mexico border made a determined fight today against some 300 rebels and surrendered only after two distinct engagements, the last of which was fought from house to house.

By employing dynamite bombs, the rebels entered the town early in the day and a cessation of firing led to the belief on the American side that the port had fallen. But this afternoon it was learned that the Federals still held their position and were being urged to continue by their commander, Col. Francisco Corella, who, though wounded in the leg, remained on the firing line.

Brisk fighting continued two more hours, until the government troops were threatened again by hand grenades, and compelled to surrender. Aside from one Federal captain, who early in the day fled to the American side, all of the government troops were taken prisoners, with guns, supplies and ammunition.

Maj. McDonald of the Thirteenth United States Cavalry sent word that both rebel and Federal wounded would be cared for on the American side, but so far none has taken advantage of the offer. Reports give the Federal loss as seven killed and ten wounded, while the rebels lost fourteen killed and wounded.

Rebel success in Palomas creates a peculiar condition. With the revolutionary forces under Gen. Ines Salazar now in command opposite Columbus, only seventy-three miles to the east, Federals under Gen. Trucy Aubert still retain Juarez, opposite El Paso.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21.—The report that the town of Acanbay, in the northern part of the State of Mexico, was destroyed by Tuesday's earthquake was renewed today in the El Oro and a number of doctors immediately proceeded to the scene. It is said the victims numbered a hundred. The town had 2000 inhabitants. Telegraphic communication is uninterrupted.

REBELS SACK MAGUEY RANCH. IT IS OWNED BY AMERICANS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Reports from Durango, Mex., to the State Department state that the American-owned maguey ranch, sixty miles west of Durango, was completely sacked and its buildings burned November 20 by a force of 100 revolutionists. A detachment of Mexican Federal cavalry is pursuing the rebels.

MADERO SCORES THE PRESS. BLAMED FOR MEXICO'S ILLS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21.—The press was scored by President Madero at last night's banquet as being largely responsible for the ills of Mexico. It created disrespect for authority, he said, and encouraged the government's enemies. He declared a new law was necessary to curb and punish offenders.

HETTY GREEN TELLS SECRET OF HER ROSY CHEEKS.

"Jesus Never Rode in an Automobile," Declares Septuagenarian Who, Despite Her Millions, Walks to Work—Does Not Wear Corsets and Disapproves of Suffrage.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Hetty Green is 78 years old today and she attributes her remarkably good health to chewing onions. The richest woman in the world, who has color in her cheeks that a young girl might envy, says it was onions that put it there and not rouge. Next to onions she thinks walking is the finest thing for health.

"Most people don't like the smell of onions," says Mrs. Green, "but I find that chewing an onion—a well baked onion—after breakfast, kills any germs that might be in a steak or the milk and keeps my digestion fine. The piece of onion I'm chewing now will last me all day."

Mrs. Green has a prejudice against automobiles and she began the celebration of her birthday by walking to her office at No. 111 Broadway this morning.

"Jesus never rode in an automobile," she said, "and I can get along without one."

Mrs. Green says another reason she has always enjoyed good health is because she has never worn corsets.

"I do not approve of suffrage," she says; "a woman's place is in her home taking care of her husband and children. I took care of my husband and his stomach and he lived to be 83 years of age."

Stephen La Porte, After Conversion in Chicago Mission, Confesses Murder Five Years Old.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stephen La Porte, who gave himself up in Chicago to answer to a murder charge in Arizona, smiled today when he was told that he was to be taken back.

Walter Taylor, a former bartender in Roberts's saloon, Tucson, Ariz., was the man killed five years ago.

Taylor found La Porte calling on Mrs. Taylor. In the scene that followed La Porte shot Taylor dead with a rifle.

After working in many cities and States since leaving Arizona, La Porte, who took the name of Robert Livingston, arrived in Chicago. He attended a mission service, was converted and confessed.

Deputy Sheriff P. E. Fermald of Pima county, Arizona, arrived to take him back today.

Call Issued for Meeting of State Tuberculosis Commission to Consider Proposed Legislation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Dr. W. F. Snow, secretary of the State Board of Health, today notified members of the State Tuberculosis Commission to meet in Los Angeles November 30 to December 2, inclusive. The meeting is called for the purpose of considering proposed legislation for the control of tuberculosis in California, and to prepare estimates on the appropriations wanted to fight the disease for the next biennial period.

and forceful as if she had not a political care in the world.

DAUGHTER OF CLAY.

Miss Laura Clay of Kentucky, daughter of the late Cassius M. Clay, was another much-observed figure. Pretty, placid and amiable, she greeted the other Kentuckians and the delegates from other States who wanted to be presented. She is corresponding secretary of the State society, a former State president, and the woman who is mentioned as a compromise candidate in case Bull Moose supporters of Jane Addams should too strongly urge her for the presidency at the election next Monday.

MAYOR'S WELCOME.

In his welcoming address, Mayor Blankenburg said:

"There was a time when we used to speak of the 'Wooly West.' Well, you have carried your wool to market and it has made it a beautiful coat. We are ready for woman suffrage in Pennsylvania and they are ready for it in New York and even the South will fall in line before long. It is only a question of a short time before the time for woman suffrage will sweep the States from one end to the other."

Mrs. Blankenburg, a daughter of Lucretia Mott, raising her right hand, with great emphasis, said:

"Come to us in 1915, for we expect to be free then. Our State now stands for progression and we soon expect to be free."

Philadelphia has a Mayor who does not sidestep woman's suffrage and who is not called out of town the day he is to welcome the convention, and his name is Adolph Blankenburg. And he didn't pay so many compliments that he forgot to mention where he stood on the great question. In fact the only compliment he paid the women was to address them as if they were intelligent human beings.

"I do not know what you are here for," said Mayor Gaynor, when he addressed the New York Federation of Women's Clubs.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Mayor Blankenburg knew exactly what the women were assembled for and he lost no time in telling them he was there for the same purpose. That was a glorious meeting under the century-old elms in Independence Square as the bells and whistles sounded the hour of 12 and the women of all the nation through their representatives promulgated the new declaration of independence. The brilliant sunshine and soft air were of May rather than November. The ancient historic hall made an admirable background for the hundreds of blue and yellow suffrage banners, linking the old and the new in the same demand for the inalienable rights of citizenship, while from his lofty pinnacle on the tower of the City Hall William Penn looked approvingly down upon the new woman calling for that justice of which he was the great examplar.

HIS DOUBT REMOVED.

The director of public safety who was in some doubt as to whether he would allow this "desecration" of Independence Hall, evidently had his doubt removed. He wouldn't do it for the Industrial Workers of the World, but the women told him they were industrial workers of the world and they never counseled lawlessness and anarchy. So they had their five stands, each surrounded by a dense crowd and the battalion of police had nothing to do but shout "Keep off the grass."

"But why do you make us get off and not those others?" one woman asked.

"Oh, some women won't," was the answer, "but them as will, must."

"Women wouldn't use the ballot if they had it," said one man impersonally to a group. They happened to be from California and Colorado and the next time he makes that remark he will be careful to avoid an audience of western women.

"Dose vimmen dey ain't got sense enough to vote," said one recent arrival in the steerage and the white wings gathered him up.

There is a good deal of quiet electioneering going on tonight, but the situation has not developed sufficiently to make it clear how much of a fight there is to be when the time for election comes.

There is some talk of an agreement on a ticket which will prevent a contest, but the names are not mentioned and the leaders will not talk of it.

BIG DELEGATION FROM CALIFORNIA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. J. Braly of Los Angeles, heading the delegation from that State, said that the main thing that impressed her about the suffrage cause was its religious significance and she thought that when the question was again submitted to the voters of the other States it would triumph because of this fact and because suffragists were in the right in demanding that women should have the ballot to protect the interests of the women and children.

The California delegation is among the largest represented here. They are allied with other western associations who are urging Jane Addams of Chicago as the president for the new year.

Dr. Anna Shaw has expressed a desire to retire and the demand of the western delegates is for Jane Addams to succeed her and the California delegates are conducting a quiet, but vigorous campaign for the noted leader of Hull House.

Representative women of all the western States which adopted suffrage at the last election were called upon to express their views as to why they were successful and they all gave different reasons.

Mrs. Gibbs of Portland said that the success of the movement was due to the campaign waged by the newspapers.

Mrs. Johnson of Kansas attributed their success to the fact that they had taught the men that votes could be had without the expenditure of much money as they polled enough votes to win at a cost of $16,000.

If He Does Not Get a Colorado Senatorship, Alva Adams May Be Secretary of Interior.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] Numbered among the prominent Democrats in the West, who are mentioned as Cabinet possibilities in political discussion in Washington, is Alva Adams, former Governor of Colorado, who is being actively boomed for Secretary of the Interior. Behind the boom for Adams are influential Democrats from several western States, who claim he was one of the "original" Wilson men in Colorado, and contributed materially to the support of the New Jersey Governor in that State.

Owes Her Life to Eckman's Alterative

A Valuable Remedy for Throat and Lungs

Eckman's Alterative is being used with success in the treatment of Tuberculosis in all parts of the country. Persons who have taken it, improved, gained weight, exhausting night sweats stopped, fever diminished, and many recovered. If you are interested to know more about it, we will put you in touch with some who are now well. You can investigate and judge for yourself. Read of Mrs. Govert's recovery.

Griffith, Ind.

"Gentlemen: Thinking that perhaps a short history of the remarkable recovery of my mother-in-law (Mrs. Anna Govert,) might benefit some other sufferers, I give the following testimonial: About September 10, 1908, she was taken sick with Catarrial Pneumonia, and continually grew worse, requiring a trained nurse. Her sweats were so bad that it was necessary to change her clothing once or twice every night; her cough increased and so bad that everybody expected that she would not live much longer. In January, when Rev. Wm. Berg, of St. Michael's Church, at Shereville, Ind., prepared for her death, he recommended that I get Eckman's Alterative, and see if it would not give her some relief. I then requested the attending physician to give his diagnosis and he informed me that she had Consumption and was beyond all medical aid. When I asked if he thought that it was useless to try the Alterative, he replied that 'No physician could help her any and I could quit myself about it.' So I immediately had Rev. Wm. Berg to send for a bottle. Practically without hope of recovery, I insisted that she try the Alterative, which she did. I am glad to say that she soon began to improve. Now, she works as hard as ever, weighs twenty pounds heavier than she ever did before she took sick, and is in good health. She frankly says she owes her life and health to Eckman's Alterative."

(Sworn Affidavit) JOS. GRIMMER

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by The Owl Drug Co., and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.—[Advertisement.

SWEPT BY WAVE AND HURRICANE.

Direful Conditions Prevail on Jamaica.

Tidal Bore Declared Highest in a Century.

Official Estimate of Dead Exceeds a Hundred.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

KINGSTON, (Jamaica) Nov. 21.—The official estimate of the dead in the hurricane and tidal wave that visited the western part of Jamaica, fixes the number at more than 1[illegible] in the coast towns alone. Details gradually coming in, indicate great devastation in the western section.

Practically all lighters, coasting ships and small craft in the harbors of Green Island, Montego bay, Lucea and Savannah la Mar, foundered and many of the sailors were drowned. Many persons living in these towns lost their lives in the collapse of buildings.

The houses of the American colony at Montego were badly damaged, but no casualties are reported. The Governor-General of Jamaica, Sir Sidney Olivier, reached Montego bay today and found conditions so direful that he immediately ordered the dispatch of several hundred additional troops and large quantities of food supplies from Kingston. The railroad lines now are working within many miles of Montego bay, but telegraph lines are dis-organized.

TIDAL WAVE

The tidal wave at Savannah la Mar was the highest in a century. A coasting vessel was washed half a mile up the main street. Fully 75 per cent. of the houses were torn down during the hurricane. The principal hotels were unroofed and were all the churches and the [illegible] depots.

SWEPT BY THE SEA.

The sea swept over the streets in the lower section of the town and many of dwellings were piled up in gigantic heap at the mouth of a river where the largest number of bodies were recovered. An American artist who happened to be in that town during the hurricane said 4[illegible] bodies had been recovered up to the time of his departure.

At Green Island, 18 miles southwest of Lucea, the American [illegible] said there was much wreckage ashore and added that no sign of life could be seen.

At Lucea ten dead bodies were found directly after the storm had subsided.

Will Tackle Mt. Everest and Propose Propagation of Fur-Bearing Animals in Arctics.

PENDLETON (Or.) Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Announcement that he had retired from a life of exploration and that an attempt to climb Mt. Everest, the highest peak in the world, will be his next feat, was the principal feature of the visit of Dr. Frederick Cook, claimant to the title of North Pole discoverer here.

Mt. Everest is 29,002 feet high.

The plan nearest his heart, however, Dr. Cook says, is the promotion of a move to foster and propagate fur-bearing animals of the Arctic regions, which are now being fast exterminated.

Dr. Cook's charge that Admiral Peary tried to cause his death by stealing large quantities of supplies was the most interesting part of Dr. Cook's lecture at the theater. He was bitter in denouncing Peary and declared he was ready to go to any [illegible] and prove his charges.

Birdman Known in America Hurled to Death.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]
RHEIMS (France) Nov. 21.—Two aviators were killed in France today, one, Andrew Frey, at Rheims, and the other, Sub-Lieutenant Laurent, at Etampes. Frey was well known on both sides of the water. He finished third in the international aviation race at Chicago in September.
He was undergoing military training today and had just finished a regular practice flight. He stopped his engine at a height of about 800 feet and planed down beautifully until within 150 feet of the ground. Then suddenly the right wing of the monoplane shot up, and the machine dropped to earth. Frey was badly crushed.
Lieut. Laurent and Sappeur Chenu were making a flight near Etampes at a speed of sixty miles an hour, when a squall caught the aeroplane as the pilot attempted to make a sharp turn, and it was dashed to the ground with terrific force. Laurent was killed, but Chenu escaped with slight injuries.

ATTORNEY IS NOT GUILTY.

Lawyer Acquitted by Marysville Jury of Subornation of Perjury in Thompson Murder Case.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
MARYSVILLE (Cal.) Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Not guilty" was the verdict rendered this morning by the jury in the case of M. T. Brittan, charged with subornation of perjury, after being locked up since 6 o'clock last night.
Judge McDaniels postponed time of sentence for W. A. Thompson until tomorrow morning. Thompson was found guilty of assault to commit murder upon Alice Marshall at the Concentration Camp.
It was in the defense of Thompson that it was alleged Brittan induced the woman to "forget her story" told when she thought she was dying, thereby causing a subornation of perjury to be lodged against him.

HT FROM THE EAST ON THE LIVING ISSUES.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] The following editorial comment on topics of the hour are taken from eastern newspapers:

ASH APPOMATTOX.

THE SIEGE OF MONASTIR.
[New York Sun, Nov. 20:] The surrender of the Turkish forces about Adrianople suggests that the siege has reached its Appomattox. The army surrendered by Lee, was not only twice as large as that of Lee, but it was the last field force of the Ottoman empire. Monastir was to be starved out, but lacking an Osman Pasha surrendered after a struggle worthy of Turkish traditions.

DOLCE FAR NIENTE.

DAY DREAMS FOR WILSON.
[New York Post, Nov. 20:] 'Neath the shade of the palm trees of Bermuda the soft blowing breezes fan his head and flipping the book resting on his knees may come to him. Far from the madding crowd, far from the office seekers, the trouble makers, what more or less of peace may come to the nobler to the slings and arrows of fortune or to take arms against other troubles and by opposing, end them. To run again at the end of four; to run, perchance, to fail. Aye, there's trouble.

WOMEN OF CALIFORNIA.

MANY VOTED FOR WILSON.
[New York Times, Nov. 20:] The Socialists have sometimes expressed the fear that women voters might, in accord with feminine conservatism, come out against them. The women's vote in California, as Mrs. Atherton analyzes it, was not one of hide-bound conservatives. They saw that Roosevelt's trumpery issues were chiefly State and not national, and that his ukases from the Presidential chair would not be heeded. They, therefore, signified their assent to the programme of reasonable progress outlined by Wilson.

THE FOOL WITH THE GUN.

FATAL HUNTING SEASON.
[Philadelphia Press, Nov. 20:] Annually, on the Fourth of July, we make a great hullabaloo about the damage wrought by the small boy and his toy pistol; we, altogether forget him at the opening of the hunting season when he is equipped with a real gun and plays havoc with human life. There has not been a day since the beginning of autumn that the papers have failed to record from three to five such accidents.

Don't use Butter in Your Kitchen
DO you know why butter is so high? Housewives from years of habit have come to use more and more of it for particular cooking—where they want something better than lard. It's a wasteful habit—highly expensive—and wholly unnecessary.
Use butter on your table, where it belongs; discard it from your kitchen. The use of Cottolene in cooking, will give just as good results as butter. Besides, two-thirds of a pound of Cottolene will go as far as a pound of butter, and Cottolene costs no more than lard. Use more Cottolene and cut down your butter bill.
Cottolene
Makes Delicious Pastry
Cottolene makes light, flaky, crisp pie-crust. It makes deliciously light, tender doughnuts. For cake making Cottolene creams up beautifully and gives the best obtainable results. Muffins, fritters, short cake, and all other pastry, are best made when made with Cottolene. It makes food rich but never greasy.
Cottolene is a vegetable product, and makes food that is healthful and digestible.
Try This Recipe:
ONE EGG CAKE
½ cup of Cottolene — 1 egg — 1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar — 1 cup milk — ½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar — 2 cups flour
Rub the Cottolene and sugar to a light cream, add well beaten yolk of egg and vanilla, mix together the soda, cream of tartar and flour, stir it into the creamed mixture, alternating with the milk. Add well beaten white of egg last. Bake in shallow pan in moderate oven about one-half hour.

Dynamite Trial.

SECOND PLOT OF M'NAMARAS.

McManigal Tells How the Dynamiters Were Foiled.

Visited Los Angeles Twice to Take Human Life.

Aimed to Pepper Trail that Led to San Francisco.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Nov. 21.—Equipped with twelve quarts of nitroglycerine, Ortie E. McManigal, in December, 1910, went to Los Angeles, commissioned to destroy The Times auxiliary plant, and, by "adding a few more to the list of the dead," to take suspicion off James B. McNamara, who had killed twenty persons in the wreck of the Times Building two months before. McManigal so testified today at the dynamite conspiracy trial. He named men other than the McNamaras as having inspired the second Los Angeles plot. He was prevented from carrying it out by learning, on reaching Los Angeles, that the auxiliary plant was too well guarded. Instead he set a bomb in an iron works to explode on Christmas Day.

That was the "Christmas present," he said, Olaf A. Tveitmoe, a union-labor leader in San Francisco, had asked, and on his return East he stopped off at Union Labor Temple in San Francisco. Tveitmoe being absent, he left this message with Eugene A. Clancy:

"Tell Tveitmoe his Christmas present has been delivered."

It was the same "Christmas present," the government charges, which Tveitmoe later referred to in a letter to Frank M. Ryan, president of the Ironworkers' Union.

"CALLED DOWN."

On his return to Indianapolis, McManigal said he was "called down" by J. J. McNamara because not enough damage had been done at Los Angeles, and John J. proposed to send by express bombs so regulated that they would explode when unwrapped. McManigal protested that explosions might occur on the train.

McManigal and James B. had been hiding in the Wisconsin woods, McManigal said, like a pair of pirates, each with a red handkerchief about his head in conformity with the game laws and a rifle over his shoulder, when a number of detectives appeared at their lodging-house.

Eluding the detectives, they came to Indianapolis.

So elated was J. J. McNamara over the escape of his brother that he proposed that McManigal start at once for Los Angeles.

M'MANIGAL'S STORY.

"John J. said he had been to a union-labor convention at St. Louis and had seen Tveitmoe there, and that Tveitmoe wanted some more explosions to come off on the Coast," said McManigal. "James B. said he would like to go out and do it, but J. J. objected, saying they were looking for a man of his description on the Coast and it would be a good idea for a stranger to do the jobs and get back East as soon as possible, and then the authorities would think their man was still in Los Angeles. He said I was to cause three explosions—The Times auxiliary plant, the Baker Iron Works and the Llewellyn Iron Works. He said: 'Put a good mess of it under The Times auxiliary plant and add a few more to the list of dead. They've been questioning Tveitmoe and Anton Johannsen out there and we'll throw them off the track.'

"He also told me to fix up some kind of a suit case with a bomb in it so it would explode when anybody opened it. He remembered how the bombs at Gen. Otis's and Mr. Zeehandelaar's homes had failed to work and the evidence was in the hands of the authorities. He wanted it fixed so that if the police got hold of any of my bombs there wouldn't be much of the bombs left when they were opened.

"I left Indianapolis with twelve quarts of nitroglycerine December 9, going by way of Chicago, Salt Lake City and Ogden. Four days later I arrived in Los Angeles and had buried the explosive in a gravel pit near the river. I looked over the three plants I was to blow up and saw that all but the Llewellyn Iron Works were too heavily guarded.

"On Christmas eve, going into the Llewellyn grounds, a dynamite cap exploded and injured my hand. That put me out of humor. So I placed the twelve quarts all in one shot and set it for 2 o'clock the next morning. Then I went to San Francisco and called at Union Labor Temple. There I met Clancy. He seemed about to faint when I said, jokingly: 'I've come to get the Los Angeles dynamiter,' for he had been reading about the explosion. When he learned who I was he became calm. We talked about James B. and Michael J. Young of Boston as being mutual friends. He said Tveitmoe was out, but he would give him my message that the Christmas present had been delivered. I asked him what had become of M. A. Schmidt and David Caplan, who helped James B. on The Times job. He only smiled.

"When I reached Indianapolis in January, John J., his brother and I met in a closed room at the union ironworkers' headquarters. John J. was all ruffled up because I had not done more damage. He said I had spent too much to do so little damage. Then he asked me how conditions were on the Pacific Coast and whether they had forgotten about The Times explosion. I told him they certainly had not, for everybody was looking for that big reward. I said I saw a description of the three men posted in a saloon at Madison and Market streets, Chicago, and I had taken R. H. Houlihan of the Chicago union over to look at it.

"There had been some talk about a leak at Salt Lake City on account of J. B. hiding there for two weeks with J. E. Munsey. It was said word came from San Francisco to look out for a leak at Salt Lake City. J. J. took out a letter and after reading it to himself, said he guessed there would not be any leak. James B. spoke up, saying Munsey's right name was Jack Bright and he was wanted in Colorado and James B. thought if he could keep under cover for five years like Munsey did the Times explosion would be forgotten.

"The dynamiting jobs were to go right on, only hereafter dynamite was to be used instead of nitroglycerin, as it was more effective. John J. then told me of the proposal to send bombs by express to non-union contractors. I told him that would not be right, for you never could tell who would open the packages and they might explode on the train. He replied he did not care about that.

"I went to Tiffin, O., and began to steal dynamite from a stone quarry at Bloomville, O., and stored it in a shed at the rear of my father's house at Tiffin. I stole three or four hundred pounds and on taking some of it to Indianapolis, it was arranged for J. B. to help me carry it all here. The idea was that to steal the explosive was better than to buy it, for then no records were kept."

TO KILL MISS DYE.

McManigal told of a conversation with Herbert S. Hockin in which it was proposed to "get rid of" Miss Mary C. Dye, McNamara's stenographer at the union headquarters, "because she knew too much."

Ward C. Gifford testified concerning an interview with W. Bert Brown, Kansas City, Mo., a defendant, at the time of the latter's arrest on the government's charges of conspiring illegally to transport explosives.

Gifford said Brown declared he had lost his job as business agent of the union because he was opposed to violence in labor disputes.

HAD THEM CORNERED.

How employees of W. J. Burns, a detective, had the Los Angeles dynamiters "cornered" in a room in a boarding-house at Conover, Wis., five months before the arrests were made, and allowed them to escape, was also related by McManigal.

McManigal said that in November, 1910, the month after the Times Building was blown up, he and James B. McNamara had been hunting five miles from Conover, when one day he missed James B. and later found him drunk in a boarding-house talking to detectives.

McManigal said McNamara's description had been published everywhere and he had received mail at Conover, but after a discussion with the detectives they managed to escape.

McNamara caused another explosion at Los Angeles the next month and ten other explosions followed before the arrests in April, 1911.

On their escape from the Wisconsin woods, McManigal said James B. a second time attempted to kill him.

"He wanted me to hold up a tin can and let him shoot a hole through it," said McManigal.

"I told him to put a hole through himself if he wanted to kill anybody."

DROPPED IN THE BAY.

McManigal also stated that in escaping from Los Angeles after blowing up the Times Building, James B. dropped four infernal machines in the bay between Oakland and San Francisco.

"When I saw J. B. in the company of the detectives I thought the game was up," said McManigal. "I told him he probably had told them everything and I was going to quit right there. That was why he wanted me to hold up that tin can for him to shoot at."

LOS ANGELES EXPERIENCES.

Telling of his experiences at Los Angeles, James B. said he would have put a bomb in the Times auxiliary plant if he could have located it that night," testified McManigal.

"He said that, on leaving Los Angeles, he went to San Francisco to get money and remained there four days. Crossing to Oakland on his way East he said he threw four infernal machines into the bay to get rid of them. He stopped at Salt Lake City and remained two weeks with J. E. Munsey."

McManigal previously had said the first day they arrived in the Wisconsin woods to hide, James B. "took a shot" at him.

DEBRIS IN EVIDENCE.

Parts of an infernal machine found in the wrecks of bridges and buildings in various cities were exhibited at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

W. E. Griffith, Chief of Police of Kansas City, identified an infernal machine lost by Ortie E. McManigal in a swamp near the Mississippi River after McManigal had blown up part of a bridge. Griffith said after the explosion on August 22, 1910, he caused the arrest of W. Bert Brown and William J. McCain, local union officials, but the prisoners, after making a statement recorded by stenographers, refused to sign it. The statement, which was not read, was introduced by the government.

Henry W. Legleitner of Denver, a member of the Ironworkers Executive Board, when arrested last winter, admitted the union officials expended money without giving an accounting to the members, according to Samuel A. Meyer. Meyer testified he asked Legleitner about the $1000 a month which the government charges was used by J. J. McNamara for dynamiting.

"He replied he thought an inner circle of officials in the union controlled the finances," said Meyer. "He also said President Frank M. Ryan had authority to put out money when the Executive Board was not in session and no accounting was given of the $1000 a month paid to McNamara."

Destruction and Want Caused by Drink Habit

Can Be Prevented and Done Away With By the Neal Treatment.

Excessive use of alcoholic liquors results in destruction of business, happiness, home, life; and has been the cause of more misery and want than all wars and epidemics of pestilential diseases in the history of the world. Alcohol kills 700,000 men and women, and causes loss of millions of dollars annually, besides filling our insane asylums, jails and penitentiaries.

If temperance societies, State and national authorities would investigate the Neal Treatment, they would learn a valuable lesson in the redemption of alcohol and drug-wrecked men and women.

The Neal Treatment is not an experiment. It has been successfully administered for years at fifty-four Neal Institutes in the principal cities of the United States, Canada and Australia. It is a harmless, vegetable, internal remedy, which removes all craving and necessity for drink and drugs without the use of painful dangerous hypodermic injections.

Remember, there are no "secret treatments" for drunkenness, and you are taking great risk in administering such remedies; also, wasting both time and money taking so-called "sobering-up" treatments.

Dr. Neal, originator of the Neal Treatment, will spend the winter at the Los Angeles Neal Institute, 545 South Olive street, and will be pleased to give full information to all who are interested in treatment for themselves, relatives or friends. If not convenient to call for a personal interview, write or phone G. U. Neal, manager for Dr. Neal's, free book. Phone Broadway 4602; A4072.—[Advertisement.

ORIENT and Occident—yesterday and today—are happily met in this strikingly odd lamp, whose duplicate is not to be found in any shop in the world.

¶The bowl, with its endless procession of almond-eyed and gaily robed ladies, in a previous incarnation, was an old Canton ginger jar, the idea of changing it into its present form being the happy inspiration of our art director, who destines it for one of Los Angeles' elegant homes.

¶The quaint design on the bowl was reproduced on the white silk shade in a Paris studio.

¶In the best of modern homes, even where architecture and furnishings conform to a recognized "period" such as the Colonial or Louis XV, one repeatedly finds a note of strong Orien al color like this Chinese lamp—in fact this feeling for crude color and simple line is often so pronounced that it dominates an entire room.

¶Among the lamp offerings in our Art Galleries are some of alabaster whose carved globes tone the light to a wonderful softness; hanging lanterns of antique silver, and stately pair candle sticks in piano size, with gold or plush columns, and umbrella shades—if you are a connoisseur you cannot fail to be greatly interested in our entire display. Give us the pleasure of showing you these goods, which are to be found on the mezzanine floors of our south and center buildings.

RE-ENACT SZABO TRAGEDY IN GIBSON MURDER TRIAL.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

GOSHEN (N. Y.) Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] As attendant lay on the Courthouse floor this afternoon at the trial of Burton W. Gibson for the murder of Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo, and with judge, jury and counsel grouped around him, re-enacted an alleged scene from the tragedy of July 16, in which Mrs. Szabo lost her life at Greenwood Lake.

Bending over him, Thomas Garrison, a fisherman, summoned as a witness for the defense, illustrated how he had taken the woman's body from the water. He showed that he had left the body outstretched with the head pressed downward, the chin resting almost on the breast.

Through this illustration the defense hopes to upset the State's contention that the organs of the dead woman's throat were forced out of position by strangulation. Medical experts are prepared to testify tomorrow that Garrison's treatment of the body was sufficient to have forced the tongue, palate and windpipe into the position in which the State claims they were found at the autopsy.

"Were they together when they jumped from the boat?" asked Robert H. Elder, Gibson's counsel.

"No, they were three or four feet apart."

Harry Laux, an electrical engineer of New York, swore that Gibson and the woman did not struggle before the boat upset. They were standing up when Laux saw them and they were four feet or more apart. They jumped out, apparently, Laux thought they were diving. This testimony contradicts that given by John Minturn, State's witness, who said Gibson seized his comuanion around the neck before they fell into the water.

John Minturn's testimony was attacked by Henry Helnk, son of Mme. Schumann-Helnk, who swore Minturn told him he was so far away from the accident that he could not see what was going on.

The State rested its case after Dr. Otto H. Schultze of New York, a coroner's physician, testified that Mrs. Szabo died of strangulation and not of drowning. Dr. Schultze's testimony corroborated that of two physicians who preceded him. By means of a photograph of the organs of Mrs. Szabo's throat taken after their removal from her body, he illustrated his contention that she had been strangled by force applied to her throat.

WAR ON CANCER.

Medical Society Committee Issues Bulletin for Instruction and Warning of the Afflicted.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—The cancer committee of the Chicago Medical Society appointed to co-operate with a similar committee appointed by the clinical congress of surgeons recently in session in New York, today issued a bulletin in pursuance of the campaign of publicity against cancer.

Following are the chief points of the bulletin:

"Cancer in the beginning is a local disease.

"No cure for cancer has been discovered except surgery.

"Cancer, if operated on immediately, will not return.

"Advanced cancer can not be cured by surgery, hence the need of seeking surgical aid at once.

"Cancer of the stomach begins with indigestion, loss of flesh and general weakness.

"Cancer of the internal organs shows itself by irregularity in their functions.

"Education of the public on cancer will save thousands of lives each year, as it has done in consumption and appendicitis."

The Chicago Medical Society Cancer Committee has been made permanent and will answer inquiries and furnish literature on application.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Homeseeking will be made easy when the United States Land Show, a panorama of America, opens tomorrow at the Coliseum. Every section of the country has brought the yield of its land to the people and the United States will be spread out as if on a bargain counter.

Thousands who have heard the call of the soil, are flocking into Chicago to determine whether to settle on farm land in Montana or raise oranges in California. Tons of fruit have arrived for free distribution and the streets are thronged with farmers, cowboys, Indians and railroad men. It is said the exposition will result in many people flocking to lands in the newly-developed regions of America.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

Rev. Father Garon who went into the building with others to save the statuary and vestments, was overcome by smoke and had to be carried out.

"Home Builders'" New Building, to Be Erected by the Company After April 1, at Eighth and Spring and Main

Its Proven Record for Financial Soundness and Business Integrity, Assurance of Safety and Square Deal for Stockholders

"Home Builders" is strong where every corporation must be strong if it would endure—first in financial soundness, then in business rectitude.

It is conducted in a most economical manner, and is more nearly on a bank-loan basis than any similarly named company in Southern California.

"Home Builders" does not speculate, neither does it try to pay excessive dividends nor do spectacular things. It builds for permanency and stability. In five, ten, twenty or more years it will be a proportionately larger, stronger organization, yet it will have paid a fair and reasonable profit to its stockholders in the meantime.

These essential features mark it as a safe investment, and they are essential, because they get right back into the stockholders' investment; because they supply the safety which must surround his money and produce a constancy of revenue as well as increasing intrinsic value to his holdings in the company.

"Home Builders'" stock will advance again December 1st, because the price must keep in harmony with its growth of assets, surplus and undivided profits. Guaranty Shares now $2.80.

Revival of Reorganization Talk in Washington.

BY SUMNER CURTIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the return of Charles Hilles to his former post as secretary to the President today there is a revival of the "reorganization" talk respecting the Republican party. While later in the season, it is said, members of the Republican National Committee will be called to meet in Washington for a conference with the President. On that occasion a plank for getting in fighting trim for the State elections that will take place next year and for the Congressional elections of 1914, will be framed. President Taft, however, is not interesting to recall, believes that the main programme for party organization should contemplate a departure from what is denominated the "hide bound" rule, and the arousing of interest in basic constitutional principles through the formation of clubs and leagues in all parts of the country.

Some of the most recent arrivals among the survivors of the landslide is Representative Bartholdt of Missouri, who was referred to by Theodore Roosevelt during the recent campaign as "Mr. What's his name—the representative from East St. Louis."

CALLS ON TAFT.

Immediately after his arrival Mr. Bartholdt called on the President. He is regarded as one of the strong supporters of the regular organization and expects the party to recover from the present blow.

It is the opinion of the Missouri Representative whose advice will count for most with the Republican leaders that the thing for Republicans to do for the present is to "lie low." He declares that the dissatisfaction which exists among the people of the country will have passed, Democratic policies and administration will become so pronounced that there will be a natural concentration of support around the Republican standard four years hence. Especially when it comes to consideration of concentration of opposition forces. The Democrats which may take control in the next campaign, Col. Roosevelt appears as a factor. In this connection it may be said that if by any chance Col. Roosevelt should succeed in capturing control of this year's convention the Regular Republican leaders would prepare to do to him—nominate a Republican nominee—what they declare he did to Taft in the recent campaign. They propose to keep him out of the White House at all costs. Some of them think a constitutional amendment that will bar a man for the third-term principle is likely to become operative in the future, but with or without it they say the determination is the same.

Roosevelt's nomination next time means four years more of Democratic rule and nothing else," declared Republicans in close touch with the White House. They even are declaring that the Progressive party makes any better showing than it made this year must nominate somebody besides Roosevelt as its candidate for President.

CHICKEN "SANS" HEAD.

But what would the Progressive party amount to without Roosevelt at the head? is asked in the same breath. Further the Republican leaders declare that the thing termed "Roosevelt hysteria" will subside during the next four years, wherefore they are optimistic counting of chickens before the assumption that the Democrats will displease with their party when they take means that he will get on his hands. He is prepared to meet it with some force, according to all the indications.

STEPHENS FOR COMPTROLLER.

Missourians Are Urging President-elect Wilson to Appoint Former State Governor.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The picturesque figure of ex-Governor Lon V. Stephens looms large as a candidate for Comptroller of the Currency. Missouri politicians are already urging President-elect Wilson to make this appointment because of the work of Stephens in organizing the Democratic Presidential campaign in Missouri which resulted in an unexpectedly large plurality for Wilson. Stephens is a native of Boonville and is a former editor of the Boonville Advertiser, became a banker, served as State Treasurer and from 1897 to 1901 was Governor of Missouri.

Paroled Murderer Whose Pardon Is Revoked Is Also Given Eight Years for White Slavery.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—George Levy, who murdered a man in Boise, Idaho, eleven years ago and escaped life imprisonment later on a promise to leave the United States and reform, was convicted in the Federal Court here today on violation of the "white slave" act. Judge Hough sentenced him to eight years in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta.

Levy, alias "Blome the Tailor," took a young French woman, Georgette Mallet, from Havre, France, to Portland, Or. He was brought here for deportation, but Federal officials finally decided to prosecute him.

Upon conviction of the murder of David Levy in Boise, eleven years ago, "Blome" was sentenced to death. This was commuted to life imprisonment, and he served ten years. His pardon was revoked after his arrest in the present case.

Interstate Commerce Commission Investigating Special Rates on Yeast and Bakery Products.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today started an investigation into the rates, classification and regulations of express companies respecting the transportation of bread, yeast and bakery products.

Under existing express rates these products enjoy a special rate, an average of 25 per cent. lower than the general merchandise express rate. In the rate schedule proposed by the commission no special rates for such commodities were made. The application of the flat rates of the commission would increase the cost of the express transportation of bread and like commodities.

John D. Rockefeller, as Part of His Autumn Pleasure, Takes School Mam's Around His Estate.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

TARRYTOWN (N. Y.) Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John D. Rockefeller is enjoying these beautiful autumn days by playing golf in the morning and giving joy-rides in the afternoon to the teachers of the North Tarrytown High School.

Mr. Rockefeller's rides are not of the commonly-known joy variety. They are only joy-rides in the sense that they give the teachers pleasure. He drives down every afternoon in his car and invites four or five of the teachers for a ride. He takes them up through his estate, showing his beautiful gardens and tells them of some of his plans for beautifying the place.

He also enjoyes telling the latest funny stories he has heard, and the teachers tell some in return.

STATE PAYS HALF OF REFUND.

San Francisco and Los Angeles Receive Tidy Sums for Interest and Redemption of Bonds.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Warrants were drawn today by State Controller Nye in favor of Los Angeles and San Francisco for bond refund claims of $135,201 and $61,819 respectively, representing one-half of the amount due the two cities for the year of 1912-1913. The claims were paid on a basis of the interest and principal redemption on municipal bonds outstanding November 8, 1910, when the tax amendment separating the State and county and city taxes was adopted.

Approximately $750,000 will be paid out during the fiscal year of 1912-1913 by the State in the settlement of the bond refunds.

Los Angeles will receive a total of $270,402 and San Francisco $123,638. The amounts due these two cities make up about half the total for the entire State.

Oakland has not yet submitted its claim to the State.

The refunds due represent the revenue to the cities and counties which would have been received from public utility corporations had the tax amendment providing for the assessment of these properties by the State direct, not been adopted. The claims for refunds decrease as the principal is paid off.

The bond indebtedness upon which the State was required to pay interest and principal redemption in the city of Los Angeles when the tax amendment was adopted November 8, 1910, was approximately $21,000,000. This amount has been decreased materially this year and will continue to decrease as the bonds are redeemed.

San Francisco's bonded indebtedness on which the claims for refunds were based on June 30, 1912, was $15,514,400.

FIFTY DOLLARS FOR A CLAIM.

Right to Alaskan Coal Land Sold Cheap According to a Seattle Witness.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SEATTLE, Nov. 21.—Ole M. Holck of Seattle testified today that he had received $50 in exchange for his power of attorney that enabled the staking of an Alaska coal claim in his name, and for later signing a deed to the claim, which is one of the Feed group, in the Katalla district. The government is taking testimony concerning the validity of the entries in the group of claims. Holck testified that he first became acquainted with Thorgar A. Feed, the promoter of the group, in Minneapolis and later met him in Seattle when Feed asked him for the power of attorney. Witness said he did not expect to derive any benefit from the claim and it was understood he would get nothing but the $50.

She Weds Wrong One.

the man I eloped with and to whom I was married in Crown Point yesterday."

"There is no such person," said the maid.

THE SOBS BEGIN.

There was a sob at the other end of the wire and the receiver clicked.

That is the last trace that has been found of Mrs. Givens, although her friends and relatives have been searching for her frantically ever since.

The conversation she had with the maid apparently had confirmed a suspicion that had been growing in her mind for some time that she had been cruelly duped into marriage with a man who had concealed his own identity and posed as the son of Mr. Kirkman.

She was talking from the Alexandria Hotel, where she had been installed in the bridal suite by "Kirkman." She left there immediately after the telephone conversation, apparently in great agitation, and has not been seen by the hotel attaches since.

WEDDING IN INDIANA.

That Mrs. Givens had actually been married to a man who gave his name as Edward B. Kirkman and who said he was the son of the millionaire, was established early in the day. The ceremony was performed at Crown Point a week ago Thursday by Judge H. B. Nicholson, who had been aroused from his bed at 2:30 in the morning for that purpose.

A little later the identity of the woman's deceiver was ascertained. He is alleged to be Edward Baum, a former chauffeur for M. M. Kirkman. He had been dismissed from Mr. Kirkman's employ only the day before the event. Since the discovery of the deception he is alleged to have practiced upon Mrs. Givens, the man has disappeared.

An investigation of the couple's movements shows that after the marriage, Mrs. Givens and Kirkman returned to Chicago and went to the Alexandria Hotel, where they occupied a suite that had been taken there some time before by Mrs. Givens. The following morning they moved their possessions into the bridal suite. Apparently Mrs. Givens remained without an inkling of her husband's identity all the next day. Then, quite unexpectedly, a newspaper reporter dropped into the Alexandria to call upon them. He interviewed Mrs. Givens. She talked about the elopement laughingly and said she had favored the informal method of marriage because she had only been divorced five months before and thought by having the ceremony performed at night in Indiana she would escape both notoriety and legal complications.

"KIRKMAN" WAS THERE.

"Kirkman" was present during the interview, but didn't have much to say.

As he was leaving, the reporter observed:

"I just had a talk with M. M. Kirkman over the telephone."

Here "Kirkman" sat up and took notice.

"He says that he knows nobody by the name of Edward B. Kirkman, and that he knows that his son, Bruce B. Kirkman, was not the man who was married at Crown Point."

"Kirkman" flushed to the ears. Then he looked at the reporter steadily.

"Well," he said, "I don't care what he says, here I am. He'll have to make the most of it."

And then to Mrs. Givens: "Won't he, Dearie?"

A TOUR OF THE CAFES.

Wednesday evening the bride and groom made a tour of the South Side cafes. They visited several places in the vicinity of Cottage Grove avenue and then went to Al Tearney's place at Thirty-fifth street and Calumet avenue. There their party was joined by a group of theatrical people. They were having a merry time, until "Kirkman" essayed to put his strong right arm around the waist of a pretty chorus girl. His bride of two days objected. A bitter quarrel followed and in the midst of it "Kirkman" got up and stalked out.

That is the last that Mrs. Givens saw of him. She spent that night alone at the Alexandria and her thoughts during the night aroused in her suspicion that "Kirkman" was not what he pretended to be. It was this suspicion that prompted her to call up M. M. Kirkman's residence, where her worst fears were confirmed.

A CHAUFFEUR'S CAREER.

Mr. Kirkman said today that Baum, who posed as Kirkman's son, had worked for him during the summer and had handled his car during several extensive tours of the country. He found him, he said, a competent man. He knew nothing about his private life. On Monday he had paid him and dismissed him because he intended to put his car away for the winter.

Before working for Mr. Kirkman, Baum was in the employ of Herman R. Misch of No. 5600 Michigan avenue as a chauffeur. Mr. Misch said he had dismissed Baum for "joy riding."

WHO SHE IS.

Mrs. Givens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Witherspoon of Algonas, Mich. She is 25 years of age. Three years ago she married Robert S. Givens. She obtained a divorce five months ago on the ground of cruelty. No alimony was fixed in the decree, but Mr. Givens has paid his wife a fixed amount since it was entered.

On November 11, Mrs. Givens was at the home of her parents at Algonac. She left that day for Chicago and Mrs. Witherspoon said tonight over the long distance telephone they had received a letter from her telling of her elopement and marriage with "the son of a Chicago millionaire."

One of the gay incidents of the first and only night of revelry was their visits to South Side cafes. They started from a cafe at Fifty-fifth and State streets and the bride demanded a taxicab ride. One was called. He had $208 then. They obtained one from the People's Garage at Fifty-fifth street and Calumet avenue, driven by Ed Remysterger.

Next they appeared at the Cottage Grove avenue cafe and met an actor and several chorus girls. It was a happy party until the bridegroom joked a chorus girl and then the bride lost her temper, whereupon she showed the actor man a watch which she believed cost $800—a bridal gift—but which was discovered to be worth about $8. Things were looking bad for the surprised "Kirkman" and it is conceded by all who can help out on the mystery, he excused himself and the taxi driver and disappeared. Perhaps he drove to Englewood and took a train to Danville, Ill. Danville does not seem to know about that yet.

She started on a still hunt for husband and money. At 2:30 a.m. she was at the People's Garage sadly and silently hunting.

Robert S. Givens, the former husband, declared that when he and his wife came to the parting of the ways, he had sublet his apartment at No. 948 Wilson avenue to Mrs. Howard and that he did not know Mrs. Givens was again married.

Here is what she said about the elopement at their bridal suite.

THE BRIDE'S STORY.

"Yes, it was an elopement. I was afraid there would be some complications if I tried to get married here, owing to my divorce last summer. It was somewhat romantic and hurried but we have been planning it for some time.

"I think, as does my husband, that experience is the best teacher in love as in anything else. I would rather not talk about my former marriage, however.

"Both Ed and myself sent telegrams to our parents following our marriage in Crown Point. I really do not know what my mother in Detroit thinks about it. I haven't heard from her yet and I admit I am rather nervous.

"My husband has not heard from his father in Evanston yet, either. We are going to be happy, whatever comes, however, and I do not think that there will be objections from any source as to our marriage.

"Judge Nicholson, who married us, is just the handsomest man—when he is awake. We caught him, however, at 2 a.m., and he looked awfully funny in his red bathrobe. He was sleepy and shivery, and I hope he did not catch cold."

During the interview the husband was at her side.

KIRKMAN SURPRISED.

William Bruce Kirkman said today:

"This story came as a surprise to us. There is no Edward B. Kirkman in our family. There are but two sons and we are both married. This man who gave the name of Kirkman and posed with his bride for a picture, I readily recognise as my father's former chauffeur and a good one he was. I do not understand him or his affairs. I do not know the lady."

Mrs. Givens obtained a divorce from her first husband in June and gave that as another reason why she did not apply for a license in Chicago and eloped to Crown Point to wed.

Mr. Givens, former husband of Mrs. Kirkman, was seen at his office No. 18 Sheridan Road. He declared it was a very lamentable affair and that he smypathized with Mrs. Kirkman. He told the story of his divorce.

"We were married about five years ago in Detroit," he said. "She is the daughter of well-to-do Detroit people. Her father is an ex-army officer and a veteran of the Civil War.

Last summer she sued me for divorce, charging cruelty. I did not contest. I had lived happily with her up to that time. Until three weeks ago she has been living with her parents and I have been supporting here. It was voluntar allmony, as the court had not ordered me to pay her anything. Our former home in Chicago had been rented and the income from that source was also given to her.

"I believe that she met Mrs. Kirkman, mother of the man she had thought she had married, at an affair at the Evanston Country Club. I also think she had met Marshall J. Kirkman. It is a very lamantable affair and I feel very sorry for my former wife. She is a very fine woman."

Uncle Sam Has a Plan to Light the Great Artificial Water Route With a Refulgence that Will Make an Arc Lamp Look Like a Dark Lantern.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] Details of the lighting equipment being installed at the Panama Canal by the army engineers, which, when completed will set up Uncle Sam's cut through the continent as a rival for glitter for Broadway and which will make navigation safe at all hours of the night, were described today by James Pattison in a paper read before the convention of Naval Engineers and Architects at the Engineers building.

Mr. Pattison is one of the engineers who assisted in making the plans. To accomplished this a double row of automatic lighted buoys are being placed along the canal and the channel will be further defined by powerful rapid flashing range lights which will be stationed at various points along the waterway.

Through the Culebra cut or wherever the proximity of the bank permits, beacons will be used instead of buoys.

From the Gatun dam through Gatun lakes to the point where the canal enters the Culebra cut a double row of sixty buoys will light the way with flashing range lights assisting in making the channel clear to all navigators.

Of the light characters adopted by the army engineers, for the lights on the Panama Canal, said Mr. Pattison, the flashes do not in any instance exceed two seconds' duration and the majority will be set to .3 of a second.

GIRL'S FATE WITH JURY

Both Sides Finish in Farley Murder Trial.

Paroled Idaho Slayer Sent to Federal Prison.

Immigration Officers Arrest Five Chinese Maids.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 21.—Both the State and the defense completed the presentation of evidence today in the murder trial of Miss Cecilia Farley, house stenographer, who is charged with shooting Alvin E. Zollinger, an advertising solicitor, in a city park last May, and the case is expected to go to the jury tomorrow.

Prosecutor Turner scored heavily for the State today when, upon severely cross-examining Miss Farley, he forced her to tell of her relations with Jerome Quigley, the man whom she was to marry, after their engagement.

The story of the defense has been that Miss Farley's love for Quigley was a pure love—so pure that she had confessed to having done the shooting when first arrested in order that Quigley might be released. The defense had introduced testimony to show how Miss Farley had been wronged by Zollinger, and of how, when she found true love with Quigley, she had unsuccessfully attempted to break off relations with Zollinger.

Clearing the space in front of the jury for the second time during the trial, Miss Farley again went through the dramatic actions, demonstrating the story of how the defense of how Zollinger was "accidentally shot." This time Prosecutor Turner acted the part of Zollinger instead of Miss Farley's attorney, Mr. Allen.

While holding the revolver to the prosecutor's head at the same distance she claimed it was from Zollinger's head when the weapon was discharged, the distance was measured by attorneys and found to be seventeen inches.

When Miss Farley again took the witness chair after the demonstration she was trembling and nervous. She broke down and sobbed and had to be helped from the chair to the witness-room, where she was allowed to rest for a few minutes.

The prosecution then began its rebuttal and introduced an expert, who declared that he had made experiments and that powder marks could be seen on human flesh from a revolver twenty-six inches distant.

The defense had previously introduced an expert who declared that powder marks could not be seen on flesh if the revolver was held more than six inches away.

VICTIM AN OHIO WOMAN.

HER BODY IDENTIFIED.

(BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] Mrs. Emma Kraft, a wealthy widow of Cincinnati, has been identified as the victim in the Saratoga hotel hammer tragedy. The woman was robbed by the man who attacked her, the police assert. The victim carried $5000 with her. Relatives in Cincinnati, who identified a newspaper sketch, said the victim was 55 years old; that she formerly had operated a grocery store in the Ohio city, and finally to have been won by a man many years her junior.

"Electrolysis is expensive and painful. Plain delatone removes superfluous hair. Mix a little delatone with enough water to cover the hairs, apply and leave on for a minute or two, then wipe off, wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone.

"Regular and well colored eyebrows and eyelashes add beauty to the face. Thin and straggly lashes and brows should be gently massaged daily with pyroxin. This encourages their growth and they soon will be long and lovely.

"Aches and pains destroy beauty. Mother's Salve is penetrating and enters the pores at once, giving almost instant relief. Just rub on briskly and it will have a comforting, soothing effect on pains and aches in back or joints, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, cold in the chest, rheumatism or neuralgia.

"Glossy, well kept hair is always admired, but frequent washing dulls and deadens the hair. Any woman can keep her hair light, fluffy and beautifully lustrous by dry shampooing. Mix four ounces of powdered orris root and a package of therox, sprinkle a little on the head, brush out, and your hair is clean and wavy. Therox removes oil, dust and dandruff.

"A complexion beautifier that will not rub off or show like powder is made easily by dissolving a package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. RIPS THE COGS OUT OF MACHINE'S CHARTER.

Proposed City System Exposed to Light of Criticism in All Its Ugly Nakedness — Gesner Williams Puts Lewis R. Works on the Desperate Defensive in Debate Over Lissner-Made Instrument of Government.

THE proposed city charter was reduced to a mere grease spot of ghastly remains before Gesner Williams concluded the last sad rites in connection with a debate on the respective merits and demerits of the suggested Magna Charta at the banquet given last evening at Brink's Cafe, by the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association, in which Lewis R. Works was forced into the anomalous position of defending the affirmative.

The Williams attack was swift, sure and telling. The charter in its present form, he said, is a hybrid grown out of the centralized mind of Meyer Lissner, who believes in a centralized government, and the socialistic minds of Dr. Haynes and Fred C. Wheeler.

"A majority of the commission," he said, "was composed of these two classes, who are pressing upon you a pernicious system, whose purpose is to build up, as in Galveston, a great political machine which the people themselves cannot defeat."

Works declared the proposed charter to be an evolution in government. "It is not an evolution," thundered Williams in reply, "but a return to that form of government from which our forefathers fled when they forsook the shores of England and embarked for the land of the free. I dare any man to say that under our present 'progressive' government our people are not so governed, until today you are afraid to walk down the streets."

The speaker pointed out the tremendous powers which will be vested in four commissioners, the "solid four," who will rule the city with a rod of iron, and through the great appointive powers vested in them build up a machine the like of which has not yet been conceived—four persons unimpeded by any exercise of the veto power; the Mayor and three others—for with his charter-given authority to shuffle the commissioners as he sees fit, the Mayor is bound to be one of the 'big four' if this charter is adopted.

JUDICIAL SERVILITY.

Continuing his argument against what he termed a "tyrannical government" which places in the hands of seven men, four of whom will control the right to make, interpret and administer the co-ordinate laws, Williams showed that the judges would be servile, because they would be under a civil service appointment from a board, subject to the control of the commission, and because the laws must be administered by a police force and chief who owe their jobs to the system.

He attacked the hold-over form of government as pernicious because it takes away from the people the right to discharge all of their employees at once, if they see fit to do so. "The Socialists," he said, "will support this charter, because it is the farthest Socialistic step that has yet been taken in this country, and will put us in the shape that Milwaukee was in."

"I charge a deliberate attempt to defraud the people in the water section, which should follow the court decision relative to the rights of the city to the underground flow in the San Fernando Valley. I charge that the charter is hastily thrown together with but two points carefully watched; those of the centralization of power by Lissner, and the Socialistic features of Haynes and Wheeler, the two parties combining to produce the hybrid."

The speaker called attention to the fact that the charter has never been printed except in very small type, and under divisions so confusing that they can be grasped only by careful and painstaking study.

Williams said that, under the proposed charter, public utilities may get any price at which they desire to sell; that there will be no limit to the rate of taxation; and that the city may engage in any business under the sun for which a majority of the people vote, and pointed to the fact that this majority is usually composed of voters who do not have to pay the taxes. "This," he said, "is Socialism, pure and simple, and before the election, the candidates for commissionerships will promise anything on earth, even to the establishment of a rival business alongside of some old-established concern. We will be a genuine Socialistic town."

PAYS TO BE CRIMINAL?

The debater raised a laugh by explaining how under the provisions of the proposed charter any hobo could come to town, knock a reputable citizen in the head, be arrested and sent to jail, "and I'll be darned if they don't pay him for doing the job!"

"Our referendum rights may be destroyed if the clerk fails to certify within the allotted time that the referendum petition is sufficient. The Civil Service Board will do exactly as the Commission tells it. I do not say that Works is a Socialist but in his advocacy of municipal ownership of every kind of business he proclaims himself a true Socialist. As for me I believe in the individual ownership of property. Under this proposed charter absolute Socialism may be established and you can't get a job except by the grace of an appointment vested in four men. In Russia they call it a Czar, in England a King, but in Los Angeles we will call it the 'solid four.'"

The debate was given the close attention of the credit men who were quick to grasp the high spots in the argument as they were unfolded. Works opened the entertainment and spoke for thirty minutes. He was followed by Williams for half an hour, and then each speaker took fifteen minutes in rebuttal.

Works in his opening speech generalised his topic. He called the movement a process of evolution from the original arbitrary divisions of government into the legislative, judicial and executive which he said are no longer fitted for the conduct of municipalities.

He elaborated upon the open hearth and the ever hanging latch-string of the Commission which meets daily and does not "sit in gilded chairs," but sits as a board of directors accessible and companionable. Just the sort of a Commission, he inferred, that one could take into his own home and never fear for a full count of the silverware.

The Mayor? Just a president of the board, putting the motions and declaring them carried or lost, but just the same exercising the power of life and death over the police and fire departments, and the City Clerk's office and with the power to station the Commissioners where he sees fit, or where, as Williams later pointed out, they would do the most good.

POLITICAL PIE.

The attorney likened the city, aptly enough, to a piece of pie cut into seven segments, each chunk falling under the exclusive jurisdiction of the king or czar of that particular bit of pastry. The comptroller, he explained, is elected separately so that he "may not be mixed up with any trades which the other commissioners may make," but exercise a separate jurisdiction and maintain a proper control over them.

Works, rebuttal period was devoted to a defense of the personnel of the charter manufacturers with especial attention to Lissner. "I do believe in municipal ownership," he said, "and with many believe that there is much good in socialistic doctrine. In fact, I have been called a 'half-baked socialist.'

"Our present government is weak, but this is an instrument which will lift Los Angeles out of her slough of despond. I say that if a majority of the people want to start a cheese factory or do anything else not in contravention to the Constitution of the State or of good morals they should have a right to do it."

In concluding, Works defended the right of the "solid four" to rule because it constitutes a majority, but he didn't call it the "solid four," or comment upon the removal of the veto power which now constitutes a check. He defended the civil-service provisions and took what some construed to be a side-swipe at the Chief of Police, with whom he has recently differed in the conduct of the Guy Eddie and the Lloyd cases, by stating that, "under the present system the Chief of Police, for instance, may be appointed because he has political friends or for good work at the polls irrespective of merit."

The banquet itself was a function of social delight in which a hundred members of the association participated and over which President Essick presided with grace and wit. Short talks were given by several members and by Councilman McKenzie, who was among the guests. The association is in a thriving condition and several additional members were announced last evening.

LEAGUE LUNCHEON.

The main event of last evening was preceded in the afternoon by the Municipal League luncheon at Hamburger's cafe, where a considerable part of the discussion of the proposed city charter was seized by Meyer Lissner for the airing of his opinion of those who dare to oppose the adoption of the freak document.

Unfortunately most of the brethren had departed for more lucrative pastures before he could get fairly under way, but Dr. Haynes, professional faddist; Lewis R. Works, attorney for Guy Eddie; Harley W. Brundige, E. Tobias, Earl's political chef; an assorted collection of reporters, and eight or ten "regular fellows" remained until the bitter end.

The Goo-Goo dictator first denied pretty much everything in The Times charter expose of yesterday morning and then admitted its accuracy by defending the various items.

Lissner called the roll of the Charter Commission, and declared in effect that he never dictated the appointment of the board of freeholders. He denied that the Mayor and Commissioners will have as many as 8000 appointments to make under the new charter, but warmly praised its provisions, including the unlimited appointive power, the drastic civil service sections, the non-residence of city officials and employees, and the right of the city to make cheese, or anything else. He failed utterly to discuss the opinion of leading business and professional men that "the proposed charter was framed by these wily politicians for the specific purpose of creating a powerful political machine that will keep the reins of the municipal government in their hands for all time to come."

C. C. Reynolds, the Socialist member of the Charter Board, defended the document, which he said should be adopted. He made no attempt to discuss it from a socialistic standpoint. John J. Hamilton, who was secretary of the board, found in the proposed charter all that is desirable. Lewis R. Works made a general defense of the document and Dr. Haynes devoted his remarks to a eulogy of the Civil Service Commission.

SOCIETIES' BIG HOTEL.

Federation of State Organizations Decides to Erect and Conduct Great Modern Hostelry.

That the proposed Federation of State Societies building will be a hostelry known as the Federation Hotel was announced by the Ways and Means Committee at a meeting of the organization at Christopher's last night.

This committee, comprising H. H. Spencer, M. P. Snyder, J. D. McVay, Isaac Spinner and Maj. W. E. Menach, had been considering for some weeks whether the structure should be an office building, hotel or clubhouse. According to the decision last night, the hotel will contain a big auditorium, a banquet-room, numerous small meeting halls and various other offices and rooms.

A tentative application for quarters on the ground floor has already been made to the federation by the City and County Bank. Several prominent hotel men of the city have signified their willingness to conduct the establishment, among them John S. Mitchell, of the Hollenbeck.

The matter of location will be reported December 4. Property at Broadway and Tenth street, offered by the Los Angeles Investment Company, 165x300 feet, with a million-dollar structure, can be had for a cash payment of $100,000.

Judge R. L. Hubbard, E. W. Redwine, J. R. Bowman and Newton J. Skinner, members of the Corporation Committee, will recommend either a non-profit or a regular stock corporation.

It is planned to raise funds to carry out the project by issuing active life memberships in the corporation. There are nearly 500,000 members of the different State societies in Southern California. After the final report of committees a big mass meeting probably will be held at the Auditorium Theater or the Shrine Auditorium for the purpose of raising subscriptions.

PROPOSED CITY CHARTER.

COUNCILMAN LUSK GIVES HIS REASONS FOR OPPOSING IT.

I feel constrained to say a few words about the proposed city charter before the election. I am opposed to the adoption of the charter for several reasons, which I will mention.

First—It provides for a centralized form of government pure and simple. It takes away practically all the power of the people and vests it in the hands of seven commissioners. The only power and authority left the people is the mere privilege of the election of the seven commissioners. I do not mention the Board of Education nor the Comptroller, because it is not necessary for the purposes of my argument. In the hands of these seven commissioners is vested absolutely all the management and control of the city in every department thereof, except the Board of Education; and in addition to that they appoint all the officers, City Attorney, City Clerk, the Assessor, Collector, Treasurer, Auditor, deputies and all officers now elected by the people. In addition to this they appoint all the employees in all the departments of the city. In addition to this the seven commissioners enact all the ordinances of the city. It is only necessary for four of the commissioners to sign an ordinance to put it into effect, there being no veto power vested in anyone. The seven commissioners are virtually seven little monarchs. It is almost as bad as monarchy. I am opposed to taking away all the power and authority from the 400,000 people of Los Angeles and vesting it in any seven men, however virtuous or transcendent their ability.

Second—It is in accordance with the genius and spirit of our government that there shall be three separate and distinct departments of government—the legislative, executive and judicial, each independent of the other.

Under the provisions of the proposed charter the executive department is practically abolished and merged in the legislative department, that is, the seven commissioners enact the ordinances and administer or execute them. They say the Mayor will be the executive. The Mayor will not have any more authority than any other commissioner, except to assign commissioners from one department to another. He has no veto power. It does not comport with my ideas that the men who enact the ordinances should administer them.

Third—Why pay the commissioners $6000 per annum? Very few men get $6000 a year salary, and they are usually experts in some trade or profession. My judgment is that just as capable men could have been secured for $2500 or $4000 per year. But I have no objection if the people are willing to pay such salaries.

Fourth—The most serious objection is this: It was the slogan of the Good Government Organization for a long time that "the people should rule." After the expenditure of much time, labor and money by the patriotic citizens of this city the old convention and caucus systems were destroyed and in their places the primary election law was substituted, which enabled the voter to go into the voting booth and there unhampered and uninfluenced by any boss cast his vote according to the dictates of his own conscience. The people had come into their own—were free. The system has worked entirely satisfactorily, so far as I know. The people have exercised their high prerogative and special privilege of selecting their own city officers and have participated in the management of the city's business. But the Charter Committee, apparently jealous of the power and privilege exercised by the people under the present charter have said, in effect, you are not capable of exercising this authority prudently and for the best interests, and therefore we will curtail your authority, and give you the measly privilege of voting for seven commissioners, who, when installed, will have all authority, including the appointment of all city officers and employees. Were they afraid to trust the people? Have not the people heretofore, under the primary law, in the main made good and wise selections of their city officers? But they say it will conduce to a "short ballot." There never did appear to me to be any merit in their argument. The average voter does not care how long the ballot is. He will satisfy himself for whom he wishes to vote before the election. In fact, I believe the average voter prefers a long list from which to select his candidates. I am quite sure the people would prefer to elect their own city officers, as now, than delegate that power to any seven commissioners.

Fifth—It is provided that all city officers and employees shall be appointed by the seven commissioners from the eligible civil service list; that the judges, City Attorney and all officers and employees shall undergo a civil service examination.

Grant it, but at the same time, the people are deprived of the privilege of any voice in selecting their city rulers, except the "big seven" and Board of Education. I believe in civil service and in a reasonable commission form of government, but not in a monarchical form. Suppose a "big four" should appear in the commission, what then? Four instead of seven would control the destinies of the city.

Sixth—Is it not possible that the seven commissioners, with their appointive powers, might perpetuate themselves in office? Take the commissioner who has charge of the fire and police department, or of the street department with their thousands of employees, it would be an easy matter for him to perpetuate himself in office.

Seventh—Los Angeles virtually has a commission form of government now, so said Mr. Woodruff, in a talk to the City Council.

I will be accused of selfishness, because the adoption of the charter would take away two and a half years of the tenure for which I was elected. In answer to this I will say I do not expect to hold public office beyond the first of next July, in any event.

R. M. LUSK.

FROM THE LEAGUE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY OWNERS.

We have organized a League of Real or Personal Property Owners, who after investigating the proposed charter are of the opinion that the adoption of this charter would be a disaster to the city and the taxpayers as a whole. While there are some things therein that are commendable, yet in our opinion there are other sections that are dangerous and drastic.

We call your attention to section 66, part 7. You will find thereunder the following words: "Said city may hereafter acquire, own, hold, sell, deal in, manage, operate or control any office, department, business, enterprises, utility or property which might or could be acquired, owned, held, sold, dealt in, managed, operated or controlled by any person, firm or corporation whatsoever."

It will be seen by the above astounding paragraph that the commissioners can practically run any business in the city that exists under this broad wording or powers given.

It has been stated that this is a large and great city and that a large commission of seven members is in keeping with the city.

Now all thinking persons must realize fully that four of those men will be a majority in all matters under their powers; this would create what might be termed a "solid four." It must be remembered that you yourself as a property owner of this city, have got to pay your proportion for any property secured or any business venture without your having any voice.

Another section that we consider extremely dangerous is the setting aside of the civil service for the period of six months after the charter has been accepted. This would give the commissioners the opportunity of displacing any or practically all of the city's officials or employees who are now under the civil service, except about fifteen (including the Board of Education) and give them the opportunity, if they so desired, of replacing those men by men of their own selection. Thus it can readily be seen that they can, if they wish, build up a powerful and dangerous political machine. We do not know who the personnel of this commission may be and we cannot afford to take any chances.

We wish it understood that we are not fighting any political party, or persons, but for the people. Right thinking men and women must admit this is of the most vital importance to us all and to our beautiful city as well.

The above statements are true to the best of our knowledge and belief after studying the charter carefully and making comparisons therewith.

W. G. THORPE,
Chairman of the League of Real or Personal Property Owners.

School Board to Hire Expert Supply Purchaser—Motion Pictures to Be Provided.

"We are all snarled up in red tape!" was the way a member of the Board of Education characterized the workings of the present school supply department yesterday in a discussion of the report of the Purchasing Committee which recommended that an expert be hired to reorganize that department.

The report was adopted, after a little tiff between J. H. Bean and President Guinn, when the former stated that the trouble was that the supplies were not sufficiently standardized.

"You can't standardize them," expostulated Guinn. "The schools require such varied supplies for their work. Now I find one school asking for twenty pairs of sardine scissors!"

Whereupon it was made clear that sardine scissors were merely a patent combination of scissors and can-opener, and that the same were necessary in all domestic science schools.

The Building Committee submitted bids on the proposed Boyle Heights intermediate school, all of which were above the board's estimate.

The bid of Somers & Lund of $239,780 was the lowest received by the Building Committee on the proposed Boyle Heights intermediate school. GLOOM ROOM AND GRAVEYARD.

Peculiar Way to Discourage Competition Is Charged by Government in Cash Register Suit.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI, Nov. 21.—With the jury completed the second stage of the trial of John H. Patterson and twenty-nine other officials and former officials of the National Cash Register Company of Dayton, O., who are charged with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, started here today.

Attorney Harrison told the jury the government would seek to prove that the cash register company set aside $5 from the sale of each machine to provide an expense fund to fight competition. A special force of men, he charged, employed by the competition department, were called "knock-out men," and were used only to induce business men to repudiate contracts with other cash register concerns.

Harrison declared the government would seek to show that the company maintained a "gloom room" and a "graveyard," the first in which prospective manufacturers were taken to be discouraged by being told of probable patent suits and the latter a room filled with mutilated machines of competitors to be shown to prospective purchasers of opposition machines.

SAN JOSE AS A PART.

The Town Intends to Annex a Ten-Mile Strip and Enter Into the Commerce of World.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With a dozen spectacular features, including the entrance during the evening of a bevy of flower girls, scattering garlands, Port San Jose was boosted tonight at a local hotel at the most elaborate banquet ever spread in San Jose for a civic organization. Two hundred and fifty guests of the Merchants' Association enjoyed the evening.

Following the serving of the banquet the committee sprang the surprise of the evening. A great steamship done in flowers and outlined in electric lights was drawn in, then came a bevy of girls with flags of all nations, representing the commerce San Jose will entertain as a seaport town, followed by boys bearing Port San Jose pennants.

The banquet tonight was on the eve of an election to annex a ten-mile strip of territory giving San Jose access to deep water on the south bay.

The speakers were William R. Wheeler of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, H. C. Capwell of Oakland, Mayor Thomas Monahan of this city, and E. N. Richmond, president of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce. Capwell spoke on "The Merchant, the Shipper, and the Port," and Wheeler on "Deep Water," in behalf of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Los Angeles Newspaper Man Arrested at Washington on Charge of Beating up Iowan.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—James Wagner, aged 29, of Los Angeles, is in jail, and F. Lawson of Sioux City, Iowa, hovers between life and death in the hospital, as the result of a desperate battle today in the Tourist Hotel washroom in which Wagner is alleged to have wielded a sharp-edged iron bar on the other's head.

When the police reached the scene Lawson had barely strength left to whisper that Wagner had tried to rob him. Lawson's head was beaten terribly. Following the struggle a purse containing $73 was found on the lavatory floor. It is believed to be Lawson's. The condition of the washroom bears witness to a terrible struggle.

At the police station the prisoner gave the name of Wagner and said he was a newspaper man. At the hotel he registered under the name of Mater. He was captured after an exciting chase through the business section.

The study of dress is not taught at school—but it is an important branch of knowledge, nevertheless.

Every boy is influenced by the kind of clothing he wears—although he may not realize it.

Stylish apparel of good quality has an elevating influence. It tends to make a boy careful and neat.

We don't mean that he should dress extravagantly. His attire may be simple but it should be good; his choice of styles should be quiet, but correct.

It is neither difficult nor expensive for a boy to dress well. Mullen & Bluett garments and prices are proof of that.

ALL-LOS ANGELES OWL CARS IN TEN DAYS.

Decided Six Months Ago, Now Worked Into a Schedule.

Service Over Twelve Routes and Covering Practically Every Part of the City Until Three O'clock in the Morning to Be Effective December First—Hours Are Likely to Be Extended Soon.

AS THE result of a decision made more than six months ago by the officials of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation, owl car service up to 3 a.m. on the seven urban trunk lines will be started December 1. The service will include twelve routes and will cover practically every part of the city.

The company hoped to get the late cars running several weeks earlier, but the schedule has presented a number of difficult problems and has taken a great deal of time to work out. One of the difficulties was in arranging the working hours of the men. Schedules which appeared to be otherwise satisfactory worked a hardship on conductors and motormen. In perfecting the routing now adopted it has been necessary to make radical changes in the working-hour schedules.

Officials of the company state that the late service will be continued even if it does not quite pay the actual expense of maintaining it, and that if conditions seem to warrant it 4 o'clock cars will be put on. No petition or written request for such a service has been made to them, but they believe the late cars will be convenient for a large number of persons. The chief benefit will be derived by workingmen, but it is expected a considerable proportion of the passengers will be members of late theater and supper parties. In the first month of its operation the owl service will be appreciated by holiday revelers and clerks who are kept late at work by the rush which precedes Christmas.

It is possible that before long an uninterrupted twenty-four-hour schedule will be in force. The company's routing men have already begun on an additional schedule for early-morning cars. Cars leave some residence districts as early as 5 o'clock now, but the earliest service on most of the lines is 6 o'clock. It is proposed, if the schedule works out as expected, to put on cars at 4:45 and 5 o'clock on all the lines. In bringing this about it will be necessary for a number of cars to pass through downtown about 4 o'clock in order to reach the ends of the lines on schedule time. These cars will become a part of the regular owl service and will undoubtedly result in a general 4 o'clock service.

Following is the complete owl-car schedule as adopted:

Boyle Heights and West Seventh street—Cars leave First and Spring at 1, 2 and 3 o'clock and go to Melrose and Western on the West-Seventh-street route and to Gage and Hammel on the Boyle Heights route.

Pico Heights—Cars leave Second and Spring at 1, 2 and 3 o'clock, and will cover the regular Pico Heights route.

University and Central avenue—Cars leave Second and Spring at 1, 2 and 3 o'clock for both University and Central-avenue lines.

Main street—Cars leave Temple Block at 1, 2 and 3 o'clock for Main street and Moneta avenue and will go as far as Fifty-third street.

Temple street—Cars leave First and Broadway at 1, 2 and 3 o'clock over the regular Temple-street route.

West Adams and Jefferson street—Cars leave Third and Main, via Third, Hill, Sixteenth, Burlington, Twenty-fourth, Vermont and Jefferson to Fourth avenue, at 1, 2 and 3 o'clock. The cars will be marked West Adams.

Grand-avenue and North-Broadway cars will leave Seventh and Broadway at 12:53 and 1:53 north-bound to Eastlake Park, leaving San Fernando and Alpine at 2:45 south-bound to Forty-eighth and Arlington. Returning they will leave Forty-eighth and Arlington at 3:30 for Twenty-eighth and Idell streets.

San Pedro-street cars will leave Slauson avenue and South Park at 12:30 going to Twenty-eighth and Idell, returning at 1:30 to Fifty-third and South Park via the regular route and the Garvanza line.

TEN-YEAR HOTEL LEASE BRINGS HALF MILLION.

New Gates Hotel,
Leased yesterday for ten years.

A RENTAL consideration approximating $500,000 will be paid by Lee Holladay and Arthur H. Johnson of this city for a ten-year lease on the new Gates Hotel at the southeast corner of Sixth and Figueroa streets. The final papers in the transaction were signed by the lessees and by Carroll W. Gates, owner, yesterday morning in the offices of E. W. Cason & Co., brokers in the deal.

The property involved is a reinforced concrete building nine stories high and containing 300 guest-rooms. The structure is now nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy within a few weeks. The lessees expect to expend close to $80,000 in furnishing the place and to open for business on January 1.

The building is of the absolutely fireproof type and was planned by William C. Curlett & Son of San Francisco. The first published announcement of the project, together with a perspective of the hotel, appeared exclusively in The Times about a year ago. Carroll W. Gates, the builder, expended close to $350,000 in the improvement, which replaced an old-time, three-story frame store and apartment structure.

Both lessees are well-known hotel men, Holladay being the owner of the Hotel Watson at Pico and Flower streets and Johnson the manager of the Victoria Hotel at Seventh and Hope streets. They expect to conduct the Gates on the European plan and to maintain an up-to-date cafe on the Sixth-street frontage of the hostelry.

Justice for Wilson.

VOTE-CANVASS SCHEME TOO RAW FOR COURT.

THE DEMOCRATS of this city and county and the State at large won a notable victory late yesterday afternoon when the District Court of Appeals rendered a decision in the election-court imbroglio compelling the Supervisors to change their newly-invented method of canvassing the returns, which has operated to the advantage of the Bull Moose electoral ticket.

Democratic leaders assert that under the proper count, as required by the court, there isn't the slightest doubt that Wilson electors will carry the State by from 200 to 300 votes. They say the court's ruling will mean a gain of over 250 votes in the 727 precincts in the city and county, thus overcoming Roosevelt's lead of about ninety votes in the State at large.

The court orders the Supervisors to count the tallies on the tally sheets and not the certificates and tallies as under their new scheme. The decision holds that the Supervisors had no right to open the sealed envelopes containing the election returns four days before the time prescribed by the State law, but says that this action on the part of the canvassers does not invalidate the election in this county.

When the Supervisors first started the count they counted the tallies as required by law, but when this system had given Wilson a gain of 170 votes with the canvass half completed, they suddenly switched their method and counted both the tallies and certificates filed by the election board. Under this method Wilson lost many votes and Roosevelt gained correspondingly. The Democratic leaders then petitioned to the District Court of Appeals for a writ of mandate prohibiting the Supervisors from canvassing the returns by this system. The writ was issued at an early hour last night.

The canvass will probably be completed by Saturday morning.

WHAT WILL THE COWS DO?

—Woman Objects to Going to Court Two Days in Succession and Is Held in Contempt.

Feminine logic brought trouble to Mrs. T. W. Sargent of Artesia, in the Juvenile Court yesterday. She was summoned as a witness in a case, and hurrying her work, was on hand, but apparently her mind was on the dairy she conducts.

Consternation loomed large on her face when the court announced that the case would be continued until today, owing to other matters before him.

"Why, Mr. Wilbur," Mrs. Sargent exclaimed, "I can't come back tomorrow."

Judge Wilbur repeated that the witnesses summoned in the case were excused until today, but Mrs. Sargent was thinking of her cows and the trouble it was putting her to. She explained she had her cows to milk.

Judge Wilbur adjudged her in contempt of court and she was in custody for two hours, when Collector of Internal Revenue Pendleton, who was attending court, came to her relief and she was discharged.

QUITS PLACE IN SECRET SERVICE.

GANOR RESIGNS SUDDENLY, TO REGRET OF COLLEAGUES.

Veteran Department of Justice Agent Whose Activities in Magon and I.W.W. Cases Made Him a Figure of National Prominence Goes for Reasons Unknown.

James Ganor, secret service agent of the Department of Justice, tendered his resignation to the authorities in Washington yesterday. Who his successor will be and when he will begin the duties of the office, is undecided as yet.

Ganor has been in the United States Secret Service about ten years. Before coming to Los Angeles he "rode the border" between Mexico and the United States, rounding up smugglers and other violators of international law.

Since coming to this city his activities have had a wide scope. Among those which attained more than local interest was his collection of evidence involving violations of the neutrality laws growing out of the various outbreaks along the Mexican border. In this field he performed services that were recognized at the time by the government. In the rounding up of the Magonistas, Ganor was one of the chief factors in securing the testimony that sent four of the offenders to McNeil's Island.

During the recent I.W.W. troubles at San Diego and other points along the coast, Ganor worked continuously among the camps of the undesirables and secured evidence without which many of the prosecutions would have been of no effect. He was a frequent visitor to the secret meetings of the organization and was able to perform a signal service for the Federal government.

The reasons for his resignation are not known. It is understood, however, that in some instances involving work along the Mexican border, he has not been supported as he thought he should have been.

Americans Require Education in Wine-drinking to Overcome Intemperance, Expert Says.

"Too much headache, too much stick," is the only objection that Giovanni S. Girardoni has been able to find in California sherry and port wines. "The other wines, particularly the light wines, cannot be excelled by those of France or Italy," he declared while seated in his suite at the Angelus, where he registered yesterday from Milan. He is one of the officials of the Marsala Wine Company.

"It is only a matter of a few years when the California wine men will be able to duplicate the sherry and port of my native land, it being a matter of continuous experiment to bring down the percentage of proof, which at present is too high and which causes the wine to go to a man's head," he said.

Among other things he deplored the manner of drinking it in this country, not only among the men, but the women. "There is more intemperance in this country with all the prohibition, local option and other laws than in any European country, principally for the reason that the people are not educated in the right manner of drinking. They gulp their cocktails, swallow their highballs like medicine, drink their wine without appreciation and get little comfort out of any of the stimulants. Wine should be the most important beverage, because it is usually pure, has little intoxicating quality when taken moderately with meals, is inexpensive and healthy."

Girardoni is studying the wine-making industry of California, and, having found it so extensive in this section and his time on this trip so limited, he is planning to return next year.

STATE BUYS BONDS.

Huntington Beach Wharf Bonds Purchased by Board of Control. Heavy Total Investment.

A contract for the purchase of $75,000 worth of Huntington Beach wharf bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 5½ per cent., was closed by the State Board of Control, Wednesday, after receipt of an opinion from the Attorney-General.

Contract was also closed for purchase of $25,000 worth of Santa Maria municipal improvement bonds, carrying 5 per cent., interest.

Delivery was yesterday made by the board to the State Treasurer of $32,000 worth of twenty-year Bishop municipal bonds, recently purchased. The bonds were all purchased from the State school land fund for the State school fund. The board has now invested in bonds and interest-bearing securities for the State school fund approximately $7,000,000.

LEGAL RED TAPE BINDS QUAINT QUAKER UNION.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Dickey,
Who were married in the quaint fashion of the Quakers in this city last evening. Fearing that the Friends ceremony, which is performed by the principals themselves without a minister, would not be legally binding in this State, they were previously and secretly wedded by Justice Summerfield as well.

FRIENDS of J. G. Dickey, a young orchardist of San Dimas, and Rebecca A. Conrad, a graduate nurse of Salem, O., knew that a romantic meeting and unusual courtship had brought the pair together, when they gathered to see them married last night according to the quaint Friends' ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's father, Nathaniel Dickey, No. 328 North Los Robles street, Pasadena.

But what the guests did not know was that it was really Mr. and Mrs. Dickey who stood before them when the ceremony began. The pair had been united a day earlier by Justice Summerfield, who was pledged to secrecy in order that the solemnity of the second marriage might not be detracted from.

It was the fear that the Quaker ceremony would not be legal under the laws of California that induced Dickey and his bride to take this precautionary measure. They stole away to the county marriage license bureau without notifying their friends, last Tuesday, but decided not to consult a justice of the peace until their plans were more fully matured.

On Wednesday they went without attendants to Summerfield's chambers, where the ceremony was gone through with as quickly as possible. The justice and his clerk were pledged to secrecy and the newly married pair got back to Pasadena with nothing more to their credit, apparently, than a pre-nuptial lark in Los Angeles.

No clergyman is employed in the Friends' ceremony. The principals go through the responses themselves, which must have at least twelve witnesses to make the marriage binding, according to the laws of the church. Mrs. Dickey was brought up a Friend; and although Dickey is a Presbyterian he acceded readily to his fiance's request that the faith of her fathers be permitted to bring her greatest happiness to her.

"There wasn't time to give out the notices thirty days beforehand," said Mrs. Dickey, reluctantly, after Justice Summerfield had united them. "We wanted everything to be legal, and we have asked the witnesses here to suppress the news of this marriage for a day, because it might spoil the other. Think what people would say if they knew the religious marriage wasn't necessary at all."

Dickey is a Philadelphian, a Delta Tau, graduate of Lafayette College in civil engineering, and the son of a retired manufacturer. An affection of the eyes has obliged him to give up his profession for orange growing, which he finds much to his taste. He was taken home from college five years ago, severely ill, and sent to the Hahnemann hospital at Philadelphia, where chance brought him under the care of Miss Conrad.

It was the old romance of a soft voice, deft fingers, a recovery all too quick, a last linnering in the hospital when the patient, by all medical canons should have been out, and a lasting affection that found its fruition yesterday. The pair will live in San Dimas, after a brief honeymoon.

STINGING ANSWER TO CRITICS OF AQUEDUCT.

Municipal Report to Eastern Capitalists Inquiring as to Truth of Vicious Attack by "People's" Board Brands Latter as "Veriest Rot," Explaining Bitter Political Animus Back of It—Charges Refuted.

A SYNDICATE of bankers and capitalists of Chicago, who have become deeply interested in the tremendous growth and general expansion of Los Angeles, and who have under consideration heavy investments in the municipal bonds of this city, came into possession recently of the vicious report of the self-styled "People's" Aqueduct Investigating Board, and naturally has undertaken to obtain further information.

This syndicate appealed to Mayor Alexander, as the head of the municipality, for facts regarding the 140 charges against the Los Angeles aqueduct made by the investigating board, and the Mayor yesterday sent a statement covering the entire ground.

Handling without gloves the reports of the investigating board, the Mayor recites the incidents relative to the resignation of Messrs. Edward Johnson and Edward S. Cobb from the original investigation board, wherein they state that they resign "because, in our judgment, the board is not acting on its own initiative; the acts and conclusions of some of its members are dictated by certain outside influences, and there is not on the board a sufficient number of members who by education or experience have become familiar with the serious problems incident to the subjects under investigation."

The Mayor pays his respects to the three remaining members of the investigating board, declaring that E. C. Cady and H. A. Hart, the former a farmer of an adjoining county, and the latter a real estate dealer, are Socialists—"men of no experience or qualification fitting them to conduct the proposed investigation," and that "two of them were avowedly inimical to the whole enterprise so long as conducted by anybody but Socialists, and the other," referring to C. A. Warner, "a man who showed by his conduct during the so-called investigation that he was just as prejudiced and biased as were the two Socialists."

"THE VERIEST ROT."

"The whole matter of the investigation seems to be an attempt to justify that vicious campaign of the Socialists," says the Mayor, referring to the time when an attempt was made to foist Job Harriman upon the city as Chief Executive, "and the report of the Investigating Committee carries no weight with our citizenship." Summarizing the report, the Mayor says much of it "is the veriest rot."

The Mayor frankly states that "many experiments have been made, some of which were not entirely successful. It would have been a miracle to have gone through such a tremendous piece of work without any mistakes. The mistakes, however, were remarkably few and inexpensive."

This report to the banking syndicate goes into detail on the voluminous charges made by the investigating board, and answers them fully.

A comprehensive review is given of the aqueduct enterprise and its cost, showing that the 217 miles of construction from the intake at Owens River to the head of the San Fernando Valley will be completed within the estimate of the $24,500,000 of bonds issued for the financing of this immense undertaking, which also includes the securing of the necessary water rights, rights of way, reservoir sites, etc.

SWIFT FLAMES SWEEP MILES.

Two Fires at Once Along Malibu Range.

Good Work by Fighters and Damage Small.

Soldiers' Home and Beverly Hotel Threatened.

Fierce, wind-swept fires raging twelve miles apart on the Malibu range threatened for a time last night the destruction of ranch houses, handsome homes and hotels along its southern edge. A blaze of mysterious origin starting in Sepulveda Canyon, two miles north of Soldiers' Home, which early in the evening appeared to menace that institution and the Beverly Hills Hotel, is still smouldering in the hills to the north. The second fire, beginning a mile north of the entrance to Topango Canyon, swept along the hillside until checked by men from the Malibu ranch and a motion-picture camp. The damage by both fires is restricted to two small ranch-houses, fences and timber.

When officials of the Santa Monica Land and Water Company heard of the fire in Sepulveda Canyon at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Charles Merrill, assistant superintendent, started with forty men to check the flames. The company has a dam and reservoir in the canyon which was threatened. The dam was saved.

TOWARD SOLDIERS' HOME.

When the flames began to reach down the side of the hills threateningly toward the Soldiers' Home, John Dobbins, chief engineer of the Home, gathered a crew of mechanics and workmen and they began to fight with wet sacks. F. E. Leg, superintendent of the Santa Monica Land and Water Company, who was in Los Angeles all afternoon, arrived on the scene early in the evening and took charge of the men who were fighting to save the dam and reservoir buildings.

Only two small houses were in Sepulveda Canyon. These were burned early in the evening. They are the residences of Joseph and Charles Gill and Asa Smith. A few outbuildings went with these houses. The house of H. R. Brown, who has a hog ranch at the foot of the canyon, was saved by good work on the part of the force from the Soldiers' Home. All the live stock was driven over to the Home. The fields north of the Home have been recently plowed, and this aided much in stopping the flames in that direction.

Very little timber was burned in the sweep of the flames over an area of about two miles square, but the brush burned quickly and the wind from the northeast, swerving to the northwest, fanned the patches of flame into fierce heat. The water company's men did effective work at the western side of the canyon, and the men from the Home on the south curbed the fire. All evening dense clouds of smoke hung over Sawtelle and Beverly.

FIGHTERS ORGANIZED.

When the flames swept toward Beverly at 8:30 p.m., almost all of the employees of the Beverly Hills Hotel were organized into a fire-fighting brigade. The hotel engine company was got in readiness, and a group of men went to meet the fire in the brush. The fighters had no such difficulty here as did the men in the hills. The fields, given over to the growing of beans, were almost bare, and the flames had not much to feed on. Nevertheless sparks were wafted over the hotel, and the fire company was kept on the alert.

Forest rangers appeared on the scene early, under the direction of the supervisor. There were twenty of the rangers who concentrated their efforts towards keeping the fire from spreading toward the east, into Beverly, Sherman and Hollywood. The forest service had recently established a fire-break twenty-five feet wide, which reaches from the fork of the Santa Monica Canyon to Cahuenga Pass. At 9 o'clock last night the fire reached this break, and began to die down all along the smouldering line.

The fire along the coast was of less importance. It burned off several acres of brush on the side of the hill along the ocean but no buildings were destroyed, and no one was injured. The force from the Malibu ranch was on the scene at 3:30 p.m., and had the flames well under control when Jack Lear and his thirty-eight men from the Bison motion-picture camp arrived to lend their aid.

Stinging Answer.

tem are outlined; the bonding capacity of the city is given in detail; the present water system is reviewed, and there are sections relating to the general purposes of the aqueduct; the necessity for irrigating use of these waters, the value of water in California, and the market for the water to be brought to Los Angeles by this aqueduct.

The report continues:

READY BY APRIL.

"Unquestionably the aqueduct will be ready to deliver water at the head of the San Fernando Valley by April 1, 1913, and probably sooner. If we now had the necessary funds we could have a large portion of the distributing conduits finished by that time. None of these conduits, except the so-called "high line" to Pasadena and the east, will take more than ten months to build. The high line will require probably two and a half or three years, as it involves a tunnel above three miles long.

"The water rights which the city has, when fully developed for power purposes, will generate more than 120,000 horse power of electrical energy.

"The first unit, which is now being constructed at the San Francisquito Canyon, will develop a peak load of 37,000 horse power. This, together with a transmission line to the city capable of carrying two or three times the capacity of said unit, is already financed and will be completed by the 1st of April. This is the only unit the city contemplates building at the present time.

"This power will be distributed by the city. The estimated cost of a new system is about $5,600,000. This money will be raised either by assessment upon the property benefited or by a bond issue.

AS TO SOCIALISTS.

"In the campaign a year ago the Socialists made a most vicious attack upon the aqueduct enterprise, their principal endeavor being to show that the enterprise was one devised by a few wealthy men who would become enriched by the increased value of lands in the San Fernando Valley, although they also made charges against the quality of the work and quality and quantity of the water.

"The Socialists' municipal campaign was managed by one Alexander Irvine, formerly of Chicago, and not here long enough to qualify for citizenship. After the election, he publicly admitted that the statements he had made during the campaign as to the aqueduct were based entirely upon hearsay. The whole matter of the investigation seems to be an attempt to justify that vicious campaign of the Socialists; and the report of the Investigating Committee carries no weight with our citizenship."

Referring to the charges of the investigating board that the available water supply of the Los Angeles River watershed has never been fully developed; that it could be developed to provide ample water for 1,000,000 people, and that the water supply of Southern California in reference to its use by Los Angeles had never been given a thorough investigation by the water department, the report says:

"Our engineers, Mr. Mulholland and Mr. Lippincott, have studied the water supply of Southern California for years. With Mr. Mulholland it has been a life study. They are men of national reputation and absolutely refute the foregoing three conclusions, and beyond question the first three findings of this report are not true."

NO MONEY WASTED.

As to the charge that only the most meager information was at hand concerning the cost of a properly constructed aqueduct — although the board in its report declares that the project was "discussed with city officials at least two or three years prior to its public announcement," the reply of this report is that "The information was so sufficient that the estimate as to the cost was a very close one."

The charge of the investigating board that use of the aqueduct will remove the fundamental ground of the city's present control of the Los Angeles River waters, is answered by the statement:

"The paramount right of the city to the water of Los Angeles River has been settled by the courts. Even if it were true that the city could not by injunction prevent the farmers of the San Fernando Valley from pumping the underground waters that lie under their own lands while the city has an adequate supply from the Owens River, yet the same thing would be true if our future supply were obtained from any other source."

And that the present water supply is only one-quarter filtered, as charged by the investigating board, the reply is made:

"Our present supply of water already is well protected, and the Board of Public Service Commissioners recently has ordered work to be done which will take care of the filtration of all the water at the Crystal Springs and head works intakes."

Answers are also made to the charge that flood waters now wasted should be impounded, and that water is made useless by the growth of algae in the reservoir of greatest capacity, the reply stating that there is no means by which the flood waters could be impounded except by providing enormous additional reservoir capacity and lifting the water by pumping, at great cost; and that the large reservoir referred to is used only to carry a reserve for special emergency; while it is too large to be roofed—the only means of ridding it of the growth of algae—the waters in it are not unwholesome.

ON CHANGE OF ROUTE.

Regarding the change of route from the original line, the statement is made that the power development was merely transferred to another part of the line more advantageously situated as to reservoir sites, which could regulate the flow for power purposes. As to the charge that the diversion of route was made in order to be of great advantage to a land syndicate owing properties in the San Fernando Valley, the Mayor states:

"The lands of this syndicate would have been irrigated almost as readily from the Tejunga route as the present one."

By facts and figures the report explodes the claims in regard to ability to secure large amounts of water now lost, and designates this claim as based on "malicious bias," wherein data in the hands of the investigation board was ignored.

Charges that there is an impossibility of securing the water claimed for the aqueduct enterprise are also exploded by quotations from the government observations showing that the water supply for the aqueduct is more than sufficient to supply the aqueduct capacity, 20,000 inches, even without the Long Valley reservoir site, while the city also has in the Owens River Valley thousands of acres of land where there is an artesian supply equal to half of the supply of the aqueduct.

ON WATER'S QUALITY.

As to charges against the quality of the water, made by the investigation board, the reply says:

"Chemical analysis show it to be better than the present water supply of Los Angeles. Danger of contamination from sewage is nowhere as great as in the cities of New York, London, and other great cities that secure their supply from rivers into which sewers run, and ample provision is made to insure the purity of the water for domestic use when it reaches Los Angeles.

"The population of the whole Owens River water shed of 3800 square miles, is less than one-fifth of that of the 480 square miles of the Los Angeles River water shed, now supplying the city without pollution or the slightest danger of it with reasonable precaution."

Of the charge that Los Angeles will have litigation with Owens Valley property owners and probably will have to relinquish some of these rights, the statement is made in the reply that "There are no rights now disputed or in prospect of dispute," and that "No one in the Owens Valley has been deprived of water to which he was entitled, without being fully compensated."

DIRECT REFUTATION.

Continuing, charge after charge of the investigation board is met with direct refutation, and the statement proceeds:

"We will obtain 20,000 inches of water from the Owens River Valley and it will be of fine quality for domestic use. The aqueduct will be finished within the estimated cost of $24,000,000. It will require seven or eight million dollars to construct the proposed water distributing systems; and as soon as these distributing conduits are completed, which at the outside should not be more than three years, the enterprise will be on a paying basis. The distributing system for more than one-half of the capacity of the aqueduct should be completed within ten months.

"A portion of the water will have to be used upon the San Fernando Valley and will be used there upon payment of the rate fixed by the city for such use.

"The aqueduct, under favorable conditions, should be more than self-supporting by the latter part of 1915, at the very latest, and income producing by the end of 1913.

"The sale of water from the aqueduct at domestic rates within and without the city, will exceed 2000 inches inside of two years, and the revenue from this source will be over $800,000 per annum, nearly enough in itself to pay the interest on the aqueduct bonds."

Finally, summarizing and reviewing minor charges in regard to features and handling of this immense project, the report states that these "are unimportant so far as bond values or the value of the aqueduct are concerned, much of it being the veriest rot."

The report closes with statements commending the Los Angeles aqueduct from noted engineers, including E. E. Meyer, government engineer of the Island of Java; F. H. Newell, director of the United States reclamation service: Capt. H. W. Stickle, corps of engineers, U.S.A.; Arthur P. Davis, chief engineer of the United States reclamation service, and builder of the Roosevelt Dam; Horace Ropes, a consulting engineer of New York City, and others.

LONE ROBBER HOLD-UP.

Takes Money From West Adams Street Car Crew at End of Line on the Last Trip.

A lone robber, pistol in hand, robbed the crew of a West Adams street car of money and valuables early yesterday morning at Montclair and West Adams streets, while the conductor and motorman were preparing for the return trip to the city. The robber asked both men to keep their hands above their heads, emphasizing the request with threats. After securing the money, which he did by passing his hat to the unwilling contributors, he stepped from the car and disappeared.

The scene of the most recent hold-up has been the favorite resort of robbers in the last few weeks. The robber was described as being short of stature and apparently not more than 24 years old. His face was covered with a mask.

SEA-LEVEL ROAD OPENING.

J. S. Mitchell, Thomas Haverty, J. J. Jenkins, Gen. Charles Foreman, E. W. Jones, Fred L. Boruff and F. G. Coffin have been appointed the Chamber of Commerce Committee to represent that body at the formal opening of the Rincon Sea Level road at Punta Gorda at noon Sunday. Automobile parties from all parts of Southern California will be entertained over night at Santa Barbara, Ventura and Oxnard, making the run to Punta Gorda to attend the barbecue the next day. Several hundred Los Angeles motorists will attend the celebration.

Well! Well!!

CIVIL SERVICE GRILL NOW THE PROSPECT.

ANOTHER turmoil in the city administration is on the tapis. The Civil Service Commission is to be put on the grill and a demand will be made at the next meeting of the City Council, declares Councilman Topham, for the appointment of a Citizens' Committee to thoroughly investigate affairs connected with the recent examinations of candidates for chief engineer of the Bureau of Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph. If this committee is appointed it may also include within the scope of its work the circumstances surrounding the examination for the position of City Sealer of Weights and Measures, regarding which there has been much comment.

Out of a dozen applicants who took the examination for the position of chief engineer for the fire alarm and police telegraph bureau only one man received passing marks—Paul J. Ost of San Francisco. His average was 98.1 per cent. The next highest candidate received markings of less than 75 per cent.

Councilman Topham stated yesterday that he was not disposed to allow the situation to pass without making an effort to learn how it is possible that among so many candidates, several of whom were considered well qualified for the position, only one man was able to secure the required percentage of examination credits.

Frank O'Neill, who was appointed to the position under the emergency provisions of the charter several weeks ago by the Mayor, after the Council had refused to approve another appointment the Mayor had made, was not among the men taking the examination. He refused to enter the lists, and an effort was made by the Mayor and the members of the City Council to have the Civil Service Commission exempt this position from its examination requirements, but the commission refused to do this, declaring that such action would be against good public policy.

"The position is important and carries a salary of $250 per month. Under the chief engineer of this bureau there is to be constructed in Los Angeles a new system of police and fire signals, and the possibility of special influence being brought to bear on the head of this department by some company desirous of installing its own particular apparatus under the new system is one that has been discussed in connection with the consideration of possible appointees to this position.

Some time ago several members of the Council visited San Francisco and the other bay cities to investigate systems in use there, and also to look up possible available candidates for the head of the bureau. When they returned, some of the Councilmen were strong in their support of Ost for this position, but finally O'Neill was appointed.

John D. Irons, who holds the emergency appointment of City Sealer of Weights and Measures, recently took the civil service examination, but failed to receive passing marks. He has appealed to the Mayor to withhold the appointment of anyone to this position until he has the opportunity to secure a review of the examination papers upon which the Civil Service Commission passed.

IN BUYING A CITRUS GROVE
BE SURE OF THE FROST CONDITIONS

Danger from frost is by far the greatest foe to the citrus industry. It is poor economy to buy a grove where the frost conditions are such that you may lose all or part of your crop every few seasons.

At Sunny Slope, you can satisfy yourself, absolutely, that the frost conditions are perfect. You can see nursery stock that was uninjured although exposed last winter in the hardest freeze on record.

You can inspect adjoining groves and find that they, too, were uninjured last winter, or in any previous season. The elevation and protection by the hills on three sides, completely eliminate all danger from frost.

You will be just as thoroughly satisfied with the soil, also the water which is already developed, giving one inch to every five acres.

You will find no scale or disease at Sunny Slope.

A Smiley Heights home is yours overlooking one of the most beautiful cities in Southern California. Or you can have your grove cared for as a part of this private estate, in the same thorough and scientific manner that the owners devote to their own groves.

SEEING IS BELIEVING. We will take you over the main citrus properties now on the market, and then will show you ours. You will realize at once the difference between a Sunny Slope Quality Grove developed as a private estate, and the ordinary promotion schemed citrus property.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

NOW you have often said:—"Oh dear, I dread when eating time comes near. It's not so much the cooking, grub, but cleaning after,"—there's the "rub." Each kitchen holds a mass of work, no tidy little wife should shirk.

Gold Dust vs. Kitchen Worry

The kitchen floor, the kitchen sink, the kitchen pots as black as ink, the kitchen kettles and the pans, the silver, glass and cups and cans; wherever you may look, the toil means more than any kettles boil. To just "prepare" a meal is "fun," but work, with THAT is scarce "begun."

If those who stay up days and nights to win the cause of "Women's Rights" would only vote the GOLD DUST PLAN they soon would have the best of man. More time for comfort and for smiles; more time to play a woman's wiles, for once the GOLD DUST TWINS appear, Hard Labor's cry you never hear; frail woman is a queenly soul who plays the "Take-it-Easy" role. Each GOLD DUST package sets her free by bearing out its guarantee, and never more those household woes that every weary woman knows. Pile up the dishes as you will, the GOLD DUST TWINS will clean 'em still. Old floors and woodwork sinks and pans, turn out as Master Cleaner Plans. From sun to sun, and chore to chore, your tasks will fret you nevermore.

STRANGE WORDS A BOOMERANG?

Witness' Memory May Show Up Conspiracy.

Woman of Mystery in Eddie Case Is Guarded.

Accused to Have Overheard Plot Against Lloyd.

Although many court attaches predicted the grand jury would return its bills yesterday afternoon, no official action was taken. The inquisitorial body will resume its examination of the Anderson-Eddie-Choate case at 9 o'clock this morning. Some of the deputy sheriffs on duty took this to mean that indictments would be ready for presentation to the presiding judge of the Superior Court when the morning session.

Deputy District Attorney Shannon, who had charge of the witnesses at yesterday's session, would not talk about the work accomplished. He said that the grand jury alone can say whether or not sufficient evidence has been produced to warrant indictments. District Attorney Fredericks preserved his usual attitude, declaring that no statement is necessary from him, inasmuch as the fullest kind of an investigation is in progress by a body of impartial men.

It is believed the work of county officers yesterday resulted in much additional testimony being secured for the inquisitorial body. Subpoenas were issued for a number of newspaper men who interviewed the principals in the municipal muddle.

REPORTER TESTIFIES.

The last witness for the day was Fred M. Green, who supposedly told of what he was told by George Baker and Fred M. C. Choate. Guy Eddie and Lewis R. Works, who have been charged more than once by Choate and others with having had a prior arrangement regarding the music played on F. M. Lloyd.

Green was in the grand jury room only an hour. He could not discuss the testimony but said in general it covered the train of events beginning with the arrival of Lloyd at the Central Police Station Thursday night of last week. Presumably he told the jurors what explanation Works had given and how Choate and Anderson explained their part in the plot to discredit the witness Guy Eddie.

Robert M. Yost, Jr., another newspaper man, who has followed the proceedings for the past week, was subpoenaed, but was not called into the grand jury room because of the lateness of the hour. He will probably be called this morning.

MYSTERIOUS WORDS.

Luncheon at Coulter's cafe, Guy Eddie, Anderson, Choate and several of his friends met one noon, and it is brought to the attention of the grand jury today, according to members of detectives.

Miss Grace Cavaleri, one of the women, is reported to have heard certain references to Lloyd that she could not understand at the time, but shortly after the former special officer's arrest, became clear to her.

Deputy District Attorney Shannon finally admitted she will be a witness, but refused to give her address. Detective Duni, in charge of the men investigating for the county, also refused to say where the young woman lives. At the cafe, the manager said Miss Cavaleri has been given a leave of absence for a few days, and it is important that the girl be protected until her sworn testimony is presented to the grand jury.

The reason for the frequent trips of the "mysterious blonde" to the District Attorney's office and the Central Station, in the escort of Duni, were also explained. It was necessary, it is said, for Miss Cavaleri to identify the members of the luncheon party, as she only knew Eddie by sight, she told the deputy prosecutor.

CONCERTED PLOT?

The young woman is quoted as saying members of the party spoke of Jack Arlington, Nicholson and Lloyd. She is regarded as an important witness as to alleged circumstances tending to prove a conspiracy on the part of Eddie and some of his friends to put the witness Lloyd against him in jail or otherwise discredit them.

Detectives Mack Nicholson, who has already taken steps to have her testify in the card-game expert and fraud, is called as a witness today. She was subpoenaed to a statement which sets forth that at a restaurant her husband, her he and his chum, Arlington, had a lot of money from the race offices.

The lines of investigation pursued by Deputy District Attorneys Shannon yesterday, was the report which Harry J. Raymond, head of the Citizens' Detective Agency, became acquainted with Patrolmen Wolfe and Wolfe, who arrested Eddie. So far, there has appeared no contradictory statements in this case, and Arlington and Nicholson testified they saw Wedge and Raymond there. Other evidence tends to show that Wedge and Wolfe knew each other and what they were wanted for, having been assigned to special duty by Capt. Auble.

VERY CLANNISH.

Wedge and Wolfe kept much to themselves yesterday. They refused to talk for pictures and passed most of the time in Judge Craig's court in the case, but out of the way of importuning newspaper reporters.

It was virtually admitted by a member of the District Attorney's staff that Arlington and his friends will attempt to place the blame on Raymond. This appears to be the "Jim Lloyd" who accompanied Works, Choate and Anderson to the apartments of Nicholson and Arlington.

It is said that if Eddie's story can show that Raymond was a friend of Lloyd for certain reasons which were also "peeved" because the latter game was broken up, the instrumentality of the alleged plot of Eddie's might fall to pieces.

Raymond's testimony was evidently that he was inside the house for two hours in the afternoon and about as long, again in the evening. It is believed he freelanced in connection with the case and is not connected with any private detective. He has been closely allied with certain Good Government police detectives for Attorney Works denied all prior knowledge of Raymond and reaffirmed his former statement that he knew nothing of any alleged plot to discredit Lloyd until called down town by Choate and Anderson. He said if summoned before the grand jury, his testimony will be virtually the same.

All day counsel for Eddie or some of his friends watched the grand jury-room, making note of the witnesses called and apparently seeking to elicit something as to the general trend of their testimony.

Eddie has not appeared at the Courthouse, as far as known. Choate has appeared several times in the corridor, accompanied by H. P. Geisler, one of Eddie's lawyers. Anderson has kept away entirely. Works was present for a few minutes the opening day.

There are a dozen more witnesses who can be called if necessary, says Shannon. Capt. Fredericks said on the first day of the investigation, he will not suggest any line of procedure, but will allow the inquisitors to take all the time they want, to investigate the municipal scandal.

CODE'S SCOURED FOR PUNISHMENT.

FIND NEARLY-FORGOTTEN LAW TO FIT RIEDELBACH.

Dynamiter-Anarchist Arraigned on Charge Made Possible by Statute Passed Forty Years Ago and by Which He May Be Given Life Sentence.

An almost forgotten provision of the Penal Code of the State, enacted in 1872, has been revived in order that punishment commensurate with the gravity of his offense may be meted out to Carl Riedelbach, the anarchist-dynamiter, who terrorized thousands with threats to destroy the Central Police Station Tuesday morning. Under the section invoked in this instance the Legislature fixed the minimum punishment at one year in the State's prison. No maximum was fixed, which places a large degree of discretionary power in the hands of the trial court.

Riedelbach was arraigned yesterday before Police Judge Williams at the University Court. The complaint embodies Section 601, Penal Code of California, which provides that: "Any person who maliciously deposits or explodes, or who attempts to explode, at, in, under or near any building, vessel, boat, railroad, tram-road or cable road, or any train or car or any depot, stable, car-house, theater, school-house, church, dwelling-house or other place where human beings usually inhabit, assemble, frequent or pass and repass, any dynamite, nitro-glycerine, vigorite, giant or hercules powder, gunpowder or other chemical compounds or explosives, with the intent to injure or destroy such buildings, vessels, boats or other structure, or with the intent to injure, intimidate or terrify any human being, or by means of which any human being is injured or endangered, is guilty of a felony and punishable by imprisonment in the State's prison not less than one year."

A formal plea of not guilty was entered by order of the court, Riedelbach not having as yet retained counsel. The hearing was set for Monday morning at 10 o'clock, and the prisoner was remanded to jail in default of $20,000 bail. The formal complaint, wherein Riedelbach is charged with violating the foregoing section of the Penal Code, was attested by Police Sergeant Hilt. Deputy District Attorney Graham, who displayed commendable courage in engaging Riedelbach in conversation during the time he held his infernal machine ready to blow up the station, appeared on behalf of the State and will prosecute the case.

The prisoner maintained his customary good humor yesterday and appeared willing to talk. Although the wound received at the time of his capture is considered serious, the attending surgeons think he will probably be in condition today to lead the detectives to his alleged cache, where he says he has additional dynamite stored.

A resolution commending the courage of the men who saved the Central Station from being dynamited was ordered drawn up yesterday by the Board of Supervisors, who gathered to hear from their own lips the story of Riedelbach's exploits.

The committee to draft the resolutions, made up of Dist.-Atty. Fredericks and Supervisors Neills and Butler, is expected to publish the memorial today. It is possible that some more substantial token of appreciation will be given the men as well.

Fredericks last night expressed himself in favor of this, but said that nothing specific had been decided upon. Medals are talked of, but a cash bonus is looked upon in many quarters as a gift that would have more practical utility than anything else that could be offered.

The men told, simply and straightforwardly, the story already published about the affair, each disclaiming any particular courage, but generously praising the hardihood of the others. Those called before the board to receive its commendation were Detectives Browne, Hosick and Fitzgerald, Sergeant of Police Hilf, Officers Graham and Donahue, C. E. Snively, formerly the Chief's secretary, and Deputy District Attorney Ralph Graham.

OFFICIALS EXONERATED.

Investigation Fails to Bear Out Complaint of County Jail Prisoner that He Was Starved.

Sheriff Hammel has written a letter to Assistant United States District Attorney Robinson denying in toto the charges made to the latter official by Frank Wertz, charged with violation of the Chinese Exclusion Act, to the effect that he (Wertz) during his confinement in the County Jail was deprived of food for three days. The Sheriff declares that neither the turnkeys nor the trusties were derelict in the matter and asks the fullest investigation by the government.

Robinson says that his investigation of the affair, predicated upon a personal visit to cell No. 9, where Wertz was confined, accompanied by the latter, leads him to exonerate completely both Jailer Gallagher and Sheriff Hammel. He is not so sure that Billy Gerald, alleged smuggler and the jail trusty whose business it was to serve Wertz with food, was not derelict. It is presumed, however, that the incident will be considered closed unless Wertz carries out his threat to bring an action against Sheriff Hammel for damages.

NEW HOSPITAL FOR INSANE.

PSYCOPATHIC ASSOCIATION TO ASK LEGISLATURE.

Assemblymen and Senators Hear Discussion—Superintendent of Patton Hospital Favors the Plan. Will Also Ask for Lunacy Court. Good Work of Best Haven Home.

A meeting of the Psycopathic Association of California was held on Wednesday evening at the residence of W. S. James, in the interest of the new hospital for the insane for Southern California. The meeting was attended by a number of the members-elect of the State Assembly and Senate, and was presided over by Judge Wilbur.

Dr. H. G. Brainerd, in giving reasons why a new hospital is imperative, stated that the Patton Hospital, with a capacity of 1400 patients, now has 1800, and the number is increasing at the rate of one each day. The mentally afflicted of the entire State now number 8500, and the district south of the Tehachepi, with one-third the entire population and growing much more rapidly than the North, has accommodations for but one-fifth of the mentally-afflicted patients. Dr. Brainerd urged that on account of the unfavorable climatic conditions at Patton the new institution should be located near the coast within easy reach of Los Angeles, which furnishes 80 per cent. of the patients.

Dr. H. V. Riley, superintendent of the Patton Hospital, was present and announced himself as in favor of the Legislature granting only a sufficient appropriation to provide for maintenance and temporary relief at Patton, so that the balance of the appropriation asked for—$400,000—could be used as a portion of the fund for a new hospital.

The meeting unanimously adopted a resolution in harmony with this idea, and asking that a bill be passed providing for the erection of a new insane hospital near Los Angeles.

It was also decided to ask the passage of a bill creating a lunacy court, similar in lines to the Juvenile Court, with a judge and officers, to have chambers in the psychopathic ward of the County Hospital.

Mrs. O. P. Clark, speaking for the Rest Haven Home of the Psycopathic Association for the mentally afflicted, stated that thirty-five women have been committed thereto by the Lunacy Commission and there have been sixty voluntary cases. A woman parole officer and a woman physician look after and investigate the cases before the commission. It was Mrs. Clark who suggested the lunacy court.

DEMAND FOR TEACHERS.

China and Malay Archipelago Absorbing American Learning for State and Business Affairs.

"China is rapidly educating the better classes of its young men," declared Miss Harriet C. Read, who arrived at the Lankersihm yesterday from the home of her parents in San Diego, and is now on her way to Singapore on the Malay Penninsula, where for seven years she has been one of the teachers in the Anglo-Chinese school.

"There has been an awakening among the people to the fact that they must learn methods of the present day and study the things which are going on in other parts of the world than their own," she said. "The result is that all of the American or European educational institutions in that country have difficulty in providing facilities for the students who are desirous of an education.

"The Chinese are very numerous about Singapore, and as a rule are all of the upper classes. The parents of the young men who go to our school are as a rule wealthy and are interested in tin mines, in rubber plantations, or the spice business. Some of our boys have as much as 50 cents a day "cake money," as they call their allowance, and when it is figured that 50 cents is more than most of the laborers get a week it can readily be conceived it is no small sum there."

Miss Read stated that most of the young men who receive their fundamental education there come to the United States or go to England to complete it.

"In that way the nation is gradually acquiring a strong, alert corps of young men placed in diplomatic and army circles, where their presence counts for something," she said. "Many of the boys who are educated in Singapore are unable to speak Chinese, having been brought up with the Malay language, but they acquire it readily."

There are upwards of 1200 boys and young men taking the courses at the Anglo-Chinese school, and there is a big field for teachers in the various educational institutions of the country, according to Miss Read. She plans to leave today for San Diego and then take the steamer for the Orient there.

Alleged Hop Smuggler Tries to Buy One, But Finds There Isn't Money Enough to Do It.

Caught with opium in his possession, Yee Hop, alias Wang Ching, of Upland, tried to buy Constable J. F. Sawyer of that place for $100. When the princely offer was refused he boosted it to $310, but there was nothing to it but jail for Hop. He entered the portals of the county bastile yesterday sadly ruminating on the exorbitant prices of "Melican p'leece."

Hop was caught on a train between Upland and San Bernardino. He had his shirt-tail tucked into his trousers, which unusual circumstance—for a Chinaman—betrayed the fact that the shirt was the receptacle for two five-tael cans of opium as well as for Hop himself. He said he got the stuff from a white man. It is worth about $40.

Hop formerly ran a "smokehouse" at Upland and has been twice arrested, fined and imprisoned for similar offenses. He is himself a "hophead," as users of the drug are called, and is regarded as one of the cleverest celestials on the Coast.

FRANCE HONORS LOYAL OFFICER.

PINS "PALMS ACADEMIQUES" UPON BREAST OF SENTOUS.

Decoration of Consular Agent Is Occasion for Reunion and Banquet of Frenchmen at Levy's Cafe, Which Opened Yesterday as the "Richelieu."

The official presentation to Louis Sentous, French Consular agent in Los Angeles, of the jewel of "Officer of Academy," bestowed upon him by the French government as a reward for good and faithful service, was the occasion last evening for a meeting of the French League and a general reunion of the French colony and Spanish and Italian friends of the Consul around the banquet board at the Richelieu cafe.

The business, social, official and professional life of the city was well represented among the seventy-five or more men gathered in honor of the distinguished guest of honor. Congratulatory speeches were given by J. Castera, president of the league; H. Grattel, Chief of Police Sebastian, Gen. Frank C. Prescott, L. E. Behymer, Rev. Father Idelfonso and J. F. Martinoni.

Presentation of the jewel on behalf of France was made by Dr. Hector Alliot, who said: "As an humble interpreter of the sentiment that actuated the French republic in bestowing upon you this jeweled insignia of service, I present it to you with the heartfelt good wishes of the French colony of Los Angeles."

In responding to the tribute of respect, esteem and friendship paid him by his fellow countrymen and friends of other nationalities, and in acknowledging the high honor indicated by the jewel just pinned upon his breast by Dr. Alliot, Sentous expressed his warm appreciation of all that the occasion signified, paid his respects to France and the United States and told of the pleasure with which he had served here in his official capacity.

The emblem itself is a beautiful pendant of palms and olive branches set with a handsome diamond and suspended upon a violet silk ribbon. In the course of his remarks Grattel told something of the history of official decorations of France. This particular insignia, he said, is given, he said, not only as a token of the esteem and confidence in which the Consul is held as a representative of France, but also as a reward for services rendered in the exercise of his official duties, and as encouragement for the same excellent service in future. The presentation is looked upon as a distinct honor to the entire French colony of the city, as well as to its highest official.

Sentous has for thirty years been a leader among his countrymen in this community and always has come to the fore in movements to benefit them, as well as playing an active part in civic affairs in general. He was seven times elected president of the French Benevolent Association and for twenty-one years has been a member of the board of directors of the French Hospital.

Last night's affair was the first meeting of the French League which was organized only a few weeks ago. The occasion also marked the opening of Levy's cafe under the new French management, and under the new name—"Richelieu."

SOCIETY

Miss Lucile McVey

Of Sedalia, Mo., who will spend the winter in Los Angeles.

MRS. WILLOUGBHY RODMAN, who has been enjoying a year's tour of the world with Mr. Rodman, was royally welcomed home yesterday at a radiant reception given by her sisters, Mrs. Albert Crutcher and Mrs. Joseph H. Bohon at the California Club. The traveler was greeted by several hundred friends, who have waited anxiously for her return.

The decorations were handsome, the reception-rooms glowing with hundreds of bright red poinsettias which were enhanched by a background of tropical palms. The ballroom was done in Palma Christie and the dining-room was a bower of loveliness with quantities of autumn leaves sent from the East for the occasion. These were banked around a Japanese paper tree which towered above the beautiful foliage.

Mr. Grundy, who is connected with the motor car industry in Los Angeles and various other financial pursuits in Southern California, is sojourning at Arrowhead Hot Spring where his family gathered to pay respects to him and Mrs. Grundy on this anniversary.

At the dinner C. Fred Grundy, the eldest of the sons made the announcement of the coming wedding to be followed by a family dinner at C. Fred Grundy's Dalton-avenue home in Los Angeles.

A quiet service solemnized last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McPeak of No. 1119 Arapahoe street, united in marriage their daughter, Miss Jane Baxter McPeak, and C. P. Manwaring of San Francisco. Rev. Lewis J. Adams was asked to speak the lines and Mrs. Charles Stivers opened the service with "O Perfect Love."

The bride-to-be was becomingly gowned in ivory-satin and duchesse lace and her veil was fastened with an orange blossom cluster. Lillies-of-the-valley and bride roses formed her bridal bouquet. Little Kathleen Campbell, who assisted as flower girl, wore a lingerie frock over pink and carried a basket of Cecile Bruner roses. The drawing-room was enhanced with pink carnations and ferns, while the dining-room was aglow with white chrysanthemums and ferns. Poinsettias and ferns were utilized effectively in the reception hall. Mr. and Mrs. Manwaring will go East for their honeymoon and returning, will reside at No. 2850 Union street, San Francisco.

A morning wedding was that of Miss Beulah Lightner and Charles Curtis Wright, which was solemnized yesterday at 11:30 at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Lightner, of No. 1010 Beacon street. Miss Lightner wore a brown velvet going-away suit and carried a shower of bride roses. Rev. Fishburn read the service in the presence of relatives only and Mrs. J. M. WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY SYDNEY FORD.

The Southern California Student Conference, given under the auspices of the Pacific Coast Field Committee of the national board of the Y.W.C.A. comes off at Claremont the end of this week, beginning today and continuing until Sunday night. The Y.W.C.A. of Pomona College will be the hostess and student associations from Occidental, U.S.C., the Girls' Collegiate School, Whittier College, Redlands University, Los Angeles and San Diego Normal schools and Sherman Institute will be in attendance. The sessions open this evening with a 6 o'clock cabinet supper and conference. Mrs. Wesley H. Beach, chairman of the student department, will preside over the conference, and President James A. Blaisdell of Pomona College will give the address of welcome at the first formal opening meeting tomorrow at 10:15 o'clock.

The theme of the conference will be "Individual Power vs. Drift," and Mrs. Robert Freeman of Pasadena will be the first speaker on this topic, as it affects college life. Dr. William Horace Day will consider it with reference to personal life and Dr. George S. Kengott concerning community life. Mrs. Freeman will speak at the morning session tomorrow. Dr. Day in the afternoon and Dr. Kengott in the evening. At the noon luncheon, the summer conference rally will be considered, with Mrs. O. Shepard Barnum acting as toastmistress. At 3 o'clock there will be an intercollegiate tennis tournament and at 6 o'clock a conference supper.

On Sunday the conference delegates will attend the services of the Claremont Congregational Church, where the pastor, Dr. Henry Kingman, will preach on the subject, "Against the Tide." At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon there will be a vesper service led by Miss Martha A. Chickering.

Mrs. O. Shepard Barnum is chairman of the Pacific Coast Field Committee, Mrs. Warren Olney, Jr., vice-chairman; Miss Rose F. Smith of South Pasadena, secretary; Mrs. A. L. Macleigh, treasurer; Miss Lillian E. Janes, executive secretary. The committee of the student department is headed by Mrs. Wesley H. Beach, with the following members: Mmes. George F. Bovard, John Willis Baer, C. A. Kofold, Benjamin Ide Wheeler of Berkeley and Miss Helen Weeks of Alhambra.

Mrs. C. E. Spaulding is chairman of the foreign department and Miss Martha A. Chickering is acting student secretary during the temporary absence of Miss Helen M. Salisbury, who is enjoying a tour around the world in company with her mother, Mrs. S. S. Salisbury.

They'll Go to Panama.

Next Monday afternoon the Ebell Club will be entertained by a lecture on Panama and the canal zone as it is today, by Mrs. Edward H. Kemp, illustrated with original colored slides and motion pictures by Mr. Kemp.

The Kemps made a trip to Panama at the personal request of the Hon. George A. Loud of the Isthmian Canal Committee, to procure a set of moving pictures illustrating the progress of the work on the canal, to be exhibited before the House of Representatives, the Senate and other representative bodies. They were afforded every opportunity to procure suitable photographic material by Col. Goethals, who placed his railroad motor car at their disposal, and also provided them with a special engine and flat car to convey the cinematograph apparatus whenever necessary. The results of this trip give probably the most complete pictorial representation of work and life in the canal zone that has yet been produced, and also shows interesting experiences among the natives of the interior and Panamanian life.

The projected trip to Panama under the auspices of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce next January has aroused sufficient local interest to insure special attention to this lecture among the club women, some of whom contemplate making the trip.

Ebell in December.

The December Ebell programmes open on the second day of the month with a musicale in which the following artists will take part, Miss Blanche Ruby, lyric soprano; Jules Koopman, violinist, and Mrs. Gertrude Ross, piano accompanist.

The following Monday, Miss Gladys Madison Brush will give dramatic readings from Dickens "Christmas Carol," introducing the spirit of Christmas. On Monday, December 16, Henry Turner Bailey will lecture on "Our Architectural Inheritance," calling attention to the elements of youth and beauty which have come down to us from the seven great building epochs of history.

The special Christmas programme will be on the Monday preceding Christmas, December 23, and tableaux vivant, with music in the original Latin and German text, ranging from the fourth to the sixteenth century, will be presented by Baroness A. von Meyerinck. The origin and history of the Christmas symbols will be given by Mrs. Fred S. Lang, and Christmas songs will be sung by Miss Irene Wadey, who is a protege of Ellen Beach Yaw, and by Misses Norton und Reedy.

The Woman of Fifty.

Have you reached the half century milestone in life? Then you are at what Charlotte Perkins Gilman calls "the golden age." You are a full-grown human being, strengthened by the growth and experience of some twenty-five adult years behind you, and with the prospect of twenty-five more years before you—richer, stronger, fuller than all that have gone before.

"You have done your housekeeping; now do your world-keeping. It needs it," is the advice of Mrs. Gilman to women of leisure who have arrived at this golden age. "It is for the women of today to recognize that the feeding of the world is ill done, and make it better; that the children of the world are ill cared for, and do it better. When women can say, 'We raise the highest quality of food possible to our soil and climate, by the most economical and progressive methods; we distribute it most cheaply and efficiently; we prepare and preserve it most scientifically and purely; we cook and serve it by the highest standards of skill, economy, health and beauty'—then they may feel that they have done their duty as women. Far beyond—when all this is done—there lies before us the whole, unnumbered, widening range of occupations—all trades and crafts; all arts and sciences, all beautiful, skilled, creative works; all the manifold functions of human life in its increasing power and splendor. These are all open to the woman of fifty."

Quite a job laid out. Ought to be enough to occupy her time and leave no leisure moments for lamenting the days of her youth. Nowadays, the woman of fifty is just in her prime. She stands, in appearances and opinion, about where the woman of thirty did a few generations ago.

"MAKES DRIVER ARRESTED."

Motorcycle Cop Can't Hang on to Speeding Automobile, But Girl Helps Belated Officer.

F. H. Nickel, No. 830 South Olive street, a chauffer for the Case Automobile Company, was in a hurry yesterday when he started south on North Broadway, coming downtown from Eastlake Park. Motorcycle Policeman Hollowell caught a glimpse of the speeding machine driven by Nickel and gave chase.

"The car drew away from me like a freight train leaving a tramp," Hollowell said, "and I concluded that something was wrong with my motorcycle. I looked down at my speedometer and found I was traveling at forty-five miles an hour. I crowded on more speed, and just about that time the rear wheel of my machine locked and skidded a full block before it stopped."

A stranger who had witnessed the race volunteered to take the policeman to where the fleeing car had halted near the North Broadway tunnel, and Nickel was escorted to the Central Police Station. He was permitted to go on his own recognizance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker and Miss Ethelwyn Walker will leave January 30 on a nine-month tour around the world.

KNABE Announcement

The Fitzgerald Music Company is just closing one of the most remarkable piano sales in the history of this city. While the circumstances and conditions that gave birth to this sale were unusual---perhaps extraordinary---we have in all our announcements, hewn strictly to the line of fact, because we have valued far higher than any temporary advantage, the good will and confidence the public has reposed in us.

Next Wednesday, November 27th, we move into our new home. We leave behind us a record of 21 years of conscientious piano dealing. We face the future with ideals, higher if possible, than we have held in the past, with the worthy determination to give to Los Angeles a piano establishment that shall measure up to the highest possible standards of service, value and integrity. We cordially welcome you to visit us in our new home after Wednesday, Nov. 27th.

Our present remarkable sale of pianos and player pianos will continue in the cottage across the street until next Wednesday.

We tell you—as we have told you before—the values in high-class instruments are without precedent in this city. Will you be one to profit by them?

We guarantee these models not only to shape fashionably but to give a comfortable fitting. The maker guarantees them to us not only to shape and to fit, but to outwear any other corset and not to break or tear—all important in corset comfort.

Real music lovers, those who delight in fine pianism, in authoritatively correct renditions of the masterpieces, who are not content with the indifferent renditions of the ordinary player-piano, make most careful comparisons and buy

The Angelus Piano

The Angelus is the one temperamental Player, the one player-piano which actually infuses the real personality of the performer into every number played. It is the one player-piano in which skillful manipulation is unnecessary—controlled by the TOUCH OF ONE FINGER—just the index finger of the right hand, resting on the phrasing lever.

The Angelus separates melody and harmony, just as in hand playing; its pedals open and close automatically; it graduates properly the accompaniment; is capable of more delicate effects and greater fortissimos. The Angelus is, in fact, the ideal player-piano and it costs less than many of the inferior kinds. Your old piano taken at full value, the balance on easy payments. By all means see and hear the Angelus. It will astonish and delight you with its merits, beauty and simplicity.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN AND MEN

BY OLIVE GRAY

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: During the process of giving a good scrubbing to that part of the body behind the ears. This region is apt to be neglected, and no monster OLD AGE secretes himself and begins to bark abroad the fact that he has come into the world.

What is your especial puritanism? Do you think that stage dancing is the most shocking thing in the world? Or are you horrified at playing cards for money? Do you draw the line at smoking? Or have you no use whatever for those who indulge, so much as a sip of spirits at meals? Do you think it perfectly scandalous to wear low-necked gowns? Or are you appalled at the way girls dress when at a bathing beach? Is evening dress one of the things tabu with you? Or do you believe that the picture shows are a source of degradation to the youth of the land? Are you thoroughly disgusted with ragtime music? Or is it the fiction of the day which seems to you to be the pernicious vapor arising in the nostrils of the rising generation? Whatever your pet puritanism, no doubtless you have one—if not one—you, of course, fail to believe anything else in the world is as important as that particular thing, and, in fact, you may possibly fail to see harm in anything BUT that.

It is really amusing, if you look at it coolly and from afar, how most people will froth at the mouth about something and fail to notice something similar or worse. Truly, being hysterical is like the tariff, largely a local issue.

What Is Selling.

"These are the garments which are selling most, at present," said the man, in one of the popular dry goods houses.

He held up to my view a one-piece frock of mole mirror velvet, with touches of embroidery in bar-like colorings and with a fringe of long-haired fur around neck and cuffs.

"These heavier one-piece dresses seem to be largely superseding the suits, so far as our trade is," said the man. "And with the press of lighter weight we, of course, sell many long coats. In fact we have this season sold more and larger grades of coats than for many a year past," said he. "No, not so much exclusively motoring coats as coats for general wear and long coats for evening. Probably," he added, "the warm weather has made it unnecessary to puchase many heavy coats, but those will come later."

Those Ties.

"In buying the Christmas things for the boys," said a girl who has a considerable number of brothers and male cousins, "I make neckwear a staple article." "Gracious!" I exclaimed, "you say that as though you were groceries!" "If you had to buy as I have, you would speak rather wholesale, too. All my male relatives immense-size," she added, "until it comes to choosing gifts; but now that I have solved the question and buy nothing but neck-ties, it is much less trying. I have found a place, too, where I can save about a third in the price of each tie, and the quality is of the very best. It is on the first floor of the ——— building." "It is the very place that Jean Murray me about. It is where she bought all her ties for—" I said, and there I remembered that her present was still a secret, so I shut up short. "For whom? Oh, tell me for whom?" queried my friend, but I was firm and kept the secret.

Many of the new importations in the line of oriental shops are trays of carved inlaid wood in pretty designs. Useful and pretty, these would be an ornament to any side-board or table.

Dressing Table.

One of the girls has just completed a pretty dressing table for her room. It is made from an old table which she has fitted with drawers and compartments and has covered with blue, covered with dotted swiss. Above the table she has hung an oval mirror taken from a large and ugly bureau. She has painted the frame with white enamel and has fastened into each side of the latter which she made herself. The frame is decorated with small figures in Dutch blue, and the drawers are similarly decorated. She has a silver knife and fork tray painted with blue designs and has a similarly painted one of the wooden bowls. For gloves, she has used a very long glass such as come with the toilet goods, and this is also painted white enamel and decorated. There are one or two small boxes finished in a like manner to hold the many odd articles that clutter the dressing-table. I have a prettier or more dainty table and the cost was trifling.

Jean Treasures.

There is a beautiful window display in the Corset Shops. Not only are there corsets goods which are the very choice of the shop, but hand embroidered blouse patterns, handkerchiefs for use in and about the boudoir, and all kinds of pretty little articles for intimate wear. There is a satin garter, either in pairs, with a chamois purse attached. In the purse receptacle the fair lady may keep her jewels when not in use, and fold away the paper money or checks which are a part of her income.

Novel Kimono.

In the suit department of that popular Broadway store where there is always something new to see, I noticed a novel kimono. It was made from an oriental print in shades of dark blue and tan and the sleeves were particularly attractive. They had square ends to which were attached tassels of blue and there was a band of dark blue satin around the edges of the sleeves and around the garment itself, in addition to the border which was printed upon the edge of the goods. The unusualness of this kimono made it most wantable. It would be a pretty gift for him to buy for his wife.

Plum Puddings, Large, Small, Great.

In that importing grocery house on Broadway, which always has the best of everything to eat, I noticed the plum puddings, which run in sizes from one but large enough for the lone bachelor, girl or man, to that which would fill to repletion the dessert wants of an immense family. It is lots of bother to make plum pudding and when weather invites forth, as is the case in Los Angeles, and when people live as easily as it is possible to live here, it is well that such places as that Broadway house can furnish desserts of quality, all "ready to," and assuredly made from the best of everything.

Fashion's Intimations.

The simplicity and charm of the single rose trimming in millinery has won great favor. For instance, a black velvet hat with a soft white satin crown and upper brim has a single American Beauty rose placed on the brim near the front.

Button trimmings are very important in the neckwear world this season. Rhinestones, small crystal and satin-covered buttons are used, and very often the buttons are sewed on with thread in a contrasting color, which adds charm and novelty.

Pleated effects in children's dresses are as fashionable as ever. While the dress of one material throughout is most desirable, there are many combinations of two materials, such as a Norfolk of plain blue with checked skirt in blue and white.

If you can have only one suit, choose one that is conservative. It should be made of good material; it should be made in such good lines that trimming would only mar it. You should be sure that its fitting, its collar and its lengths are in the newest fashion.

THE COMING ORIENT.

Knickerbocker Club Hears Remarkable Prophecy for Future of China from Globe-Trotter.

With forty centuries of civilization at their back and with the scales of caste-ignorance fallen from their eyes, 450,000,000 people of China will, within a few years, make of the Flowery Kingdom one of the great powers of the earth, declared A. C. Wright in an address to the members of the Knickerbocker Club last night.

For many years a globe-trotter and for ten a resident of different parts of interior China, Wright displayed a remarkable familiarity with his subject and demonstrated its genuineness with hundreds of stereopticon slides on intimate Chinese subjects.

He made a strong plea for a greater knowledge of the Orient and the oriental in the Occident; not, he said, for the good of the Orient, but the salvation of the Occident. He declared that the future of China as a nation is beyond prognostication and that, if care is not exercised, the west coast of America will lose commercial opportunities of incalculable value to the despised Chinaman. The latter he esteems, from experience, to be the shrewdest business man of any in the world.

Wright's address presented an interesting summary of the salient facts of recent Chinese history, from the opium war of 1840 to the imperial edict abolishing the ancient customs of the kingdom in 1906. He predicted further that the influence of the Far East will ultimately be directly instrumental in the building on our Coast of centers of population far surpassing those of the Atlantic seaboard.

D. P. Harris of New York is here on a yearly business trip, staying at the Westminster. Harris is one of the extensive druggists in the American metropolis. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Brice and her son, John H. Brice, of the same city, are registered at the same hotel for a long stay to enjoy the winter in Los Angeles and Southern California. Other pleasureseekers there are Elwood Salsbury and wife of Pittsburgh.

"The Nature Form"

Positively has no competition as a Dress-form, simply because it is accurately you. —To have your OWN FIGURE before you—to look with your own eyes upon YOUR OWN EXACT COUNTERPART—drape, arrange and fit the garment to your own liking, the way you know and no one else knows how to do, this is the pleasant privilege you will have if you possess a "NATURE FORM." —To the amateur seamstress who has always presumed her outside apparel must be made by the professional dressmaker, the "NATURE FORM" will be an agreeable surprise.

To say you "cannot afford it" is like saying you cannot afford a sewing machine, when you know the sewing machine has paid for itself tenfold.

Presence of client not necessary—illustrated catalogue telling HOW upon request.

Demonstrations at our own public display rooms, or at "THE BROADWAY" and BULLOCK'S Department Stores.

We have a great many second-hand adjustable, non-adjustable and pneumatic forms on hand for sale half price. Or, if you wish to dispose of your present one we will be pleased to sell it for you at best prevailing prices to apply on a "NATURE FORM."

AN INVITATION.

Eastern journals are commenting on the long list of air fatalities recorded last summer. We knew the East was a poor place to live in, but we never suspected the air of its summer resorts to be as bad as this. The survivors might try Los Angeles another summer.

FITTING THE CRIME.

We see that a sinner who robbed the worshipers in an Ontario church was sent to the penitentiary for five years. It occurs to us to inquire what would happen to a minister who preached a poor sermon and who would thus be guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses?

NOT REMARKABLE.

An English birdman has gone to the pains to prepare a long paper showing why Russia is not a good country for aviators to land in or on. It would interest us considerably if he would now write a convincing paper showing one good reason why anybody would want to land in Russia. Without denying them the perfect right to do so, it has always struck us as not a little amusing that the Jews of America should make any complaint about not being welcome to return to the Czar's domain.

REWARDED.

Frank E. Seagrave, failing to hitch his wagon to a star, hitched it to a comet. He is the young scientist who figured out exactly when Halley's tramp luminary would pass this way and he did so two years ahead of the comet's schedule. They have given him a job at Harvard as the keeper of a large, savage telescope. It would be unlucky for a comet to come some night without warning and eat us all up, and it is just like the brains of Harvard to set out a watch against such an emergency. So the country is saved again, even if there is not to be a Harvard man in the President's chair.

A SNAP.

Few positions are all joy, but there is one long jubilation. Being a President or a King or even a captured rebel general in Mexico is not as much pure fun as being secretary to the Mayor of Los Angeles. The good die young, but the secretary of the Mayor goes on forever. That is, he goes on somewhere in his own peculiar sphere of usefulness, even though he does not go on for long as the Mayor's cat's-paw. One of two fates awaits the diplomat who undertakes to act as a go-between with the public on one side and the Mayor on the other. Either he is promoted as chief bulldozer and blockhead on some public commission for which he is unfit, or he is allowed to get himself and the Mayor into some trouble and to then resign by request to save the Mayor's face. Vive la public censorship!

COMPLETING THE JOB.

Pasadena produces, entertains and ignites a great many roses, scientists, artists and things. It now harbors a scientist who claims that he has discovered a bug which will exterminate the house fly. We would feel rather more comfortable about his entertaining announcement if he would assure us that he also knew of a brand of eagles, flying fish or mountain goats which would destroy the bug when the bug is through killing the flies. We remember a very sad experience which a bug once. It was a kissing bug. This impudent bug went to San Francisco and kissed a lady and the lady died. Then the bug came to Santa Barbara and kissed a lady and she also died. Finally it came on down the southern way to a city which shall remain nameless in this article and it kissed a lady there and—the bug died. Even at that, we trust our scientist friend will not think we are getting fly with his subject. The fact is we are simply bugs over it.

TOO MANY LAWS.

It is a maxim that "the world is governed too much," and in no country does the tendency to over-government find more ample illustration than in these United States. The tendency of the average citizen is to call for the enactment of a law to make somebody do something or refrain from doing something. The tendency of many people is to violate the Eleventh Commandment—"Thou shalt mind thine own business."

During the Sixtieth Congress 38,388 bills were introduced, of which less than 2 per cent. became law. The largest number of bills before the British Parliament during the same period was 621, of which 67 per cent. became law.

During the ten-year period ending in 1909 Congress considered 146,471 bills, 15,782 of which became law. In the same period the British Parliament considered 6251 measurse, of which 3822 were enacted. In Congress every member is a human mosquito anxious to introduce his bill. In the British Parliament the member considers the introduction of a bill which the introducer does not intend shall become law as "a piece of bally rot, doncherknow."

"Legislation that is a response to a real public opinion should not be objected to by any conscientious citizen. Such laws, backed by the will of the people, will be enforced." But the deluge of new laws that is dumped upon the country has the effect of weakening respect for the law, because too many laws prove unwise in practice, and are not enforced, with the result that too many people grow up with a lack of respect for law and order.

THE VERMIN IN THE CHARTER.

In commenting on the proposed city charter to be voted on at a special election to be held December 3 The Times yesterday morning pointed out many of the dangerous and freakish provisions of the vicious document framed by the Guy Eddie crowd of Armageddon saints and trio of red Socialists.

The principal object of the charter is to centralize the power of government in the hands of a ring of small rogues and pettifogging "battlers for the Lord." So insidiously is the idea worked out that thousands of citizens who do not take the time to study proposed legislation have no perception of the danger in the commission government of the brand which Boss Lissner and his sub-bosses hope to thrust upon the public.

The idea carried to its logical conclusion would destroy self-government, overturn the very principles upon which the national, State and municipal governments are founded. Instead of distributing and guaranteeing the powers of government to the people, the opposite course is taken in the charter. The commission form of government a la Lissner, Eddie and Eddie's adviser, Brundige, is a direct step toward government by a boss, who, with his army of appointees and employees, could perpetuate themselves in office indefinitely. The monstrosity is brimming over with high-souled language which covers a multitude of "bugs" and "jokers" inserted by the fine Scandinavian hand of the wily boss. The three or four able and patriotic members of the Board of Freeholders were outvoted in drafting the charter and they played the minor roles in its construction.

Let no voter switch away from the fact that the charter manufacturers were selected in some fine sort of Tammany Hall way, so that the voter was unable to cast an effective vote against either of the fifteen Freeholders. Beneath this first step were planted the seeds of unfairness.

Under the charter seven commissioners are to be selected, not to any specific positions, but to be assigned, after their election, to the heads of the various departments by the Mayor. The only officers to be elected by the people are the Mayor, six other commissioners, a Controller and seven members of the Board of Education. All of the other municipal berths, numbering over 8000, are to be filled by appointments of the Mayor, and in some cases by the other commissioners. There are fifteen elective officers and about 8000 appointive offices. If the charter be adopted it will deliver the political power of the city into the hands and keeping of seven men. These seven men will have the power to appoint thousands of other officeholders, who in turn will more than likely devote a portion of their time to perfecting plans to re-elect their superiors, so that they may in turn receive reappointment.

Under the proposed charter civil-service rules are practically abolished, although power is given to the Mayor and the commissioners to appoint five members of the Civil Service Board. It provides that all persons holding positions made appointive by the charter at the time it goes into effect shall be deemed to have passed the civil service examinations and shall be on probation for six months. But it also provides that during said period of probation such persons may be removed by the commissioners having the power of appointment, with the consent (of course) of the Civil Service Board in writing. Such persons, if retained at the end of the probationary period, shall be entitled to hold their positions until doomsday, if they so desire.

The Mayor and commissioners have power to remove or discharge any officer or employee as their conscience or political fancies dictate. Of course the Civil Service Board must put its O.K. on the commission's acts, else its members might find themselves flattened out by the Lissner-Eddie-Brundige steam roller for "pernicious activity." In conducting the civil-service examination the Civil Service Board can adopt any course it sees fit. The members have unlimited power to show favoritism to friends of the machine in control. Under these conditions the board would be little less than a joke.

No appointive officer need reside in the city of Los Angeles. In other words, neither the City Attorney, City Prosecutor, engineer or City Clerk, nor judges of the Police Court, nor any of the 8000 city appointees need be residents of California or the United States. If the Eddie crowd wants to hire high-salaried experts and political tools from Gothenberg or Darkest Africa all they have to do is to do—the taxpayers dig up the dinero!

Many provisions in the charter profess to guard the tax limit, and all fail most faithfully in so doing. There is practically no limit on the tax rate. It says the indebtedness of the city must not exceed 3 per cent., except for waterworks, gas, railways, etc. But, "for any and all of these purposes a further indebtedness may be incurred, not to exceed 12 per cent." Not 12 per cent. of the property acquired. Oh, no! but 12 per cent. of all the property in the city assessable for taxes. It then gives the right to assess a tax of 15 per cent. And, further, "joker" No. 1323 provides that "all or any part of the said 12 per cent. may be excluded from the debt limit by the State Railroad Commission. The charter also permits and provides for an additional tax over the 15 per cent., without limit, on all taxable property of the city for "special assessments." It in no manner states to what purpose that "special assessment" shall be applied.

Under the charter the city may establish department stores, manicure and chiropody parlors, bureaus of funeral supplies, pawnshops, and engage in a million other lucrative and sadly-needed "reforms." The city may establish its own theater (with a moral censor thrown in) run cemeteries, run its own banks or dispensaries (with or without John Barleycorn refreshments) conduct meatshops, poolrooms, bowling alleys, hatpin foundries, cigar factories and other businesses now managed by the people. The "civic righteousness" promoters and advocates of the Golden Rule who created the proposed jungle of theories for some strange reason omitted to devise a plan for planting calla lilies in the downtown streets and to definitely decide on a data for the second coming of Dowie.

Of course the charter includes the recall, the initiative, the referendum and all other political nostrums, also other machinery invented by Boss Lissner, Doc Haynes, William F. Bryant, Lewis R. Works (Guy Eddie's attorney) and other eminent crusaders for the Lord who are endeavoring to "uplift humanity" and exterminate "loathsome capital."

The proposed charter is called a modification of the "Des Moines plan" by its framers. The twilight organ of the defunct Moose outfit in its desperate attempt to hide the "bugs" and dangerous provisions of the document is daily shouting in headlines that "if the charter is adopted Los Angeles will get more for its money and great benefits will accrue from increased efficiency through the centralization of power." Most assuredly "great benefits will accrue through the centralization of power" to Boss Lissner and Guy Eddie.

Read it over carefully, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, before you go to the polls on December 3. Of course it was not the intention that the charter should be understood by the rank and file, for many of the provisions would rack the brain of the ablest lawyers. That the thief and swindler are always the most successful when their victims are ignorant of their plans for looting is a young adage of recent vintage.

The proposed charter is a new contribution to inefficient and incompetent government.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS—IN CHICAGO.

Common sense has been defined as uncommon thinking, but uncommon thinking of the labor-union brand does not seem to lead to common-sense conclusions. A very pretty example of the unreasonable reasoning to which we should be subjected, if we looked at every-day matters through the eyes of labor-union officials, is supplied by the recent troubles started among the members of the Chicago Federation of Musicians.

An artist, a member of that union in good standing, has been in the habit of playing in public on a very valuable Stradivarius violin, a proceeding one would have thought not particularly hostile to the cause of labor. Some snap-conclusionists might even suppose he was exalting his craftsmanship by using the very best obtainable in its service. But this is only because the too hasty public is ignorant of the exclusive privileges enjoyed by the Band Instrument Makers' Union of Chicago.

Unfortunately for his reputation and his good standing, Stradivarius never flaunted a union card or tagged his masterpieces of mechanical skill with a union label. That this ancient violin-maker lived in pre-union days and couldn't have sported a union card, supposing he had wanted to, makes no difference to the hidebound bosses. He had no business to live or work at all under such benighted conditions. Moreover, as a delegate succinctly remarked: "It is preposterous to suppose union men cannot make better instruments than non-union men."

This conviction will be a sad blow to all musical artists who have paid from $1000 up for their Strads and Cremonas, now that we know the absence of a union label stamps them as the merest junk. However, these artists have the consolation of the assurance that, though the Band Instrument Makers' Union can turn out better instruments than the old Cremonas, they have steadfastly and nobly refused to do so. Possibly they have not yet received permission from their walking delegates.

Had Stradivarius been obliged to wait for some official sanction in his unorganized days of darkness, he might not now have been stirring up this peck of trouble for the present unionized musicians of the Windy City. What a pity that artists like him have so little consideration for their fellow-workers! No wonder union labor sets its face sternly against such rank individualism.

We are glad to note that Mr. Dillon, the musician under attack, is too devoted to his art to be bulldozed into discarding his beloved Stradivarius. In his unappreciative way he even had the temerity to tell the Band Instrument Makers' Union that he values his old fiddle more highly than "a whole carload of union-labeled instruments." In the battle between red-blooded, human feelings and cold-blooded union red-tape, the man is bound to come out on top.

This attempt to make the union-label boycott retroactive may be rather upsetting in its ultimate results. There are many other things besides Cremona violins non-union tagged, and therefore liable to come under the official ban. There is, for instance, the Capitol at Washington; the Panama Canal; the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; cooking, charity and the Christian Bible. Why should the activities of the labor-union bosses in Chicago be limited to unlabeled fiddles? Why not include the halo of the archangel Gabriel? "A thing that's worth doing is worth doing badly."

INDIFFERENCE OF VOTERS.

That in all material things the American people have made wonderful progress is not to be denied. The census returns show our mighty growth. That we had as an outgrowth of the Civil War a moral uplift which resulted in the abolition of slavery and the establishment of a high standard of national honesty is indisputable. Our achievements in transportation, in business, in invention and the spread of learning are superior to those in any European country.

But "if we turn to our national life, the welfare of which is dependent upon the degree of personal responsibility felt by the average citizen," says President Elliott of the Northern Pacific Railway, "a less favorable result comes to our attention. There are defects of political and governmental machinery which are apparent to everyone. Efforts towards better standards are made, yet there are still preserved in the methods of government in most of the cities of the land customs and practices which are not thorough, efficient and economical or equal to the methods insisted upon in ordinary business. In private business affairs the progress toward genuine efficiency is more rapid than in either State or municipal government. This may be attributed to the lack of a vigorous public opinion insisting that a man in the service of the public shall work just as long and as hard as the man in private business."

There is need of a stronger sense of personal responsibility and of a more general participation by the people in public affairs. In Presidential elections not more than 65 per cent. of those entitled to vote take the trouble to go to the polls. In local elections 53 out of every 100 voters do not vote. People are too busy to express their views about matters of grave importance.

The indifference of the people to the doings and misdoings of the public officials who make and execute their laws is not new. Only twenty years after Columbus discovered America the Chronicle of Augsburg, Germany, said:

"The merchants form great companies and become wealthy, but many of them are dishonest and cheat one another. Hence the directors of the companies who have charge of the accounts are nearly always richer than their associates. Those who thus grow rich are clever, since they do not have the reputation of being thieves."

This fifteenth-century outcry against predatory wealth reads as if it might have been penned in the sanctum of one of our steamed Progressive contemporaries.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

Oh, we have laws as thick as straws upon a stable floor; the harmless sport is hauled to court and fined till he is sore. You cannot walk around a block but what some laws are cracked, and you must sneak before the beak and by him up be jacked. For trifling things we're pulled, by jings, and carted off to jail, and we must spend of time no end a-rustling round for bail. But if a crank like Mr. Schrank decides someone to slay, he takes his mon and buys a gun and no one says him nay. Thou shalt not place a bet on race, or play a slot machine; thou shalt not speed the foaming steed or your chug-chug machine; but you may go at will and blow yourself for deadly tools; which makes us pause and think that laws are oft laid down by fools. You cannot get a cigarette in divers moral States, but you can still buy guns to kill in wagonloads of crates. You cannot win a slug of gin to clear your throat of fur; but any jay who's fixed to pay may buy a howitzer. You'll go to jail if you hunt quail, the game law's in your way; but vicious cranks, Guiteaus and Schranks, a license have to slay.

THE APOLOGIST.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The prevalence of the perpetual apology is a sinister sign of the times. There are two distinct classes of apology, of course, the amende honorable and the merely vulgar. Either one is complete evidence of error, but one is a necessity of decent civilization and belongs to the large-minded or the sorely-pressed. The other is a vulgar superfluity, the disgusting resort of the preposterous snob.

It begins in cheap but inspiring suburbia and ends, heaven knows where. It is chiefly noticeable among the fair sex, but the male is not exempt. It is used in connection with everything from the baby's rattle to the family grave, and it is the surest obstacle to pleasant conversation. And the funny part of it is, we all do it and we all despise it in the other chap. It invariably springs from the pretentious assumption that our friend thought us a good deal better than we are—and he invariably didn't.

Public men, business men, golfers and society husbands suffer from the complaint most severely; and among women it is most pronounced in suburban housekeepers, near-society dames, actresses and clubwomen.

I should say a person's status and breeding could best be gauged by the percentage of apologia to be found in his constitution. The most admirable people only recognize the apologetic attitude in cases of desperate urgency; the weak, the puerile, the pretentious, the vulgar bobnob with it all the time.

"So absurd, you know. We intended to have a new Panhard imported from Paris, but Bertie decided that, as we contemplate a European tour next year, we can look at them then. And in the meantime I have to make do with this shabby little car! You won't mind being seen in it, will you?"

"Fancy me having to wear a soiled white suit like this. I have worn this three times, I never wear them more than twice as a rule. You'll excuse it, dear, won't you?"

"Yes, I despise inferior jewelry, but I had to wear something and my diamonds have gone to be repaired. One feels so cheap without them."

"You will excuse such a plain meal, won't you? As a rule we have a proper course luncheon, of course, but I told cook she could go out this afternoon and I suppose she thought something very simple would do."

"Oh, dear, please don't look at the rugs, they are nasty, cheap things. We really must get some new ones soon."

"You will excuse the dust, won't you? Of course, the house did not get dusted today because you happened to come."

"You will come and see us, won't you? Of course we only have a tiny, unpretentious little place, but I know you won't mind."

"Fancy you catching me like this in a dirty old kimono! Now, had you only come an hour later I should have been dressed, but somehow I kept being delayed this morning."

"Please excuse this claret being served in port wine glasses, but there have been some sad mishaps lately in the pantry."

"Sorry that cigar is not a very good one, old chap, that fellow made me try some cheap ones this time."

"Now I'm a business man and I haven't got time for any of that tarradiddle reading. I leave all that to the wife and girls. Of course I used to keep up with international politics at one time, but what's the use? It's all a lot of hanky panky and business men like me might as well save their time."

"I have never played such a rotten game in my life. I had an awfully bad night last night, anyway. It was disgusting the way that caddie behaved at the twelfth tee."

"Yesterday I did this very course in 78! But one simply can't play golf with a tinkling hurdy-gurdy phonograph going on in the clubhouse. The darned thing has spoilt all my best shots."

"I am sorry, my dear, but I simply could not get a shave this morning. Someone had been tampering with my safety razor at home and I never had a chance to get out to the barber."

"Of course, you know, old man, I believe in being master in my own house. Every now and then I put my foot down. But you know how it is, and when Millicent likes to give these affairs, why I always let her have her own way. It pleases her and it doesn't hurt me."

"I am sorry, my dear, but Jones and Smith simply made me go to that prize fight. You know I don't like prize fights, but it will help along that little business deal if I can keep in with Jones."

In fact, we are all very sorry, but . . . we all feel as if we are called upon to explain things which should require neither apology nor explanation if we were well-bred, strong-minded and honest. We all bore each other hopelessly with the foregoing type of conversation and we never by any chance deceive anybody. Never! We may be fools enough to try to work the trick ourselves, but we can each testify with our last breath that no one ever took us in with that sort of trumpery explanation.

And, really, after all, who cares? A proper appreciation of things that don't matter is a precious gift that cannot be too highly prized. It is a blot upon our present era that the everlasting superfluous apology should have us so firmly in its grip. Read aright, it is the essence of abject self-depreciation. A properly, self-confident, wholesome creature with a true sense of his own good standing should never feel called upon to apologize for or explain his actions. Just the fact that he did them should make them right. He should scorn cheap pretense, despise subterfuge.

I am sorry I haven't written this better, but the wind kept banging the doors and the telephone kept ringing and . . . Oh, dear!

No matter who is Secretary of State in the Wilson Cabinet, the Thanksgiving proclamation will continue to be written by Alvey Augustus Adee, who has worked for the government forty-two years, twenty-eight of them as assistant Secretary of State.

The Wilsons are doing their own work in that Bermuda cottage. Wonder if they are employing fireless cookers that will enable the pair to discuss the picking of the plums while the beef is roasting?

It is all very well to sheath the hatpins by city ordinances; but what is to be done with the stray tacks found on the floor when a man gets up in his bare feet in the night to see what time it is?

We have been wondering for some days if Nick Longworth will be invited to partake of the family Thanksgiving turkey at Oyster Bay?

RITCHIE HAS FINE WORKOUT.

Performs in Classy Manner for San Francisco Sports.

Many Think He Has Good Chance With Wolgast.

Little Champ Devotes Time to Gym Stunts.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] If Willie Ritchie can show enough nerve and sufficient confidence when he steps into the ring against Wolgast next Thursday afternoon, he will have an excellent chance of removing the lightweight crown from the head of the man who has worn it for nearly three years.

Ritchie had a chance this afternoon to show himself to the best of his ability before representative San Francisco sporting men and made good. This event was the one which he had been preparing himself for ever since he started training. He looked forward to it from day to day and extended himself in every way toward getting right.

WILLIE LOOKS GOOD.

When he stepped into the ring he looked about as near perfect as any boxer. All those who watched his work were willing to say that he is as fit for the fray at a moment's notice, if he does not go stale in the meantime. He is bound to be physically ready. After a long run on the road in the morning, six rounds of boxing in the afternoon, and a half hour devoted to gym stunts, he stepped on the scales and tipped the beam at a shade under 135 pounds. Promoter Jim Coffroth, referee Jim Griffin, stakeholder Tom Corbitt, Billy McCarthy and a whole flock of celebrities almost gasped when they saw the figures. They could scarcely believe their eyes. This boy, who is taller than Joe Gans, broad shouldered and rawboned, loomed up like a welterweight while he worked, yet he came right back and showed them he is within striking distance of the lightweight limit, 133 pounds, ringside. And the fight is still nearly a week away.

BUGS SUSPRISED.

All the talk that Billy Nolan has been handing out regarding the weight of Ritchie was taken with a grain of salt by the members of the wise brigade, but they will have to come into the fold now.

Ritchie showed them today that he can go the limit and he is strong and faster than ever. If his courage does not fail him, he may spring a sensation against Wolgast.

Manager Nolan is as sure that his charge will beat Wolgast as he was that Bat Nelson would beat Jimmy Britt, and he called the turn on that memorable day more than six years ago.

MAY BE SCARED.

It is the courage question that counts. If Ritchie possesses the sufficient amount of that he may make Wolgast step lively. In fact, he has an excellent chance of bringing the lightweight title to San Francisco for the first time. But on the other hand if he falters or shows the white feather, the champion is going to beat him just as surely as he beat Nelson, Moran and the various others.

Ritchie performs better in the gym than the champion. He is more clever, has the advantage of height and reach, and leads in boxing style, but, alas, nobody can ever judge a fighter by the way in which he handles himself while training. The fact that Ritchie can make the weight without trouble will boost his stock along. It has been the prevailing opinion that Willie could not get down to the lightweight limit and do himself justice in the ring. But he will be there this time without much exertion, unless something unforeseen happens within the next few days.

SIX FAST ROUNDS.

The six rounds of boxing he went through today were worth going miles to see. There was class in his every movement and he fought, boxed, wrestled and roughed it with equal ease. The work consisted of four rounds with Lem Kegg and Frankie Edwards of Los Angeles fame. Both are clever lads and fast. They are capable of giving the best

HOGAN MAY BUY EDDIE HALLINAN.

Eddie Hallinan, formerly of the Angel infield, may be seen in a Vernon uniform next season.

Hallinan was drafted by the St. Louis Americans two years ago, and is still owned by that club. While a highclass ballplayer, he is said to fall just short of major league requirements.

George Stovall, manager of the St. Louis club, and "Happy" Hogan were in consultation last night. After the meeting had been broken up, it was admitted that a deal for the transfer of Hallinan to the Vernon club was under discussion. If Hallinan becomes a Tiger, it will be by purchase instead of through a trade, according to Hogan.

While with the Angels Hallinan was used as a utility infielder, playing second base, third base and short. He gave a good account of himself in each of these positions.

Th the end of all the fame a lot of us think we have. Fame is sure a great thing, if it has not too much reverse English on it.

J. W. Jump and a party of friends caught three monster albacore last Sunday off San Pedro, and the largest one weighed sixty-four and one-half pounds. This is the third largest ever caught on rod and reel. I merely mention this as a true fish story. There are very, very few such.

Roy Castleton, Vernon pitcher, is to start Tuesday for a two weeks' fishing and hunting trip in Ventura county. What gets me is how anyone ever gets enough money ahead to do anything like this. Furthermore, after he returns, he expects to go to Salt Lake for the winter. All he will do there in the winter will be to play snowball in the Cold Finger League. This is a wise bird. Got a lot of land and things worth having.

Frank Chance is so tickled to get away from Chicago that he is sticking around his ranch out near Glendora picking oranges. Seems to me any place would be better than the one near Murphy. If Frank plays ball again he has a lot less sense than I think he has, and this is a big lot. Just give me twenty acres of orange trees, a big automobile and about $100,000 in real money and you wouldn't catch me playing anything.

South Pasadena Man Starts Campaign in Northern Cities to Secure Different Legislation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, Nov. 21.—John D. Reavis of South Pasadena is here to ask Oakland's co-operation in securing legislation for a bill to secure uniformity throughout the State in the matter of speed and fine laws for automobilists. In brief some of the provisions are:

Fifteen miles an hour in the business sections.

Twenty miles in residential sections.

Twenty-five miles in all outlying districts.

On State roads, outside of municipalities, twenty-five miles an hour, instead of twenty miles, as at present.

Motor policemen to be paid a salary instead of dividing fees, and to wear caps and uniforms.

Fines to be graded as follows:

Five dollars for violations of five miles or less above the limit.

Ten dollars to ten miles above the limit, and above that at the discretion of the judge.

Only in extreme cases of recklessness or intoxication are motorists to be taken into custody.

DUNDEE AFTER CHAMP KILBANE.

NEW YORKER WILL BEARD JOHNNY IN HIS LAIR.

Would Not Mind a Whack at Wolgast for a Long Chance—Rivers Decides to Take to Wrestling. Ritchie Very Sore at Ad—Mandot a Kind-Hearted Fighter.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Johnny Dundee now knows the meaning of sudden fame. He blossomed out last night in a suit of clothes, and a diamond which looms up like an arc light in a dark alley, and will leave today for New York to fight Kirkwood, and possibly Ad Wolgast. True, this is not Dundee's first suit—he was fully clothed when he arrived in Los Angeles, but is the first time that he has been mentioned in the same breath with Wolgast.

That is where the sudden fame part of the plot comes in. Scotty Monteith yesterday received a proposition from Jess McMahon of New York, to match Dundee with Wolgast before the Empire Athletic Club in New York. The bout, of course, would be staged subsequent to Dundee's fight with Kirkwood, which is booked for December 16.

Monteith, being a Scotchman, and endowed with all the native shrewdness of his race, authorized McMahon to offer Wolgast $8000 for his end. He figures that Dundee, even if defeated, would still be in line for the featherweight championship, while anything approximating a draw with Wolgast would greatly boost his stock. Wolgast, on the other hand, would not be risking much, as it would be little less than a miracle for Dundee to stop him. As for a decision—well, the fans have not yet learned to take "newspaper" verdicts seriously. Ten-round bouts in New York are no-decision affairs, and nothing short of a knockout carries much weight with the public.

PRICE TOO SMALL.

At that, it is rather doubtful that the men hook up in Gotham, at least on the terms mentioned. Wolgast probably would demand more money for showing in New York. With Dundee very much idolized in those parts, the fight would figure to draw between $20,000 and $25,000. Imagine, Ad being satisfied with a mere $5000 out of a "killing" like that.

Dundee boxed with Wolgast at Vernon two weeks ago. He made a good showing against the champion, and reports of this filtering into New York probably prompted McMahon to conceive the idea of a match between them.

Physically there is not as much difference as one would expect to find between representatives of two divisions. Dundee is a "heavy" featherweight, while Wolgast is a "light" lightweight. Dundee claims that he weighed but 130½ pounds when he boxed Kilbane. He seems to have accumulated some avoirdupois since, and he was just able to Crucial Test.

OXY APPEARS IN FAIR SHAPE.

Has Very Good Chance to Beat Oregon Aggies.

Local Boys Seem Strong and in Condition.

Tigers May Blow Up After Long, Hard Season.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

It will be impossible to get a definite line on the Oxy Tigers for the Turkey Day game with the Oregon Aggies, until after the practice on Monday afternoon. So far, the cripples on the Occidental squad are doing nicely, but their actual condition cannot be determined before the first of next week. By this time the various bumps and bruises will have had time to either heal or show that the hero in trouble, cannot get into the scrimmage.

Coach Pipal, realizing that he has only a short time to build up his team for the final game of the season, will not give his men very much hard scrimmage practice. The team was worked up for the Pomona game and it is only natural that the squad should go back a little. It is a known fact that any athlete in any branch, can only stay in the best condition for three or four days, and it is one of the evidences of good coaching to put a team in the field for a big game trained to the minute. The crucial test of Pipal's ability will be made in this coming struggle with Oregon and if he puts his team on the field in anywhere near as good condition as for the Pomona game, he will be one of the greatest coaches in the history of Southern California.

In the Aggies the Tigers appear to be meeting a team of the Denver "U" type, only there is a little more speed attached to the webfoot aggregation, according to the dope handed out by the northern scribes. The team has not won every game this season, but in each contest has proven that it is one of the strongest squads in the "Great Northwest."

TIGERS LOOK GOOD.

The work of the Tiger team this season has shown that the football players of Southern California have long been underestimated. After trimming Denver and Pomona, a big reputation was established and now if the Aggies can be made to taste defeat, the season will be a real success and one of the greatest ever played by a local team.

Public interest has been aroused in the coming game. After the crowd that turned out to see the Pomona-Tiger battle, it is more than doubtful if the Occidental field will hold the fans who will want to see this game.

SUPREME CONTEST.

The game itself will be the final and supreme test of the season for the Tigers and they are going into the contest against rather heavy odds. Not so much from the standpoint of the Aggies, as from the fact that the squad has maintained a terrible pace all season and if it does not break in this game the Tigers will be lucky. On the other hand if the Orange and Black battle line plays up to the standard set during the former part of the season, we can truly say that the team is the most wonderful in the history of Southern California.

It is to be hoped that Capt. Wieman will be able to play in this game, as the team will be facing a heavier aggregation than Pomona, and the captain is a stone wall on the defense and offense when playing in the rush line. The best results, as far as Occidental is concerned, can be obtained with a team similar to that which defeated the Denver Ministers, where speed and condition were at a premium. With McClung, Foster and Dill in the backfield, these things are more than possible, but they are suffering from bad sprains at the present time and their condition for the game is rather problematical.

Of course if Wieman goes into the backfield, it means that the Tigers will have great bucking ability, but Drury will not be in the line to open up holes for the speedy backs. However, the squad has a splendid line of subs to draw from and, anyway Dame Fortune turns, the team that faces the Aggies, should be capable of putting up a great game.

FIVE SCORE CARS FOR AUTO CLUB RUN TOMORROW.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

AT LEAST 100 cars are expected on the run of the Automobile Club of Southern California to Santa Barbara on Saturday. The preparations are all complete for the outing, which promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the annual tours. Secretary Geary, who will be in charge, will ride in one of the first cars with the other officials. Ralph Hamlin will make the trip in the Franklin racer with which he won the Los Angeles-to-Phoenix road race.

The interest taken in the club run by the members would seem to indicate that a record number of machines will make the trip this year. There will be no attempt to make an endurance contest. No effort will be made to start at a given point or at any certain hour. This is to be a pleasure run and you can leave for the Channel City over the Rincon road route at your convenience.

This formal opening of the Rincon route means much to the automobile owners. The tmgedies in the Casitas Pass called attention to this dangerous route and the automobile club, through its able secretary, Miss Geary, started one of the most successful money-raising campaigns which has marked the year that is almost gone. At a time when it seemed impossible to interest the people of Los Angeles in any great road-building stunt Secretary Geary went at the job and won. Much of this money was raised in Ventura and Santa Barbara and other small towns along the route.

As a result of this campaign we have the Rincon road. It is safe. It follows the ocean shore and is picturesque. The club run tomorrow will give many motorists a chance to see this road for the first time and intercity touring has been stimulated by the enterprise of those who made possible a run along the ocean shore from Los Angeles to Santa Barbara, a distance approximately of 100 miles. The exact mileage will be tabulated by Ralph Hamlin on the run up the coast in his Franklin racer.

BABE PICATO WINS.

OAKLAND, Nov. 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] "Babe" Picato of Los Angeles and Red Watson, the San Francisco lightweight, fought ten rounds here tonight to a draw decision. The crowd expressed dissatisfaction with the decision, thinking Picato had the better of the contest, as he had outboxed Watson and easily dodged the latter's wild swings.

THE LAST PORT.

Where the great green windy billows
Ble wildly to the shore,
And the snowy gulls are swinging sky,
Where the surf comes seething a cannon's sullen roar,
And the spray against the cliffs dashing high;
There I'd have you make my harbor
There I'd have you make my flinty, shining sands—
You must dig it with a care deep—
For 'tis there that I can listen to when they sing,
And they'll lull me, like a mother, sleep.

By the reaching waste of waters
contentedly,
With the murmur of a chanty lips,
And I'll hear their bliss and the bellbuoy's doleful note,
As it warns the men who sail ships.
Make my coffin snug and find some weathered teak
On the clipper settling sands,
It will seem so much like home
rest so peacefully,
The while I dream of sunny

I shall lie so still and listen to that come
On the salty winds that the sea,
And I'll never mind its anger
I'll be as safe
In my little narrow coffin as
In my fancy I shall listen to of the blocks,
And the flapping of the sails unfurled.
As we sail, the clipper yonder to some far port
Lying sun-kissed in an ways be in trim,
And the weather will be bright;
We shall stop where ports are and a cargo's always And we'll holystone our white!
When my harbor's been made the old flag half way up To the clipper's slanting floating free.
The world may know we've voyage, homeward bound,
For that Port beyond the mighty sea!

RITCHIE HAS FINE WORKOUT.

Performs in Classy Manner for San Francisco Sports.

Many Think He Has Good Chance With Wolgast.

Little Champ Devotes Time to Gym Stunts.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] If Willie Ritchie can show enough nerve and sufficient confidence when he steps into the ring against Wolgast next Thursday afternoon, he will have an excellent chance of removing the lightweight crown from the head of the man who has worn it for nearly three years.

Ritchie had a chance this afternoon to show himself to the best of his ability before representative San Francisco sporting men and made good. This event was the one which he had been preparing himself for ever since he started training. He looked forward to it from day to day and extended himself in every way toward getting right.

WILLIE LOOKS GOOD.

When he stepped into the ring he looked about as near perfect as any boxer. All those who watched his work were willing to say that he is as fit for the fray at a moment's notice, if he does not go stale in the meantime. He is bound to be physically ready. After a long run on the road in the morning, six rounds of boxing in the afternoon, and a half hour devoted to gym stunts, he stepped on the scales and tipped the beam at a shade under 135 pounds. Promoter Jim Coffroth, referee Jim Griffin, stakeholder Tom Corbitt, Billy McCarthy and a whole flock of celebrities almost gasped when they saw the figures. They could scarcely believe their eyes. This boy, who is taller than Joe Gans, broad shouldered and rawboned, loomed up like a welterweight while he worked, yet he came right back and showed them he is within striking distance of the lightweight limit, 133 pounds, ringside. And the fight is still nearly a week away.

BUGS SURPRISED.

All the talk that Billy Nolan has been handing out regarding the weight of Ritchie was taken with a grain of salt by the members of the wise brigade, but they will have to come into the fold now.

Ritchie showed them today that he can go the limit and he is strong and faster than ever. If his courage does not fail him, he may spring a sensation against Wolgast.

Manager Nolan is as sure that his charge will beat Wolgast as he was that Bat Nelson would beat Jimmy Britt, and he called the turn on that memorable day more than six years ago.

MAY BE SCARED.

It is the courage question that counts. If Ritchie possesses the sufficient amount of that he may make Wolgast step lively. In fact, he has an excellent chance of bringing the lightweight title to San Francisco for the first time. But on the other hand if he falters or shows the white feather, the champion is going to beat him just as sure as he beat Nelson, Moran and the various others.

Ritchie performs better in the gym than the champion. He is more clever, has the advantage of height and reach, and leads in boxing style, but, alas, nobody can ever judge a fighter by the way in which he handles himself while training. The fact that Ritchie can make the weight without trouble will boost his stock along. It has been the prevailing opinion that Willie could not get down to the lightweight limit and do himself justice in the ring. But he will be there this time without much exertion, unless something unforeseen happens within the next few days.

SIX FAST ROUNDS.

The six rounds of boxing he went through today were worth going miles to see. There was class in his every movement and he fought, boxed, wrestled and roughed it with equal ease. The work consisted of four rounds with Lem Kegg and Frankie Edwards of Los Angeles fame. Both are clever lads and fast. They are capable of giving the best

HOGAN MAY BUY EDDIE HALLINAN.

Eddie Hallinan, formerly of the Angel infield, may be seen in a Vernon uniform next season.

Hallinan was drafted by the St. Louis Americans two years ago, and is still owned by that club. While a highclass ballplayer, he is said to fall just short of major league requirements.

George Stovall, manager of the St. Louis club, and "Happy" Hogan were in consultation last night. After the meeting had been broken up, it was admitted that a deal for the transfer of Hallinan to the Vernon club was under discussion. If Hallinan becomes a Tiger, it will be by purchase instead of through a trade, according to Hogan.

While with the Angels Hallinan was used as a utility infielder, playing second base, third base and short. He gave a good account of himself in each of these positions.

SPORTOGRAPHS.

JOHN JEFFRIES, Jim's brother, never was a prize fighter. This is what makes me wonder why he is rich, but being so, he is a golfer. The other day out at the San Gabriel club he swung at a ball on the pix and hit the ground so hard that he not only dug a big hole in the dirt, but broke the club. This was one of Perry Weidner's hand-made Scotch clubs that require six months to make, according to Bernal Dyas and John is now trying to save up enough money to send clear to Scotland for a good club.

Dave Martin, one of the famous politicians of the police station, and there are a lot of them there, is a great golfer, for it is said that he knows the difference between a club and a ball and that a course is something you knock a ball over. The other day some one lost a ball on the San Gabriel club links and Dave was sent to town for one. He was given a tennis ball and it is said that he gravely took it out to the course. Just why he did you might find out from him.

Capt. Dubray, the well-known Parker gun man, shot jacksnipes over at the Gadwell Club on Wednesday's shoot. He did not hold a sack, either, and when a man gets past that age on the Gadwell, he is generally good enough to get into the locker room with the bunch after the shoot.

Kid Dalton is a very subdued young man these days, following his beating the other night. His principal ambition at the present time seems to be to pass out cards for the Rivers-Mandot fight. This is the end of all the fame a lot of us think we have. Fame is sure a great thing, if it has not too much reverse English on it.

At a time when it seemed impossible to interest the people of Los Angeles in any great road-building stunt Secretary Geary went at the job and won. Much of this money was raised in Ventura and Santa Barbara and other small towns along the route.

As a result of this campaign we have the Rincon road. It is safe. It follows the ocean shore and is picturesque. The club run tomorrow will give many motorists a chance to see this road for the first time and intercity touring has been stimulated by the enterprise of those who made possible a run along the ocean shore from Los Angeles to Santa Barbara, a distance approximately of 100 miles. The exact mileage will be tabulated by Ralph Hamlin on the run up the coast in his Franklin racer.

BABE PICATO WINS.

OAKLAND, Nov. 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] "Babe" Picato of Los Angeles and Red Watson, the San Francisco lightweight, fought ten rounds here tonight to a draw decision. The crowd expressed dissatisfaction with the decision, thinking Picato had the better of the contest, as he had outboxed Watson and easily dodged the latter's wild swings.

Unsatisfactory.

TROJANS FAIL TO BEAT POLY.

U.S.C. Team Appears to Be in a Bad Slump.

Coach Manning Says Showing Is Due to Injuries.

Younger Boys Prove They Are the Goods.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

The Trojan mixed varsity and the Polytechnic first team played yesterday afternoon on Bovard Field, in a game featured mostly by the setting sun in the second half. The contest ended in a tie after some fair Rugby, but neither side was able to put the ball over the line and the affair ended 0 to 0.

In the first half the Poly team was on the defense after the first few minutes of play, but just at the close of the period Carl Haney almost scored for the Mechanics when one of Secor's kicks was blocked. Haney fell on the ball but dropped it on going over the line.

Before saying anything about the Trojans and how this game makes them shape for the California struggle, it would be only right to remark that Poly's varsity, as the team is called, is about the best High School Rugby team in the South. The squad that faced U.S.C. yesterday was composed of the best Poly players. If given a chance, this team would have every opportunity to romp home with the title of the South.

The playing of the Trojans was decidedly streaky and will have to be materially improved, or the Berkeley game will be another slaughter. Coach Manning says that he cannot get results when half of his varsity men are laid up with various ailments and unable to get out for practice. Yesterday he had to use a lot of scrubs. In the back field the work was only fair, Rush Meadows being sadly missed on the wing.

In the scrum Davenport showed up the best, when playing at breakaway. He was put in here when Oberg was called home on account of his father's death.

BACK FIELD SHOWS WELL.

In the back field, Dorn at second five with Lund at center three, proved to be a much better ground-gaining combination than seen before. Tommy Davis, on one of the wings, also got away nicely several times. On the other wing Cummins was tried but and played a determined game, but had trouble in handling the ball at critical times. This is one bad feature of the Trojan squad. Put it on the defense and the backs and forwards will play a great game, but once let the team be on the point of scoring and the passes go wide and are very inaccurate. Several times yesterday in both the first and second halves the Trojans had ample chance to score, only to throw away an opening with a bad pass or a heave at the wrong time.

The varsity squad seems to be in a bad slump and with the California game only a few days off, a great deal of work will have to be done to bring the first team into condition.

However, there is one ray of encouragement and that is the work of the varsity backs. It is certainly improving and the men behind the scrum should be a real factor in this game. The placing of Lund at three quarters, with Dorn at second five seems to have wrought this change, as both are fast and sure with the ball.

TWO POLLS SHINE.

On the Poly team, the work of Fullback Mosher and Carl Haney was particularly bright. It may have been one of Ted Secor's off days, but it looked as though the High School full had it on him. Haney also did some clever running and kicking to touch. The Poly forwards were fast and got the ball away from the Trojans. In fact the Poly squad is "the goods."

The line-up:

LYNCH VERY SORE ABOUT FOGEL CASE.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] President Thomas J. Lynch of the National League today made the following statement:

"In regard to Fogel's case I want to say that if he does not attend the trial it will be all the worse for him. This thing will be carried through to the end. I know Fogel at times says irresponsible things, and is hurting the game. We stood it as long as we could but there is a stopping point to everything.

"Where do the boys in the bleachers get off and also the other patrons of the game, if men of the Fogel type are permitted to go unpunished? We cannot sit idly by and let them kill the greatest sport the world has ever known."

COACH STAGG GLOOMY.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch to The Times by Wireless Line.] Coach Stagg today told the Maroon squad that if the team hoped to beat the Gophers the defense must be materially strengthened. Stagg is not confident of the outcome of the battle for secondary honors. He has not been cheered by the work of the regulars against the scrubs and gloom is everywhere at the University of Chicago. The coach found one pleasing feature of the day's practice and that was the manner in which the trick plays formed.

At the Birth of the City of Rowansburg.

At the Los Angeles Athletic Club yesterday afternoon and evening. Above is the "whirlwind finish" executed by Frank Young for the Mayoralty job. Around him are some of his campaign contributors and on the right is Capt. C. W. Jargstorff, the police force of the evening. Below is the ancient stage coach which figured in the parade as the official chariot of the directors of the jinks. Seated immediately behind the driver and partly obscured by the straw hat is Grand Marshal Harry Haldeman. On his left is C. H. Jones, in general charge of the programme.

Ritchie Has Workout.

of them a workout and although they lack class they are good enough to make a fast man step lively.

Ritchie came near knocking both of them out and is evidently working overtime to perfect a right-hand cross. He started it time and time again and it went true to its mark.

COMPARED TO GANS.

Not since the days of Joe Gans has any lightweight shown a better punch of that variety than Ritchie showed the multitude today. Kegg is something of a whirlwind himself. He is a clever two-handed fighter who can take advantage of an opponent and sting him and then covet up quickly.

He started after Ritchie like a whirlwind in the first round, but the pair were so warm in the second that the lad from Butte was about ready to yell for help. Edwards also rushed the challenger around the ring at a lively clip. Little Willie nearly knocked Edwards out in the final round of their set-to, when he planted a left rip to the pit of Edwards's stomach and then came on with a corking right cross to the jaw. Edwards dropped and Ritchie picked him up.

Everybody left the place satisfied that he was in shape. With the necessary courage and slamming he will surely help make ring history next Thursday afternoon.

FOUR ROUNDS FOR AD.

Four rounds of boxing and an hour's work in the gym settled the champion out at the "Seal Rocks House this afternoon. He put on the gloves with Kid Hackey, of Los Angeles and roughed it around the ring in his usual style. His work aroused interest among the hundreds who watched him, but the crowd was disappointed because the little champion did not go further. He performed for nearly an hour in the gym, taking particular pains with the bag and on the pulleys.

His cold is still with him, although it is fairly well broken up and his breathing is much lighter than it was on the previous day. Wolgast will do no boxing tomorrow afternoon, but plans a big carnival Saturday and Sunday, when he will take on all comers.

TRIPLE TIE POSSIBLE IN FOOTBALL CONTEST.

There are two High School football games scheduled for tomorrow. Santa Monica and Pasadena are to meet at Santa Monica, and Whittier High is to clash with the strong Santa Ana eleven at Whittier.

Both contests are important. If either Santa Ana or Pasadena lose, their hopes of tying Long Beach for the Southern California interscholastic championship will be lost.

If both Pasadena and Santa Ana win their games tomorrow, and Pasadena succeeds in defeating Long Beach Thanksgiving Day, the championship honors will be divided between the three schools.

AGAINST ALL OUTLAWS.

OMAHA, Nov. 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] William A. Rourke, president of the Omaha Club of the Western League of Baseball Clubs, said today he was opposed to the formation of an outlaw league in American Association and Western League territory. "I am fully in accord with President 'Tip' O'Neill," said Rourke. "I do not see how such a league could exist or be a financial success. I have been approached regarding the matter but am not at liberty to say who is behind the movement."

NOT RUGBY BY A MILE.

The Los Angeles High School is out with a long wail, because it was said that the game Wednesday afternoon with Manual was nothing but a battle royal rough house. Capt. Maguire admitted yesterday that the Blue and White had to play a forward game to beat Manual and also use strenuous tactics to get by at all. Well, it is nice enough to win, but they cannot expect anybody to call a mob scene a Rugby football game. The spirit and fight of the teams was great, but you cannot call cricket baseball, nor can you call this stuff real Rugby.

ON THE LINE OF SCRIMMAGE

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

Pomona's Last Chance.

The Pomona football team has one opportunity to come back this season and that will be on the Saturday following Thanksgiving, when the Colorado Miners come south. The Miners are very likely to be the champions of the Rocky Mountains when they hit Pomona, as the team will play the University of Colorado for the title this Saturday. If Stanton's men hold or even win the game, practically all the lost prestige after the Tiger defeat, will be regained. Stanton has spent nearly all this week in reorganizing the team and on the day of the game the Blue and White will very probably be represented by an entirely different squad than that which faced the Tigers.

If Stanton can bolster up his line he will have made the needed change in the team. It was Pomona's line that lost to Oxy. The backs are fast and with a good rush line should be able to gain on almost any team.

U.S.C. to Meet L.A.A.C. Next.

Saturday afternoon the Trojans will have another work-out against the L.A.A.C. Rugby team. The varsity will not be in the game to any great extent as Manning is anxious to give some of his second-string men a chance before the season closes. This will be about the first time that the club team has run up against any real competition and it will be interesting to see what Mr. Mew Mitchell has developed.

Too Soon for All-Stars.

Many of the football fans and some few of the critics are picking an all-star intercollegiate team now. This is about as foolish a thing as can be done, with two of the most important games of the season yet to be played. The Tigers are to meet the Oregon Aggies while Pomona has yet to face the Miners. With two games like this yet on the docket there is plenty of room for several new stars to shine. At the present time it would not be a hard matter to pick an all-star team. Whittier has about two men that are worthy of mention and Pomona thus far has only shown one. The rest belong to the Tigers. In fact one could almost pick the Tiger team for the all-star squad and at that not be over a hair line out of the way.

Another Pipe Dream.

Pipe dreams seem to be the order of the day. I see that one of our most worthy critics is trying to frame up a post-season game between the Tigers and the Trojans at American football, stating that the only thing to prevent it is the U.S.C. faculty.

Yes, the faculty and every man on the team would say no. When this season is over, which will be on Christmas Day, after the L.A.A.C game, the Trojans will have had enough football to satisfy any human being, then there would be about one week in which to train the team. The team would know nothing of football and in one week would know less. So, if the game were played, the Tigers would probably win by the score of a thousand-odd to nil. It would be about as reasonable to send the tennis champion against the golf title holder, and expect the net expert to win with the racquet against a golf club, when the game played was golf. No class, not even a vestige of it.

Poly Must Worry.

The Poly Rugby team would give anything asked for a game with the Los Angeles High bunch, either under the four-year rule or without it, but the Blue and White says that Poly has once been "licked." I guess about all the Mechanics will get is a good chance to worry. L.A. has the State championship in sight and will not take any chances, even if the game were played as a dual match without regard to championship standing.

Big Night.

ROWANSBURG INCORPORATED.

High Jinks at L.A.A.C. and Harvest Dinner.

Frank Young Mayor, With Bob Brain Second.

Gym Converted Into Rural Community.

Two thousand members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club incorporated the city of Rowansburg last night and elected a Mayor and it certainly was some incorporation. The occasion was the annual high jinks of the club at Seventh and Olive streets and without pulling any bull, it was the finest incorporation seen hereabouts for many a long moon.

Frank W. Young, a prominent young architect, was elected Mayor of the new town by an overwhelming majority over all the candidates. Bob Brain, the Under Sheriff, was second and Harry Haldeman was third. Lou Guernsey romped home in fourth place, and Col. Bill Barrett, late of the Empire State, carved a niche in the fifth hole.

Mayor Young, as the first Mayor of Rowansburg, which is a new domain founded within the Hercuean Temple, established many new customs which are to prevail over future high jinks held in the club. He delivered a masterly inaugural address, and appointed a cabinet six minutes after the final returns were announced. He declared that the "sky is the limit; if you play it square," and the slogan was cheered to the echo by the happy throng.

SENSATIONAL PARADE.

The big doings started late yesterday afternoon with a parade which moved from First and Broadway at 4 o'clock. The great pageant was comprised of wild animals, clowns, Mayoralty candidates, bands and all that goes to make up a real honest-to-goodness circus "peerade."

The parade moved down Broadway to Seventh street, over Seventh to Spring street, up Spring street to Fifth street, over Fifth to Hill street where it disbanded. One hundred automobiles were in line. Many of the members were garbed in gayly colored costumes and the candidates were also on hand with appropriate dress and the required number of campaign boosters.

At 7 o'clock the cork blew out, and the race was on. The first scene was in the great banquet hall of the club, where the harvest home dinner was pulled off. The polls were scheduled to close at 8 o'clock, but the drinks were knocked over with such startling regularity that it was nigh onto 9 o'clock before the official election board canvassed the votes and announced the result.

IN ROWANSBURG.

After the winning candidate and his constituents had marched around the banquet hall a couple of thousand times, more or less, C. H. Jones, chairman of the "Jinks Committee" arose and endeavored to request all the members to his to the Country Fair and Gamblers' Rretreat" in the gymnasium. About an hour later, after Mayor Young, near Mayor Brain and the other defeated candidates had unloosened a stream of the flowery stuff, the two thousand voters made their way to the seventh floor, where the sixty-horse power entertainment was awaiting their arrival. It was some entertainment and for three hours young and old alike reveled in the merry going.

Mel Sordlinger and Sam Wood pulled the hootchy-kootchy skit, and it was some can-can. They were encored time and time again. Joe Amestoy and Harry Cline danced the 1913 model of the Grizzly Bear, and oi, oi. Eylar Fillmore and Harry Crouch were the stellar sideshow barkers and they were there in big-league style.

E. C. Pierce was town marshal, Dave Mendelsohn was town clerk; C. O. Bradley, the beautiful manicurist; C. F. Seidel, snake charmer; Frank Garbutt, the Berlin Kid; Harry Cline, the East Indian Princess; "Biff" Cline, the can-can drummer boy; "Cap" Jargstorff, town marshal; Clarence Fithenry, moral censor; Earl Mueller, city treasurer; Harry Jack, collector of hatpins; Sam Wood, "Konorah," the wriggle girl; Heine Plummer, a Dutchman; Jack Bradner, chief of the faro wheel; T. H. Ostrom, the original Patti; Algie Best, Mutt, and Joe Amestoy, Jeff.

Scores of other members depicted roles in the evening's entertainment, and it was one grand blow-out from beginning to end.

Paul Piepers, W. E. Chamberlain, Lynn Helm, Jake Baum, Gurney Newlin, George Beebe, George Cochran, Charley Richards, Lou Mellus, George Cline, Chester Moore, Cliff Horne and other well-known "battlers for the Lord" helped to make the night the nightest night the L.A.A.C. ever experienced.

COMPETITION LACKING HERE.

The future success of Rugby at U.S.C. is almost wholly a question of competition. Next year it is highly probable that the various High Schools will refuse to meet the varsity and unless the L.A.A.C. and some other club can put a good team into the field, the Trojans will have no hard games to condition the team before the clashes with Stanford and California. As it is, the North has an edge on us and without any stiff practice competition the edge will be materially sharpened.

L. A. HIGH DUE TO REPEAT.

After the game Wednesday, it looks as though L.A.H.S. was again slated for the championship. This aggregation is a hard one to beat at any game, and when the team has to win, it turns the trick nine times out of ten. Up to the recent Hollywood and Manual struggles, the Los Angeles High team was looked on as a rank failure, but Ralph Noble came to hand just in time and the famous old battle cry of "You can't beat L.A. High" can still be sung and with full meaning.

To McCarey has wired Kid Williams to come to the Coast and meet Eddie Campi. There is little chance for Williams getting a match with Johnny Coulon. Johnny hurt his neck in a bout a short time ago and will be unable to box for some time. A match between Campi and Williams will be a great try-out for Eddie.

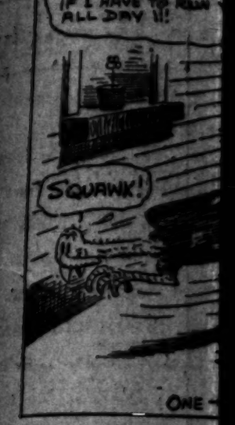
The Tale o



SPARK-P

That illustrious Grouch Di
Joe Rivers; Also t Matters.

"RAH, RAH RIX," shouted grouchy old friend, Spark-plug McClosky, as he sat on the copy desk at The Tim night.

Spark-plug and his car are job again "hiring out" in Los gales. Spark-plug has pr hauled more sporting men tha other chauffeur in the world.

"Why the war whoops?" in the sporting editor.

"War whoop?" said Spark-p dignantly. "That shows you ain' ucated. That ain't no war w That's me fraternity yell. I've taken a load of rah rah lad to the football games."

"What's a fraternity?" aske innocent child who acts as offi to the Ping sheet.

WHAT'S A FRATERNITY.

Spark-plug was obviously fla and blew a long blase puff of s before replying. "It's a kind o ion, kiddo," he said. "A lot of baked boys get together and gilt pins on themselves and be the other little boys who don' long. That's a fraternity."

"What did you think of the g asked the football reporter.

Spark-plug raised a forbo hand. "Not fer mine," he said, fer mine."

Spark-plug smoked a minute; he said suddenly, "Did you ever two centipedes trying to butt other like goats? Well, that's a ball game. Too tame; too tame. how, the lads are too young. W go to see a killing, I want to gular grown-up men."

"I guess these rough-stuff fighters are a little more in line," suggested one of the readers with terrible sarcasm.

BOXERS—MORALS.

Spark-plug turned around in seat and glared. "Stop, Llanie," said, "don't you dare tell me ery about Joe Rivers and a bi I refuse to——"

Spark-plug suddenly stopped turned his attention from the reader and said with emphasis, the novel, you guys ought to ashamed of yourselves. Gee, wh you think he is? A monk?"

"Whom do you mean?" asked sporting editor.

"Whom!" repeated Spark-p

"Whom! Ain't that a hot old wor You ought to sing a word like th If I owned a word like "whom," I'd let it set in a belt and give it a champion."

"Bill Papke's already got one said the sporting editor.

PAPKE'S BELT.

Spark-plug laughed. "Wasn't th a knockout though—to give a b like Bill Papke a diamond bel Kid you beat it? I'll bet, at that, was a frame-up and Bill gave it himself. If so, I've got money to gu that he fim-flammed himself wi a phoney diamond. If these Frenc people really gave Papke a diamon belt, they'll have to deed the ci Paris to the first REAL fighte they see. However, I suppose th any dog is entitled to a collar." "You were saying that we ought t be ashamed of ourselves," suggeste some one.

"Oh, yah," said Spark-plug. "I wa just going to talk about Joe Rivers when the fellow threw me off wit that line about 'whom.'"

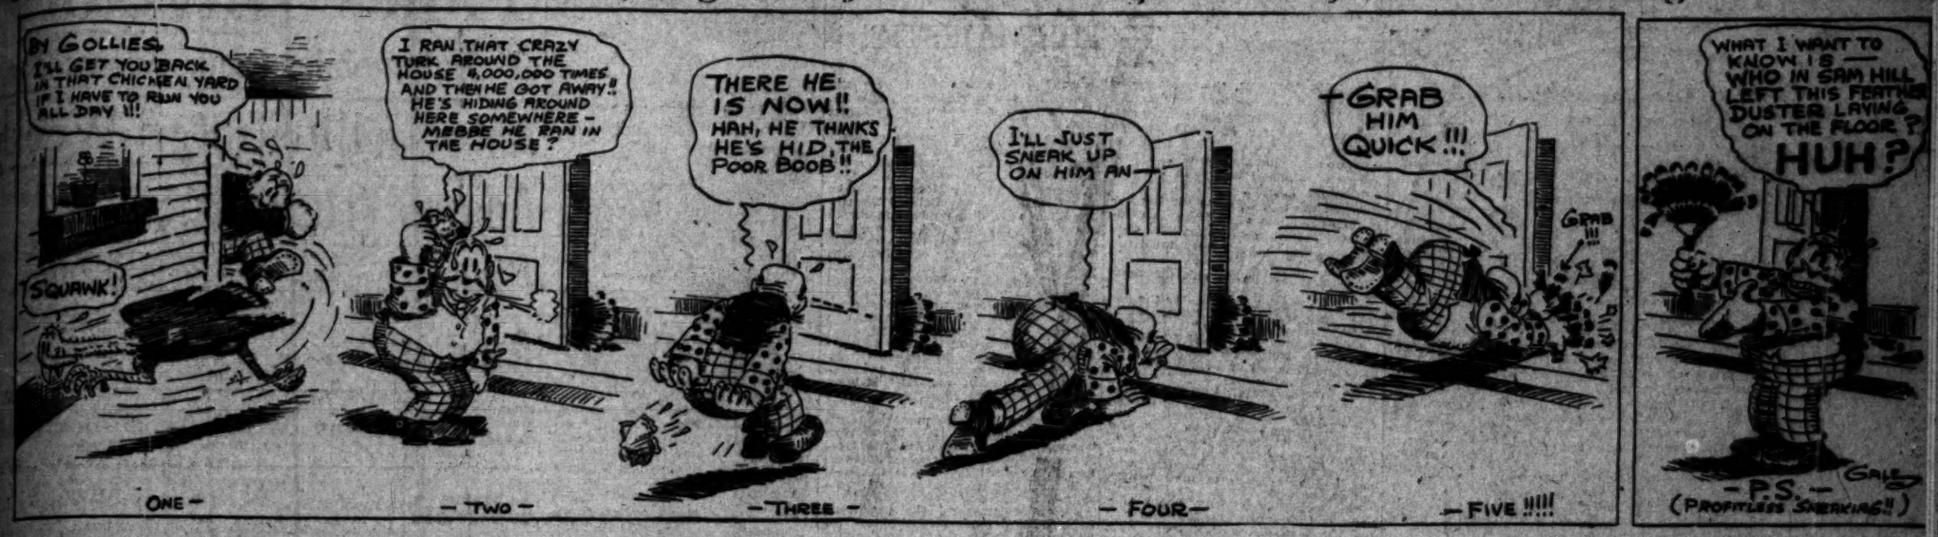
POOR LITTLE JOE.

"Well," said the sporting editor. "Well," said Spark-plug, "you' ought to be arrested for the thing you pepper guys said about that poo Mexican boy. Say, he's only 16 years old.

"Say, Lizzie," he continued, turn savagely on the copy reader, "what'd you like to have what you called you was 10 put in a paper and a headline like a homeward-bound pennant on a battleship, put over it? Huh? I guess that'd be something to take home to mother and ask her to put in the family album. No; yes?"

"Well, there are a lot of fighters who don't cut up," persisted the copy reader doggedly. "And Wolgast and Joe Rivers and Willie Ritchie and a lot of them don't drink."

The Tale of Mr. Wad's Thanksgiving Turkey---He's Having One Awful Time Fattening the Gobbler!



SPARK-PLUG M'CLOSKY.

The Illustrious Grouch Discusses, in a Tart Manner, Joe Mandot and Joe Rivers; Also the Papke Diamond Belt and Other Matters. Can't See Football Games.

"RAH, RAH RIX," shouted our grouchy old friend, Spark-plug McClosky, as he sat down at the copy desk at The Times last night.

Spark-plug and his car are on the job again "hiring out" in Los Angeles. Spark-plug has probably seated more sporting men than any other chauffeur in the world.

"Say the war whoop?" inquired the sporting editor.

"War whoop?" said Spark-plug innocently. "That shows you ain't educated. That ain't no war whoop. That's no fraternity yell. I've been what a kind of rah rah lads out to a football game."

"That's a fraternity?" asked the innocent child who acts as office boy on the Ping sheet.

WHAT'S A FRATERNITY?

Spark-plug was obviously flattered and blew a long blase puff of smoke before replying. "It's a kind of union, kiddo," he said. "A lot of half-wits here get together and stick pins on themselves and boycott on other little boys who don't belong. That's a fraternity."

"What did you think of the game?" said the football reporter.

Spark-plug raised a forbidding hand. "Not for mine," he said, "not for mine."

Spark-plug smoked a minute; then he said suddenly, "Did you ever see two collieboes trying to butt each other in the grass? Well, that's a football game. Too tame; too fierce. Anyway, the lads are too young. When it comes to see a killing, I want to see some grown-up men."

"I guess these rough-stuff prize fights are a little more in your line," suggested one of the copy readers with terrible sarcasm.

BOXERS—MORALS.

Spark-plug turned around in his chair and glared. "Stop, Lizzie," he said, "don't you dare tell me any more about Joe Rivers and a blond; I refuse to—"

Spark-plug suddenly stopped and turned his attention from the copy reader and said with emphasis, "I'm no fool, you guys ought to be ashamed of yourselves. Geo, what do you think he is? A monk?"

"When do you mean?" asked the puzzled editor.

"Then?" repeated Spark-plug. "Ain't that a hot old word? I ought to slug a word like that. I'd call a word like 'whom,' I'd hit it a bolt and give it to 'em."

"Papke's already got 'em," said the sporting editor.

PAPKE'S BELT.

Spark-plug laughed. "Wasn't that funny though—to give a big guy like Bill Papke a diamond belt? Say, he'll bet, at that, it was a frame-up and Bill gave it to Joe. If so, I've got money to gamble he has slam-dammed himself with laughter. If these French guys only gave Papke a diamond belt they'd have to deed the city hall to the first REAL fighter that came to town. However, I suppose that Joe is entitled to a collar."

"I'm sure sorry that we ought to be ashamed of ourselves," suggested the copy reader.

"Aw, rats," said Spark-plug. "I was trying to talk about Joe Rivers and you fellows threw me off with your talk about 'whom.'"

POOR LITTLE JOE.

"Poor Joe," said the sporting editor.

"Yeah," said Spark-plug, "you'd ought to be arrested for the things you guys say about that poor simple boy. Say, he's only 20 years old."

"Listen," he continued, turning on the copy reader. "I'd sure like to have what you guys was to put in a paper about me like a homeward-bound on a battleship, put in the log. I guess that'd be nice to come home to mother and put in the family Bible. No; yes?"

"There are a lot of fighters that are up," persisted the copy reader.

"Ad Wolgast and Willie Ritchie and a few don't drink."

"Ad wouldn't drink," said Spark-plug, "fer fear he might get drunk and hit somebody without being paid fer it. If that Dutchman ever got in a street fight, he'd make the other feller sign a contract to pay $1 flown and $1 a week before he'd hit him. Wolgast ain't a fellow; he's a corporation. He never has no feelings that he can't turn into cash. Rivers is different."

THE LAST FIGHT.

"But there's the public to be considered," said the sporting editor. "Joe went into that Mandot fight straight from the cocktail route and that's why he got licked."

Spark-plug snorted with derision. "Well," he said, "Providence is wise; I'll admit it. I used to wonder why you newspaper guys never had no money, but now I see it's a mercy. You all get it took away. Honest, you guys would fall for anything."

Spark-plug lit another cigarette and said, "All that stuff about Joe and the cocktail route gave me a nineteen-carat laugh all right. It sounded like Joe had gone into the ring with a towel wrapped around his hand and a bottle of morning-after dope in his hand."

AN ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENT.

"Well," said the sporting editor.

"Well, I'll tell you about Joe," said Spark-plug. "He's one of those guys like Paderewski, the lad wit the mop. When he feels good, he can play like a $100 phonograph; and when he don't, there's nothing to it but to give out the rain checks and dismiss the audience.

"And," added Spark-plug, grinning, "maybe you'll fall for that one too. Joe Levy tried 'em both on the public. He tried the excuse about Joe's artistic temperament, but he couldn't get away with it. The public was too wise for that. Then he fell back on the one about Joe being naughty just before the fight. That one went great.

"There's nothing the public and the newspapers like so much as telling a feller he ought to behave; so Joe got another chance."

"What do you think was the real reason that Mandot beat him, then?" asked the boxing writer, with sarcastic smile.

THE REAL REASON.

"Joe has gone up against a smart feller just three times," said Spark-plug, "and he has lost just three fights. These big boobs with a punch that goes through a brick wall are duck soup fer little Joe; but any lad with a forty-horse-power think tank has him out on the wharf gasping fer breath. Mandot beat him because he is a smart boy."

"What about the next fight?" some one asked.

"Well, it might be different in the next fight," said Spark-plug, shrewdly. "The last time, Rivers trained for Mandot on a lot of plug sparring partners. Joe liked to get a blonde in the audience at his training quarters and some slow sucker like Brother Andy in the ring and butcher him up to show her how wonderful he was.

"This time there ain't no blondes or the front row and his training partner is little Eddie Campi. Believe me, all the blood that squirts this time is royal Mex and the exclusive property of the Rivers family. Joe isn't making such a killing among the fair ones this time, but he is learning something. Next time, Mandot won't be able to put Joe's right on cold storage and keep it there.

"Children, it's going to be a regular fight."

BAT TO USE GONG.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch to The Times by Wireless Line.] Battling Nelson has taken a regular old fire alarm gong for use at the ringside when he fights Leach Cross Thanksgiving Day. Bat will insist that the gong be nailed alongside the ring and used to signal the start and the close of a round. Bat's hearing is not what it used to be and he admits this one weakness. Predictions are that Cross will lower the Durable Dane.

Dundee After Kilbane.

make 122 pounds for Conley at 12 o'clock. He probably weighed 124 pounds ringside. Wolgast, on the other hand, generally fights about three pounds below the lightweight limit. It is hard for him to make more than 130 pounds, and be at his best. There probably would be about five pounds difference between the men when they squared off.

There would be nothing at stake except Wolgast's title, and that would not be seriously jeopardized. The fight would be good to look at; it would be worth the price of admission. That just about lets it out.

When Dundee and Monteith pile on the Pullman today, Scotty will be armed with a set of articles for a match between his boy and Johnny Kilbane. They will drop off at Cleveland in the night and endeavor to corner Kilbane when he isn't looking. They will hurl the set of articles and a few defis into Johnny's teeth, and if he refuses to talk business they will come through with the big "Why?" In case Kilbane isn't feeling talkative, I haven't the slightest idea what they will do. Leave that to Mr. Monteith.

Joe Rivers yesterday turned from the cross and hook to the tochold and hammerlock. Joe has taken up wrestling for two reasons. In the first place, he cut one of his eyelids, and Manager Levy decided that it would not be wise to run the risk of getting him soaked on the same optic immediately. Secondly, Rivers figures that by wrestling himself out of clinches with his sparring partners, he will be able to evolve some means of solving Mandot's defense against his right.

In their last fight, Mandot prevented Rivers from doing much execution with his deadly right. Everytime they came to close quarters Rivers would find his right useless, because safely pinioned by his opponent. Joe has a good left, but there are few men who can win with one hand. Joe feels that he needs both of them in his business, and says that Mandon will be greatly surprised if he tries to tuck his right away where it will not be available for immediate use. Joe's experiment will be watched with interest. He is expected to resume boxing tomorrow.

Joe Mandot's modesty and his regard for others, as evidenced in his consideration shown his sparring partners, are traits which stamp him as a type almost foreign to the ring. So far as I know Mandot is the only professional boxer who scorns to wear a diamond. His plain watch is his only jewelry, and he carries that as a utensil rather than as an ornament. If a boxer has any vanity, it usually runs to diamonds and other high-priced embellishments. I do not know that this is anything against them, as diamonds are a pretty safe investment if your associates are honest and do not carry nippers in their coat sleeves.

Bill Huddy has forty boxers on his staff, amateurs and professionals. In the recent tournament he had two entries and came through with three second prizes. He said yesterday that if Nieto had met any boy except Willie Coe the first night, he would have had one first at least. Nieto had a hard time making the weight and Coe gave him a hard go.

After the Honor.

RIVERSIDE ANXIOUS TO ENTERTAIN WHITE SOX.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] President Comiskey of the Chicago Americans is being besieged concerning the training-trip plans for the White Sox. D. W. Roble, representing Riverside, the home of Chief Meyers, voiced the offer today to urge the president of the White Sox to give his city the preference over Paso Robles. When he learned Comiskey was in Wisconsin pursuing deer he decided to stay in Chicago until the owner of the Chicago Americans returns.

Mr. Roble is certain he can convince Comiskey that Riverside offers more advantages for spring training than Paso Robles.

"I came all the way from the Coast to put this matter up to Comiskey and I am going to stay here until I have done everything possible to win my argument," said Mr. Roble.

Henry Berry, owner of the Los Angeles team, is another Coast bidder for the honor of entertaining the White Sox next spring. He urges Comiskey to take his club to Pasadena, insisting that its advantages are far greater than any other city mentioned.

President "Tip" O'Neil of the Western League reiterated his statement tonight that he stood for organized baseball and against any move to invade Chicago. He insists that his league will not turn outlaw under any circumstances.

The New York Americans will not decide on their spring training plans until a manager has been selected to succeed Harry Wolverton. Birdie Cree and Wolverton of the New York Americans will be ready for the spring training. The Yanks' outfield will likely be composed of Daniels, Cree and Walters.

The American Association is expected to go back to the 154-game schedule in 1913 instead of continuing on the 147-game basis.

GRIFFITH TALKING.

Manager Clark Griffith of the Senators said if the Boston champions played the same kind of ball next year as they did against the Giants the Nationals will win and Walter Johnson will pitch the first two games in the world's series, rest a day and pitch the last two.

Burns, utility man of the Giants, may be a regular in 1913.

Connie Mack is said to entertain hopes of winning the pennant in 1913 in the American League and believes the Cuban trip will fit his players for the grind. President O'Neil is expected to retain most of the umpires in the Western League next year.

Frank Chance cannot be sold to the American League unless Cincinnati gets waivers from the other seven clubs of the league.

President Ban Johnson of the American League believes players make the best umpires. He points to Bill Dineen as an example, and adds that he would willingly sign Mordecai Brown next year at a salary as large as he received as a pitcher from the Cubs.

Much Uncertainty.

COACHES FEARFUL THAT YALE LACKS REAL SPIRIT.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 21.—[Special Dispatch.] Nothing more in the way of real work can be given to the Harvard and Yale elevens. The Crimson has taken things fairly easy this week while the Elis have scrimmaged up to the last minute. Yale needed the work, while Harvard needed only to keep on edge.

The mental attitude of this year's Harvard eleven is worth considering. The team has been alert and on its toes from the start. It has always been confident without being overconfident and this feeling has been communicated to the undergraduate body. There is a feeling among graduates of the Cambridge institution that Harvard is out to win the game but these men do not believe that there is any reason for giving odds.

YALE FANS UNCERTAIN.

The feeling at Yale is a trifle grim. There's no more of the hopeful talk that preceded the Princeton game. The coaches realize that the eleven is potentially one of the strongest that ever represented the New Haven institution, but there is not one of them who can tell whether the team will play up to form on Saturday. There has been a deal of steady hammering at Yale and there there has been some improvement in the guard positions but the permanency of this improvement is a problem.

Both Yale and Harvard practiced this afternoon in the field which will be the scene of their conflict two days hence, Yale giving the visitors the use of the field until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon when Yale took possession.

SHORT SCRIMMAGE.

Contrary to expectations, Yale indulged in a scrimmage but it only lasted ten minutes. The main work of the coaches again today was to get the team on fighting edge and every energy is being bent in that single direction. There are faults in the Yale play but the coaches are willing to let these pass if the time spent in getting the team started as a fighting machine will only bring the results.

A coach said today that if Yale carried the attack five minutes to Harvard instead of laying back until within the shadow of her own goal posts, Yale would win the game, as the team has the power, football ability and everything else it needed, except agressiveness. "If Yale fails to come through," said the coach, "this team will go down into history as the strangest Yale team we have ever had. It will be the nearest to a Yale team quitting that has ever been known and that certainly is something that could never be said of any other Yale team."

REAL SPIRIT LACKING.

Whether or not this fighting spirit has been stirred in the team is a matter of question. The men have fought much harder and proven much stronger offensively than at any time this season. If, when the team faces Harvard Saturday the same old Yale spirit appears, the confidence of undergraduates and coaches will at once be firm because all who know this year's team thoroughly insist it can defeat Harvard if it simply carries the fight. Yale has also been spending considerable time with her kicking squad and perhaps in this respect the improvement is most noticeable. In yesterday's practice in drop-kicking Pumpelly tried about twenty at all sorts of angles and he missed three. The kicks were all between the twenty-five and thirty-five-yard lines. The best thing about Pumpelly's kicking, outside of its accuracy, is the drive and height he gets the ball.

The line-up today, which may be used in the Harvard game, if the first team fails to show the desired snap, contains all of the probable substitutes and was as follows: Carter, Glie, Avery and How, ends; W. Warren, Talbot, H. Warren, W. Baker, tackles; Cooney, Pendleton, Arnold, Reade; Madden, guards; Ketchum and Martin, centers; Wheeler, Cornell, Dyar, quarterbacks; Philbin, Spalding, Flinn and Substitutes Markle, Pumpelly and Dick Baker.

Ambitious.

POMONA HIGH SCHOOL TEAM MAY GO NORTH.

IF Pomona High School wins the Southern California interscholastic Rugby championship, the athletic management of the school proposes to send the fifteen north for games with Palo Alto, Berkeley and the Oakland High School the latter part of December.

The Southern California championship is to be decided November 30, when Pomona is to meet Los Angeles High at Bovard Field. This should be one of the best Rugby games ever witnessed in the South.

In their first match this season, after two days of practice, the Pomona boys played a 5-to-5 game with Manual Arts. Los Angeles High defeated Manual by a 6-to-0 score Wednesday afternoon, and comparative scores point to a close contest, in which Pomona has a good chance to win.

There are thirteen veterans on the Pomona fifteen. The team averages 155 pounds, has piled up ninety-eight points in the Citrus League games this year, and has not been scored on.

Baker, playing at center three-quarters, is one of the fastest men who has ever been in the backfield of a Southern California high school Rugby team. Parker and Maurer, the wings, are both men of varsity caliber. They average 172 pounds and are exceptionally fast. Creswell is another fast man, who has starred all season at first five. Smith and Capt. Neal Clark are the best men in the pack, but there are few stars among the forwards.

As the northern trip depends on the result of the Los Angeles High game, Coach Myers is working his boys hard. The players are confident and intend to put up the greatest exhibition of Rugby at Bovard Field ever seen in a southern high school match.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON RECEIVES CHALLENGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for an international yacht race here in 1913 was accepted here today. At a luncheon of the San Francisco Commercial Club, given in honor of Sir Thomas, the following letter was read to him today:

"On behalf of a syndicate yet to be named, permit me to accept your challenge for a race in the twenty-three-meter class to be sailed here in 1915.

"We will meet you with a boat designed under the Universal rule, built and sailed by San Franciscans and may the best boat win.

[Signed]

"THOMAS L. MILLER."

Mr. Miller is president of the West Coast Life Insurance Company.

It is estimated that the American defender will cost about $75,000 and she will probably be named "The Nineteen Fifteen."

One of the Feminine Features of the Big Song Show "A Modern Eve."

With Harry Dickeson

With Ray Raymond

The Olga Nethersole of Musical Comedy.

Being some characteristic views of Arline Boiling as she appears in "A Modern Eve," which comes to the Majestic Sunday night. At one time or another during the piece Messrs. Clarke, Dickerson and Raymond all fall victims to her seductive charm.

FROM THE MASON TO THE MAJESTIC.

MIKE CORPER, the treasurer of the Lyceum Theater, under Oliver Morosco's management, was the treasurer of Eddie Maier's Vernon ball club last season, and was accounted one of the best sellers of baseball tickets in the Pacific Coast League.

When the sale of seats for the Lyceum as a home of melodrama commenced yesterday morning, Mr. Corper imagined himself very much on the job.

The first person to ask for seats was a lady. She said:

"I want three nice seats for the opening performance of 'The White Slave,' Sunday afternoon."

"Yes, ma'm," remarked Treasurer Corper, of baseball fame, "will you have grand stand or bleachers?"

When "The Butterfly on the Wheel" company comes to the Hamburger Majestic Theater a fortnight hence, the organization will have been preceded by an advance agent, not of the ordinary variety, but a brand new, 1913 model—a young woman who has had experience in metropolitan newspaper work.

This feminine advance agent is a new wrinkle of the schuberts, and so far the idea has worked very well.

I believe the late Bell Archer was the first woman to essay theatrical advance agentry.

She preceded Cora Tanner, a popular actress, some fifteen or so years ago. Now Miss Archer had been a mighty clever actress herself—one succeeded the late Caroline Miskell, wife of Playwright Charles M. Hoyt in "A Contented Woman"—and the newspaper writers along the Tanner route evidenced so much interest in the advent of the gifted young woman doing show work that always had been included as strictly within man's province that they completely forgot Miss Archer was engaged to further the interests of Cora Tanner and so devoted most of the space at their command to Miss Archer and her brilliant attainments.

At the end of the season, when Miss Tanner looked over the scrapbook of newspaper clippings of her tour and noted the remarkable amount of linotype glory and praise that had been showered upon her fair representative, she invented the now-popular saying:

"Never again."

There ought to be a good performance of "The White Slave" at the Lyceum Sunday afternoon, if stage direction counts for aught.

William Dill is the stage director of Oliver Morosco's new company, but the first performance at the Lyceum under the Morosco direction is regarded of such vast importance that not only have Miss Maud Leone, Mr. Bennison, and the rest of the company had the benefit of Mr. Dill's valued direction, but Oliver Morosco—himself brought up in the melodramatic atmosphere of the old Grand Opera-house, in San Francisco—and Dick Ferris, also, have taken a hand in suggesting how the actors should interpret the various scenes of the Bartley Campbell play.

George Baldwin, who left the Valeska Suratt company during the engagement of "The Kiss Waltz," at the Majestic Theater last week, has taken his classic features and capital baritone voice to one of the various local film companies for the remainder of the season.

Lillian Wiggins, who played the part of the nouveau riche Mrs. Malaprop with the Suratt show, also is considering an attractive offer to desert the stage in favor of the film studio out toward Edendale.

Seems as if every employed actor on the stage wants to get into motion picture work, and every busy flicker trouper casts envious glances in the direction of the footlights.

Funny, eternally dissatisfied people, they who paint their faces, eh?

"The Regeneration," to be seen next week at the Belasco, will have plenty of "stars" in its advertising matter.

First and foremost, of course, will come Bert Lytell, for whom the play originally was selected.

Then there will be Evelyn Vaughan, who has proved her worth this week in the Belasco performances of "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie."

And last—and don't anybody make the mistake of considering her as the least important member of this important cast—will be Frances Ring, firmly established in the good graces of the Belasco clientele, and destined to be the new leading lady of the stock company that will play on the stage of the Morosco theater on Broadway.

A man broke into the Mason Opera-house early yesterday morning. Ed Mansfield says he wanted to steal the colossal receipts for "The Quaker Girl," his show, now playing there; John Montague says he wanted to be first in line to buy Julian Eltinge tickets, the sale of which opened yesterday. You may take your choice as to which is the bigger liar.

P. S.: He didn't get anything.

Bill Ham Cline had his whiskers trimmed short yesterday. He read of a man whose beard was the means of losing him his life, in that a spark from his pipe fell in his "brush" and he was burned up. Bill is taking no chances. It was possibly for the same reason that Will Wyatt cut off his incipient mustache, though the Wyatt growth was too brief to be seen save with a strong glass.

Marian Armstrong, who deserted the chorus ranks of the Julian Eltinge show in San Francisco, to wed a millionaire, (?) is in Los Angeles trying to get her old job back. She wouldn't cross the street to meet Andy Carnegie now. In her opinion, when it comes to millionaires, "there ain't no sich animule."

A chap who claimed to be dramatic critic for the Municipal News was sighted seeking a pass at the Orpheum yesterday. No one could be found who had ever seen such a paper, and he was gently but firmly "t'run down."

The report that the girls of "The Quaker Girl" chorus struck yesterday because it was too warm here to wear skirts, is declared to be groundless. It seems that skirts are cool enough if one doesn't wear much under 'em, and in this way the difficulty with the "merry, merry" was settled.

One of the last things Oliver Morosco did before he jumped on the train for New York yesterday morning was to announce that the regular season patrons of the Belasco Theater were to have the privilege of transferring their weekly seat reservations from the Belasco to the new Morosco Theater, so they might have the same seats in the new theater that they have been getting for so long at the Main-street house.

A very considerable amount of interest has been awakened over the opening of the new Morosco, and the sale of seats for the first performance.

There will be no auction of seats for this important opening and no mail orders or telephone requests will be received.

The seats for the Morosco will be placed on sale at the Belasco Theater box office at a date to be announced later and after the old season seat reservations have been taken care of for the benefit of the loyal and faithful Belasco followers, the first person in front of the ticket office window will have the choice of seats.

Mr. Morosco was urged to auction off the seats for the first night, but he took the business-like and common-sense view that the sale of seats should be conducted in the usual fashion, although the advent of the Morosco in the local theatrical field is an affair of supreme importance.

The vaudeville performer who terms himself "Willard, the Man Who Grows," recently seen at the local Empress Theater, is creating a sensation in vaudeville circles in the East and soon will be seen at the Hippodrome, in London.

Before he invaded the vaudeville field, Willard performed the more or less menial duties of head waiter at a local restaurant on Broadway.

Some jump from yelling: "Fry two with the sunny-side up," to the possibilities of appearing before His Majesty, George of England, that the rest of the empire the sun never deserts, isn't it!

Edward J. Bowes, who is well known locally as the husband and manager of Margaret Illington, is going into the producing end of the theatrical business.

Mr. Bowes's first venture will be with "A Man's Way," a new play by Thompson Buchanan.

Ann Murdock, who played the newly-wedded wife in "Excuse Me" at the Majestic Theater last season, will have the chief feminine role in "A Man's Way."

Julian Eltinge, who impersonates females more successfully than any other man and who will be seen as a star for the first time in this city in "A Fascinating Widow" next week, is affectionally called "Bill" by his intimates.

William—alias Bill—Dalton is the real Eltinge name when away from the theater.

"A regular fellow is Bill," aver George Cohan, Willie Collier, Fred Zimmerman and a lot of the other bright young lights of the theatrical world.

Ralph Stuart, after his rather unsuccessful experience in this city with "A Dollar Did It," has returned to Chicago, where report has it he is endeavoring to secure a theater for the production of his play that was recently seen on the Burbank stage.

There was considerable of a mystery connected with the authorship of "A Dollar Did It." While it was very generally believed the comedy was the work of Mr. Stuart himself the actor ventured the information that the piece had been revised by a well-known newspaper writer of New York, whose employer insists that his writers shall confine their efforts to his own publications—thereby making it something of an offense to be caught with the authorship of a play to one's credit.

Perhaps the real author of "A Dollar Did It" will never be known, for the chances are small that the play ever will see the footlights again—certainly not in the shape in which it was presented at the Burbank.

Augustus Thomas, the playwright who worked for the success of the Wilson-Marshall ticket in his native State of Missouri and his adopted Empire State, is to be rewarded by the appointment as Minister to France, so the politically wise ones say.

Thomas is one of the few really brilliant speakers of the day—his wit is not of the caustic, searing sort, but rather of the genial kind that radiates humor and good cheer. The playwright is enormously wealthy, the result of his successful plays, and if the rumor of his good luck proves correct, the country will have a most capable representative at Paris.

With the news of the proposed appointment of Mr. Thomas comes renewed hopes in the breasts of a number of patriotically inclined local theatrical people who now say they worked hard for the success of the winning ticket.

Len Behymer holds his hand high in the outdoors when he declares that he was for Wilson and Marshall, first, last and in between, and expresses the opinion that his services would be fittingly recognized were he sent to Berlin, where, he says, he likes the music and the artistic atmosphere.

Willie Wyatt split his ticket and voted for Wilson for President and Gov. Hi Johnson for second place. Mr. Wyatt opines that his devotion to the head of the ticket should take precedence over Dean Worley's claim that he influenced the vote of Jay Barnes in behalf of the Democratic candidates. Mr. Wyatt intimates that a suitable reward for his services in behalf of the Governor of New Jersey would be the management of the proposed national theater, providing, always, that Klaw & Erlanger have the exclusive booking privileges for the theater.

Jack White, the enterprising and energetic advertising agent of the Morosco houses says he didn't vote for either Teddy, Taft or the professor, but that his individual choice was for the ex-president of Princeton, and anyway, he bet that Yale wouldn't beat Princeton at football last Saturday, just to prove his friendliness to Mr. Wilson. Mr. White declares that ever since Charles Hoyt wrote "A Texas Steer" he has been hearing about the country called Dahomey and that if his own preferences are to be consulted by the local politicians having the giving out of the offices, he will choose the job of Minister to Dahomey.

If you hear almost everybody humming, "Good-by, Everybody," next week don't be surprised. It's the song hit of "A Modern Eve" and in the larger cities of the East, has replaced that one time popular melody, "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning All Its Own."

"Good-by, Everybody" has one of those haunting choruses that you simply cannot get away from.

MILLERS RESTORE WALTZ TO FAVOR.

The dance, as defined by society as well as the stage, is being transfigured in a radical manner these days. The lowly "two step" has been elaborated into strenuous "bunny hugs," "grizzly bears," "turkey trots" and various other interesting terpsichorean evolutions both approved and disapproved of in various localities. The dance of "the other half" has bounded into popularity, and, in its advanced stage, has bounded out again. Maude Allen, the classical dancer who explains with her toes, bare toes, what Beethoven meant when he wrote his fifty symphony and what Tschaikowsky had in mind when he penned his "Symphony Pathetique"; the odalesque Ruth St. Denis, who provided us with new ideas of grace; tiny Pavlowa, from the banks of the Neva; the tinier Lopokova, St. Petersburg's special pet, and Gertrude Hoffman, all provided society with dancing fads, and all confessed that they found new ideas in the "dance locale" as demonstrated on the Barbery Coast in San Francisco.

But it has remained for the Marvelous Millers, an agile couple now appearing in Martin Beck's and Mort H. Singer's Berlin musical comedy, "A Modern Eve," which comes to the Majestic Theater, next week, to restore the waltz, in all of its graceful moods, to favor, and to make the two-step a realization of the poetry of motion. The Millers glide softly and easily through an intricate maze of evolutions, preserving at all times the rhythm of the waltz, and the effect upon an audience is soothing, in sharp contrast to the exhausting effect of the "Texas Tommy" presentation. In conclusion of their dance, the Millers indulge in a whirlwind schottische just to show that they can be strenuous if they want to.

The recent tournament proved that we have some of the best material in the world in the south for amateur boxers. Outside of Bob McAllister, the Los Angeles boys showed in all classes that the northern boys had nothing on them.

La Danse Aux Violins

Or at least part of the musical spectacle which will be one of the features of the bill which will be offered at the Empress Theater next week.

It is to be hoped tha many of the business men will tak advantage of this occasion and sho their encouragement and moral sup port by being present this afternoo and helping the forward movement o this society to make the Symphon orchestra more permanent institu tion and give to the public a longer series of concerts and some of them of a popular character at reduced prices.

The programme today, is an ex ceptionally good one, and the soloist, Miss Blanche Ruby, is well known in operatic circles in Europe, as a fine soprano with histrionic ability and a beautiful voice. Today's pro gramme numbers follow:

Overture to "The Magic Flute" (Mozart;) shadow song from "Dino rah" (Meyerbeer;) Sixth Symphony in B Minor, "Pathetique" (Tschaikow sky;) "I Am Titania," Mignon (Thom as;) Symphonic Poem, "Finlandia" (Sibelius.)

Oliver Morosco and Paul Armstrong left for New York yesterday morning to be gone for nearly three weeks.

As soon as Mr. Morosco reaches the most important and interesting announcements may be expected concerning the members of the new company, which will open the Morosco Theater in December; the leading lady to be engaged especially for the first presentation of Mr. Armstrong's new play, "The Love Story of the Ages," which will be used as the opening vehicle; the success of Laurette Taylor in "Peg o' My Heart," which will be given its New York hearing; the members of the Chicago cast of "The Escape;" which is due to open in the Windy City in the very near future, and scores of other matters which will doubtless prove of much interest to local playgoers.

Mr. Armstrong will probably return before Mr. Morosco to personally direct the construction of the scenic production and direct the rehearsals of his "Love Story of the ages."

"The Chocolate Soldier" is scheduled to follow "A Modern Eve" at the Majestic Theater, after which Lewis Walker, the distinguished English actor, will present to local audiences his recent New York success, "The Butterfly on the Wheel."

"Wedding Bells," Edward Salisbury Field's new comedy, which has been keeping fire at the Belasco for some time awaiting its premier, is positively announced by Manager Morosco for presentation immediately following Mr. Lytell's appearance next week in "The Regeneration."

Miss Yolanda Mero will play her farewell recital at the Auditorium tomorrow afternoon. She demonstrated on Monday evening that she possesses all the characteristics of the true musical genius—fire, impetuosity, power and musical feeling. Tomorrow afternoon will show an entire change of programme, and the numbers should certainly excite the most jaded auditor.

Maud Green, who used to be a double with Billy Gaston, in the first big act put on the stage, is now doing a single, and is shortly due on the Orpheum time. Miss Green is an attractive and clever girl, and her coming is awaited with much impatience.

Kreisler, the singing violinists, one of the most popular stars the Morosco ever turned out, is touring the circuit again, and will be here next week. Kreisler has a host of friends who will be glad to know that his success developed on her last trip as a wealthy Minneapolis lumberman did not so culminate that he has left her stage retirement.

The Mason is to have "Ben Hur" for its Christmas attraction—a very appropriate one, by the way. Good as "Ben Hur" is about as standard an attraction as a theater can have, the present company is the biggest Klaw & Erlanger have ever sent to the good old standby.

Alice Nielsen, is coming to Los Angeles, with her grand opera company to the Auditorium next week. She heads a splendid organization giving Wolf-Ferrari's pronounced hit of the decade, "The Secret of Susanne," in which melody, merriment and sentiment deftly defined and cleverly contrasted in constantly changing phases tell a charming story. Opera that moves and breathes, and frowns and smiles will be most interesting, but when it is depicted by such clever artists as Alice Nielsen, prima donna soprano; Rudolfo Fornari as Count Gil and Luigi Tavecchia, the famous basso of the Boston Opera Company, as the servant, supported by a full orchestra of thirty-five pieces, and all its attractive surroundings, the Los Angeles music lovers will hear the cleverest musical conceit of the time.

Next Tuesday and Thursday nights will be devoted to the "Secret of Susanne," while Saturday matinee is given over to "The Barber of Seville," introducing the entire strength of the company. An operatic first part, consisting of solos, duets, trios and quartettes, will precede the operas at each performance.

Miss Helen Cooper recently signed a contract to appear in grand opera next year with the Lambardi company. She will make her first appearance in Los Angeles with orchestra Sunday, at the Auditorium as the popular concert by the People's Orchestra. Miss Cooper's selection will be from her favorite opera, "Der Freischutz," by Von Weber, an opera in which she prepared to make her European debut while studying in Dresden about a year ago.

Oliver Morosco has a large force of scenic artists, stage carpenters, property men, electricians and costumers hard at work preparing for the elaborate production of "The Tik-Tok Man" at the Majestic Theater on February 2. The book is by L. Frank Baum and is said to be a unique conception, in many respects superior to Baum's famous "Wizard of Oz," which still holds the record for the longest and most successful run of any American extravaganza. In his new play this master of the art of stagecraft has exploited the adventures of a clockwork man, whose thoughts, speech and action wind up. Of course they run down again at critical moments and the plot is said to be exceedingly funny. The music is by Louis F. Gottschalk, who has no superior as a composer and orchestrator. Mr. Gottschalk has come here from New York especially to write the score for the new play. As this is Mr. Morosco's first important musical venture and as it is destined for New York in the near future, he is staging it magnificently and will employ a company of nearly one hundred people. He leaves for New York soon, to complete a cast which already includes several names prominent in musical comedy. Judged by these preparations and announcements, Los Angeles will witness the original production of one of the biggest extravaganzas ever staged in this country.

HO, FOR THE CANAL!

Realty Board Names Committee to Have Charge of Trip to Great Ditch Next January.

At the Los Angeles Realty Board meeting yesterday President Andrews appointed the following committee, which will have entire charge of the Panama Canal trip: Herbert L. Cornish, chairman; Walter P. Story, Sidney L. Briggs, W. M. Garland, Robert Marsh, Guy M. Rush, H. H. Cotton, L. T. Bradford, John D. Foster, W. W. Mines, George N. Black, Charles G. Andrews, O. A. Vickrey, Edwin G. Hart, Harry R. Callender, Lawrence B. Burek and James R. H. Wagner.

The steamer Kansas City, which will convey the party out of Los Angeles Harbor on January 8, will be in port next Monday, and the members of the board will thoroughly inspect her at that time. About forty reservations have already been made for trip. It will consume about twenty-six days and will include stops at various Mexican and Central American ports en route to Panama. The return trip will be made via steamer from the canal to New Orleans and by rail from New Orleans to this city. The party will be limited to seventy-five.

F. W. Braun, a member of the Board of Freeholders, addressed the members on the provisions of the proposed city charter, to be voted upon at the election December 3. The Realty Board took no action, but a special meeting has been called for next Monday for that purpose.

All--Aboar-r-rd!

And real wheels start moving—on a real track. A real bell starts ringing—and slowly the California Limited pulls out of the real station. Then faster and faster—until it's flying around curves — across switches and crossings and through tunnels—its real headlight gleaming ahead—a warning to stray cows and reckless pigs. Electric Lighted inside, too—and with roomy, real seats. Here's a way of getting across country that's really de luxe.

And all you have to do—is just to attach the motor in the Roundhouse to your electric light socket.

Up on the fourth floor—in our toy department—there's the track all laid out for these miniature real trains—tunnels, signals, semaphores, stations, bridges, crossings and switches. And a motor attached.

Bring the youngsters in on Saturday to watch the real wheels go round as the California Limited pulls out of Central Station!

And the beauty of these trains—you can buy just as much track as you need—(it's laid in small sections.) And you can buy an engine and a few cars—or an entire train of cars. There are all styles tunnels, too—at all prices—and signal stations, switches and crossings that may be added to the small boy's railroad system—later on.

Then there are Electric Cars—Real ones—They run on a trolley on a miniature car track.

And tear around curves at a break-neck speed that's thrilling enough to satisfy the most critical of real boys.

Bring them in—on Saturday—You'll find that there's nothing in toys quite takes the place of these real trains—for the small boy's Christmas.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

TWO BANQUETS DIVERT MANY.

Los Angeles Ministers Speak at Both Affairs.

Pasadena Board of Trade Is to Honor Lipton.

Students Will Study Practical Civil Government.

PASADENA, Nov. 22.—The annual banquets of the Men's Club of All Saint's Episcopal Church and the Pasadena Merchants' Association were held simultaneously last night. The former took place at the parish house adjoining the church, and the latter at the Hotel Maryland.

Bishop Joseph H. Johnson was present at the Men's Club dinner and spoke. Others who spoke are Rev. Leslie E. Learned, rector of All Saints' Church, Rev. L. Potter Hitchcock and former Mayor George A. Vedder.

"I feel that a special blessing comes to us in having an organization of this character," the Bishop said. He continued to speak of the many benefits that result from the meetings of the club and was enthusiastically applauded.

Many witty stories were told in the course of the evening and there were several musical numbers on the programme.

The annual election resulted in the selection of the following officers to serve for the ensuing year:

Robert Scott, president; Henry F. Bowling, first vice-president; H. Ormsby Phillips, second vice-president, and Vincent W. Good, secretary and treasurer.

About two hundred attended.

The speakers at the Merchants' Association banquet, which was attended by ladies as well as members of the organization, were Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher of Los Angeles, whose subject was, "What's Under Your Hat;" F. W. Bristol, "Co-operation," and C. G. Johnson, "The Panama Canal, or the Second Creation." Rev. Matt S. Hughes, pastor of the First Methodist Church, presided as toastmaster.

TO ENTERTAIN LIPTON.

Sir Thomas Lipton, the famous yachtsman, will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given at the Hotel Maryland next Tuesday night. The dinner will take place under the auspices of the Pasadena Board of Trade, the Merchants' Association and the Tournament of Roses Association.

Sir Thomas will leave Los Angeles at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and come by automobile to this city. He will be taken through the principal streets of the town, to the handsome suburbs nearby, and then to the Hotel Maryland, arriving there at 5:30 o'clock. The banquet will take place at 7 o'clock, to be followed by a reception at 9 o'clock.

The following comprise the Reception Committees: T. P. Lukens, A. J. Bertonneau, J. A. Phelps, D. M. Linnard, Lieut. Scharrer, L. F. Turner and W. F. Knight.

REJECT THE RECALL.

Civil government this year will be studied in a practical manner at the Pasadena High School. At an election to be held there today the students will adopt a form of government patterned after the commission form of government under which the affairs of Pasadena are to be conducted after next May. The pupils were busy yesterday registering for the election.

The proposed constitution for the school includes the initiative and the referendum, but the recall has not been put in. The girls, as well as the boys, are taking part in the political activities, which are to be carried out on the plan of equal suffrage throughout.

TO BEGIN NEW SERVICE.

Arrangements are being made for the establishment of the proposed Pasadena branch of the parcels post system January 1, next. Postmaster Wood is now receiving offers for the delivery of the packages. A horse and wagon or automobile will be used. The service will be similar to that of the express companies. However, there will not be so many classifications.

SHOP EARLY, PLEASE.

The Shakespeare Club again this year has come out with a request for early shopping, so that clerks in stores will not be worked so hard at Christmas time. The Pasadena Merchants' Association also has taken steps to urge customers to make their purchases early. Dodgers will soon be distributed throughout the city.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASING.

This year's membership of the Tournament of Roses Association has now reached the 500-mark, half of that which has been set as the organization's goal, 1000 members.

President E. T. Off announced yesterday that the banks have given much aid. In other years the banks were asked to advertise in the programme, or to make donations of cups, to be awarded as prizes. This year they have been requested to take memberships instead.

The association is now at work on the preliminary plans for the New Year's Day parade, which, it is expected, will be the most beautiful floral pageant that will have ever been given in the city.

TO OPEN HEADQUARTERS.

The comparatively new Municipal League has prepared for an active winter's work. The board of directors has appointed Raymond G. Thompson secretary and Clifford Mitchell assistant secretary. Permanent headquarters are soon to be opened.

Several committees have been appointed to make investigations pertaining to the construction of the Polytechnic High School buildings, the telephone service and affairs of the city water department. A meeting of the organization is soon to be held.

DR. GATES IS DEAD.

Former President of Pomona College Passes Away at Winters, Fla.—Funeral at Grinnell, Iowa.

POMONA, Nov. 21. — According to dispatches received here yesterday, Dr. George A. Gates, president of Pomona College from 1903 to 1908, died at Winters, Fla., last night. Dr. Gates was injured in a railroad accident a year ago and received internal injuries which are believed to have been responsible for his death.

Dr. Gates was 60 years old. He leaves two sons and a widow. The remains will be conveyed to Grinnell, Iowa, for interment. Dr. Gates was president of Grinnell College before his engagement in California.

WANT TRACKS LOWERED.

Glendale Residents Are Out of Patience With Officials on Account of Broken Promises.

GLENDALE, Nov. 21.—The residents of the west side of Glendale are up in arms against the Pacific Electric Company because the company will not lower its tracks on Brand boulevard. The tracks at this time are considerably above the grade of the street through the entire city, being from a foot above in some places to three feet in others.

Mattison B. Jones has presented a petition to the local Board of Trustees bearing the signatures of 1000 residents of the west side, demanding that the city take steps whereby the railway company will be forced to lower its grade, an improvement it has promised to make for the past five years.

On the strength of the promise of the company, made several months ago, the city purchased from property owners several feet along either side of the boulevard, from Fifth to Seventh streets, with the intention of making this section of the street to conform with the other parts of the boulevard. This purchase has been completed and the property owners have been given their money, but still the railway company refuses to lower the grade, this refusal greatly hindering the other proposed improvement for this thoroughfare.

In defense of its actions the company states that to lower the grade throughout the length of the city would mean an expense of $75,000, which it claims the Glendale traffic does not warrant at this time. The company's officials state, however, that it is the company's intention to effect the lowering of the grade between Second and Sixth streets, and that the lowering of the grade along the remainder of the company's right of way will follow as the local traffic warrants.

Notwithstanding this announcement, which the residents consider as merely a "promise" to be fulfilled when the company sees fit, the westsiders demand that action be taken by the Trustees at once.

TO CONTROL CHARGES.

A struggle is also on between the Pacific Telephone Company and the Trustees. The telephone company has applied to the Trustees for a franchise to run for twenty-five years, the franchise to contain no clause which will compel the company to give free service between this city and Los Angeles. At the present time each of the 1320 local subscribers is permitted forty calls to Los Angeles each month without extra charge. The Trustees believe that it would be nothing but fair that the franchise contain a clause which would make it impossible for the company to increase the toll for calls between these two points, and the board is almost persuaded that this toll should be eliminated altogether. They claim that if this clause is not inserted it would probably be but a short time before Glendale would have to pay for long-distance calls to Los Angeles such as Alhambra, Inglewood and Pasadena do at this time.

LIQUOR LICENSE TROUBLE.

It is stated that the managers of Casa Verdugo and La Ramada, the two Spanish restaurants at Casa Verdugo, have claimed that if they are not allowed to continue to serve liquid refreshments in their restaurants they will have to discontinue their business. At the recent election the restaurant liquor clause was defeated, affecting these restaurants directly. In consideration of these restaurants the people of Casa Verdugo voted two to one for the continuation of the licenses. It is understood that petitions are being circulated asking that the strip outside of Glendale and affected by this recent vote be taken into the city of Los Angeles. This strip contains 2000 residents, and it is believed that if brought to a vote annexation would carry two to one.

Creswell officiating. The deceased was 87 years old and was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian Church.

Arrangements are being made for a match game of baseball, between the nine from Co. M, Riverside, and a team from the local company.

DISREGARDS PROVISIONS.

Long Beach-Pacific Electric Hearing on Today.

Railroad Company Extends Olive Branch to City.

Man Suffering from Hiccoughs Dies.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 21.—Tomorrow morning, at the City Hall, Commissioner Edgerton of the State Railroad Board will conduct a hearing of the case of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce against the Pacific Electric for alleged disregard of its franchise provisions, which include a 5-cent fare, repair of tracks and universal transfers.

It is intimated that the Pacific Electric will seek to have the hearing annulled on the ground of lack of jurisdiction, contending that the matter of adjusting rates of public utilities is one which concerns the cities in which they are operated and not the State Railway Commission.

Despite this determination, however, the railroad officials are still anxious for a compromise, and today S. G. Barker, representing the eastsiders who want an extension of the local system, received a telephone message that in a communication to follow by mail the Pacific Electric will agree to a written stipulation that the desired track extensions will be made providing the city charter amendment to be voted on in December is adopted, extending the life of franchises from twenty-one to thirty-five years and also providing that the Chamber of Commerce waive the right of universal transfers. It also agrees to make the required repairs on its tracks.

Immediately upon receipt of the letter tomorrow the Chamber of Commerce directors will hold a meeting to decide upon what action to take regarding the pending suit. Several members interviewed today are adverse to any proposed compromise, asserting that the conceded favors must come about as a natural course and that the people are insistent upon the transfer question and also the 5-cent-fare limit, which is not mentioned by the company in its request for a compromise. The Law Committee of the chamber says it is ready to go ahead with the hearing.

LODGE OF SORROW.

The Long Beach Lodge of Elks will hold their annual lodge of sorrow Sunday evening, December 1, at the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Robert B. Gooden, head master of Harvard School, will deliver the eulogy, while the memorial address will be given by Judge Robert S. Hubbard. Special music will be rendered by a mixed quartette and by the Elks' male quartette. During the past year the brothers who have passed are M. L. O'Rielly, Charles A. Hiller, Charles F. King, E. F. Gray, William Anderson, J. L. Hoover, B. A. Tregartha and J. H. Carner.

HICCOUGHS KILL.

Exhaustion, resulting from an attack of hiccoughs which lasted six days, is said to have been the cause of the death of James H. Carner, who passed away at midnight at a local hospital. The attack followed an abdominal operation last Thursday and continued without cessation until Monday night, when temporary relief was obtained, but too late to save the patient's life. Mr. Carner was 58 years of age and a native of Virginia. He leaves a widow and three children.

REMOVING LANDMARKS.

To make way for a modern four-story reinforced concrete building on West Ocean avenue, just off Pine avenue, an old landmark is being wrecked today in the building which sheltered the first City Hall, first Library and first City Jail. The structures which served these purposes nineteen years ago comprise the rear portion of the building being wrecked. In the little old jail it is said prisoners were compelled in wet weather to climb on boxes to get out of the mud and water. Several old-timers stood near the scene today and as the splintered wood became available took away souvenirs of the historic shacks.

UNION SERVICES.

Rev. George D. Knights of the Baptist Church will deliver the annual Thanksgiving sermon at the union services at the First Methodist Church Thanksgiving morning. All of the pastors of Protestant churches will have a part in the services. Music will be furnished by the First M. E. Church choir.

BIXBY'S PROGRAMME.

A trip of inspection through the Long Beach harbor, a visit to the Craig shipyard and an automobile trip about Long Beach are features of the programme arranged tomorrow for Brig.-Gen. William H. Bixby, chief of U.S.A. engineers, following his visit to San Pedro under Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce auspices. Secretary Bixby will escort Gen. Bixby and party to Long Beach and, landing at the Craig plant, will be met by a delegation from the local Chamber of Commerce. After a luncheon at Hotel Virginia the party will go to Newport Bay.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Announcement was made today that Rev. Charles M. Sheldon of Topeka, Kan., author of "In His Steps" and "What Would Jesus Do?" will lecture in Long Beach on December 10, under the auspices of the Southern California Congregational churches. The lecture will be given in the First Methodist Church.

At the Craig plant today the removal of the compound engines for the new steamer Grace Dollar was begun from the machine shops. The engines have a capacity of 450 horse power each. The Grace Dollar will be launched December 10.

Petitions are being circulated asking Council to submit an amendment to the charter providing for the acquirement by the city of a municipal railway by the purchase of Pacific Electric trackage whenever the time is regarded as propitious.

The Chamber of Commerce this morning extended an invitation to the Los Angeles Rotary Club to erect its proposed home for indigent children in Long Beach and to Norton & Morris to erect a branch auto factory here.

WILL FRAPPE THE TOWN.

Venice Merchant Proposes to Lay System of Pipes Furnishing Refrigerating Fluids for All.

VENICE, Nov. 21.—Caesar Menotti, Venice merchant, is behind a plan to supply every householder in this city and Santa Monica with refrigeration. He has asked the City Trustees to advertise for sale under the Broughton act a franchise for the building and maintenance for forty years a system of pipes for the conveyance of the refrigerating fluid. The Trustees will comply with his request, and may award him the franchise. Menotti will form a company which will finance the piping of ammonia and other refrigerating chemicals to cupboards of the 1500 houses and apartments here.

SNAKES ESCAPE.

Terror seized the business section yesterday when it became known that five large snakes were loose along the ocean front near Windward avenue. Fred Naylor, while passing Makin's Cafe, discovered the head of a large snake protruding from a hole, and, once being in the show business, he pounced upon his snakeship and drew him forth. A further search disclosed another large black snake near the cafe. These were the snakes which disturbed Makin three days ago. Police Sergeant Cavanaugh made known the disquieting news last night that Charles Simpson, a showman, had stored seven large snakes under the walk near the cafe before he left for Yuma, and that they were all loose except the two captured yesterday. A snake hunt is on, officers and citizens calming the timid while they poke into dark holes for the reptiles.

How to Turn Time Back And Be Youthful Again

Use this liquid face-lotion and you will find it more satisfactory than any powder or cosmetic. Dissolve four ounces of spurmax in a half-pint of witch hazel (or hot water,) and add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Apply to the face, neck and arms with the palm of the hand and you need not bother again all day about your complexion. It affords protection against cold, biting winds, although it is so dainty and delicate that its use cannot be detected. It is especially fine for any one with dark or oily skin, for it is a true complexion-beautifier and keeps the skin smooth, soft and velvety.

Any one blessed with beautiful hair should by all means take the very best care of it they can. Dandruff will, in time, destroy any head of hair if permitted to remain. If necessary shampoo every week with canthrox. Dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, pour a little on the head, rub as you would with any other shampoo; then rinse well. Canthrox makes plenty of rich lather and thoroughly cleans the scalp and hair. It relieves itching and irritation of the scalp and the hair dries quickly and evenly without streaking. It leaves the hair soft, bright and fluffy. —[Advertisement.

RAILROAD MAN CHANGES JOBS.

Pacific Electric Official to Come to Los Angeles.

Unknown Makes Effort to Get Postoffice Blanks.

San Bernardino Physician Sues Wife for Property.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 21.—A. B. Merrihew, superintendent of the San Bernardino valley division of the Pacific Electric railroad, has resigned the place and will on December 1 become assistant superintendent of the Los Angeles Street Railway Company.

It is with general regret on the part of local business men and the people generally that Mr. Merrihew is to leave here, as he has become very closely identified with the interests of the city and valley. Who will succeed Mr. Merrihew as superintendent here is not yet announced.

Mr. Merrihew came to San Bernardino in 1903 as general manager of the San Bernardino Valley Traction Company when it was taken over by the Huntington interests. He now returns to the company which he served for 13 years previous to 1903.

WANTS P. O. BLANKS.

Following an attempt to secure a supply of money order blanks from an employe of the local post office, E. B. Lamar, alias George S. Daniels, alias W. H. Hill, was placed under arrest here by Post Office Inspector C. D. Lowe and Policeman Warner. Lamar has been hanging about Colton working an advertising scheme.

Last Saturday he walked into the rear door of the postoffice and when asked his business said he was looking for a friend, and left. Later he attempted to bribe a mail wagon driver to secure him a pad of money order blanks. When arrested he was armed with a formidable-looking revolver. He also had several blank checks on foreign banks. He is being held for investigation.

EXPENSIVE ROAD.

A meeting of the larger property owners and business interests of the city, in fact of the citizens generally, has been called by Chairman W. M. Parker of the Pacific Electric right of way committees, to be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock to take up ways and means for raising the balance of the right of way fund appertained to this city.

The campaign for raising the money will be short, as the funds must all be subscribed not later than November 30, when the final committee meeting will be held to close up the affair of the right of way from San Bernardino to Inland. When the balance needed is raised this city will have raised in cash almost $40,000 for getting the Pacific Electric lines into San Bernardino, beside committees having given much time toward getting the right of way for the line to Redlands.

MILLIKEN VERSUS MILLIKEN.

A peculiar action has been filed in the Superior Court by Dr. H. M. Milliken against his wife, Margaret M. Milliken, it being for the purpose of determining the holding of each in the valuable property at the corner of Third and I streets. The property was bought by the Millikens in 1901, Dr. Milliken furnishing $1200, while the balance of $2650 was paid from the community property, it is claimed. Now Milliken will admit that his wife has but a $1200 interest in the property, just what she put into it, though it is worth several times what they paid for it. However the property stands in the wife's name and she refuses to settle except on the basis of the names.

NEWS BRIEFS.

J. Hunter Smith, Jr., of San Francisco, whose honeymoon was interrupted here early in the week by being arrested for issuing a check without funds in the bank, was this afternoon released on advices from the New York, it is understood members of his family, which is prominent there, have settled the affair.

Two Mexicans are being held here as suspects by Sheriff Ralphs, it being believed that one of them is wanted on a murder charge in Western Texas. One of the men exactly answers with the description of the one wanted, and both were acting suspiciously, having been here but a few days.

The heavy wind which has swept over this entire end of the State, has probably caused some damage to crops in the way of bruising them, and a little fruit has been whipped off the trees. Otherwise no damage at any moment has been done in this section.

Mrs. Lulu A. Deitz, who thinks she is entitled to $30,000 from the Fred Slater estate because of a note said to have been given her before his death, has filed a motion for a new trial, the motion containing 29 grounds. The jury in the trial of the case some months ago rendered a verdict allowing Mrs. Deitz' claim.

Mayor J. S. Bright, R. F. Bradley, Gerald Lauterbach, and Joseph Innes are making plans for a trip to be in the near future. They will go down the West Coast, across the Isthmus and then by steamer to New Orleans for the return trip.

The financial statement filed by the Bull Moose county campaign committee shows the committee expended more cash than it had, there being a deficit of $134. The committee held a meeting and passed the hat in a vain effort to make up the shortage.

OUT OF DOOR CLASSES.

Santa Barbara Schools Will Introduce an All-Year-Round Experiment—Open Air Advocates.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Out-of-door classes in the Santa Barbara High School will be started in a few days. Principal Olney has been for some time planning to introduce into the High School routine this out-of-door work for which he feels Santa Barbara climate offers unparalleled opportunity. The plan will be started with one class. With the group of students in this class the faculty will experiment and perhaps lay the foundations for a school system which will allow Santa Barbara school children to pass the greater part of the time occupied both in study and in recitation, in the open air and sunshine.

Mr. Olney said today that he will begin the work with the High School algebra class of which there are two sections. These two sections are at the present time about evenly balanced. One section of this algebra class will, within a few days, be allowed to do all its class work out of doors. The other section will continue with the usual routine of indoor instruction. The same instructor will have charge of both sections. He will keep a minute record of the progress of each section and the result will in a great measure determine the future growth of the out door idea in Santa Barbara schools.

The fittings for this open air schoolroom will be exceedingly simple. Ordinary chairs will seat about half of the class while the other half works at the blackboards which have been ordered for several weeks and upon the arrival of which the opening of the out-door class is waiting.

HIGH SCHOOL ELECTION.

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 21.—The trustees of the Huntington Park Union High School district, which includes Huntington Park, Vernon, Bell and Fruitland, have called an election to be held Saturday, November 23, for the purpose of voting bonds to the amount of $75,000 for a new high school building and equipment. The former building was hardly completed when destroyed by fire about a year ago and since then temporary quarters have been used.

The people of the district expect to see a very heavy vote cast and the bonds ought to carry by a large majority as a new high school is very necessary to this growing district. Owing to the limited time in which to vote, it is largely up to the women.

DOES PIETY PAN OUT IN ALL CASES?

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 21.—Frank Ferre is wondering whether it really pays to attend divine worship.

With his family, Ferre attended church this evening and had returned home in a most peaceful frame of mind when he suddenly discovered thieves had been active during the family's absence.

On taking an inventory he found that one fine roasting pig, a big Thanksgiving turkey, which had been carefully conserved for Thanksgiving, and a half-dozen fine hens had disappeared.

So Ferre is doing some strenuous thinking now as to whether it really pays to go to church.

RUNNING DUEL WITH BURGLARS.

Santa Ana Deputy Shoots Thief Through Heart.

His Companion Flees, but Is Finally Captured.

Baffling Series of Thefts Brought to Close.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A burglar in the morgue and another in the County Jail tonight ends the most baffling series of burglaries ever committed in this county. At 7 o'clock tonight Deputy Sheriff George C. Law shot and killed an unknown burglar. George L. Bates, who was with Law, aided in running down the dead man's companion. This man says his name is Harry Williams, and gives his home as Terre Haute, Ind. He says he knew the dead man only as "Slim."

Burglaries have been an almost nightly occurrence for two weeks past. They have occurred early in the evening when a dark house indicated the people to be out.

Tonight, George L. Bates, who lives at the corner of Fifteenth and Durant streets, saw two men walk into a yard of a house owned by T. Dubois, opposite Bates's house. Bates went to the house of his neighbor, Deputy Sheriff Law, told him, and the two men went across to the darkened house. Bates was unarmed.

As they approached the rear, a man jumped out, aimed a revolver at them and commanded them to stop. Law threw his flashlight on the man. Immediately the burglar pulled the trigger, and the gun snapped. Law fired and missed. The burglar ran around the house, Law after him. Bates ran the other direction to head off the fleeing burglar.

Bates and the burglar met, and twice the man snapped his revolver at Bates. Law coming up behind fired twice, to save Bates, and the second shot struck just as the burglar turned to fire at Law. The bullet went through the man's heart.

Bates took the revolver from the dead man's hand, and with Law, chased the other burglar through a walnut orchard to the corner of Eighteenth and Broadway.

There the burglar turned into an alley and tried to hide in Mrs. Sarah Garland's barn. He told Ned Garland he had had a fight with some boys. Bates, a block away, yelled "stop him," and when Bates arrived Garland and Robert McCuiston, with revolvers, had the burglar. Bates searched him, and took from his pocket a big revolver stolen Monday night from E. V. C. Pomeroy. The gun taken from the dead man was stolen last week from Ray Wilson's home.

The dead man is about 23 years of age, has soft, white hands, dark hair and wore a blue serge suit.

STOCK LETTER.

(Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The market gave a very good account of itself today. There was a substantial volume of influential buying in evidence. The market hesitated for a period in the early afternoon, owing to reports from Europe indicative of complications in connection with the settlement of Balkan affairs. However, seemingly authoritative reports circulated to the effect that the Interstate Commerce Commission is more than likely to permit the carriers in certain instances to advance freight rates, taken in conjunction with the rather well-defined prospects of New York securing on Monday a portion of the New gold arrivals, did much toward holding selling in check, and toward producing nervousness in the short interest, which has assumed large proportions. Should the carriers be granted relief in the nature of increased rates, it is not improbable that international politics will be at least temporarily relegated to the rear as an immediate market influence. In addition it is not unlikely that the stock market will start to reflect the betterment which it is generally conceded should accrue from the brilliant agricultural outputs, and the satisfactory state of trade and industry.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET

It was rumored yesterday that there might be an advance in banana prices owing to a hurricane destroying some of the plantations in the West Indies. However, Leigh Dennis of the Pacific Fruit Dispatch, says that although he has not received detailed information regarding the damage, he believes the market will not be affected, as the regions where injury was reported are supply points for eastern sections.

A carload of Italian chestnuts was received. The demand for the nuts is very good. Apple receipts were very light—only fifty-two boxes. Bellefleurs were offered a little below market quotations in some instances. Winter melons are still quite plentiful and prices remain about the same. Very few casabas are on the market, and cantaloupes are out. The supply of pineapples will rather short. Dealers say this is caused by the fruit being temporarily out of season.

Onions were very weak. One sale was made at the rate of 47½ cents per hundred. Receipts were 900 sacks. Sweet potatoes were offered as low as $1.40 a sack; 1100 sacks came in. Receipts of potatoes were 3600 sacks. Cucumbers and chili were dragging.

The market on local ranch eggs was steadier. In fact, some eggs were sold at 45 cents; 1 cent below the market quotation. Other sales were made as at present. Receipts were fifty-eight cases. Butter was firm; 32,592 pounds came in. There was still some weakness in the cheese market. Northern fresh, Tillamook daisies, imported Swiss wheel and Roquefort were offered below the prevailing quotations. Receipts were are pounds.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Union Provident Reinstated on the Board—Union Oil Stock Shows a Decline.

There was little trading on the exchange yesterday morning. Union sold off a little, and exhibited a further decline at the opening of the afternoon session. There was one off-board sale at $94. California Midway was a little weaker, 1000 shares changing hands at 60. Baer Creek sold on the board at 60, and off-board at 57. Only ten shares of United Petroleum changed hands, and it closed the same as on the preceding day.

By a decision of the board of the directorate of the exchange Union Provident stock was reinstated on the trading list. The provision was made that all stock issued on or before November 7 is good for delivery on the exchange.

This action was suggested at an informal meeting of the members of the exchange following the morning session. A motion to reinstate the stock was put to all the members. Nineteen voted in favor of it and fifteen against it. The board of directors took action in the afternoon.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Legislation Committee of the Council refused to recommend the creation of the proposed Plumbing Commission, requested by three labor-union organizations, until it is assured there are no "bugs" in it that would work a hardship on non-union plumbers.

President Shoup of the Pacific Electric and the Legislation Committee of the Council agreed on certain modifications of the freight-carrying franchise yesterday which will make it acceptable to the company.

Norman P. Cummings, a real estate broker, lost his wife in the divorce court yesterday on account of a dozen words he used in regard to her. The court declared the words couldn't be explained, and he didn't care whether they were true or false.

FEAR "BUGS" IN THIS MEASURE.

COUNCILMEN LOOK ASKANCE ON COMMISSION.

Request of Three Labor-Union Organizations that Plumbing Body Be Created Is Regarded Suspiciously—Might Operate Against Untrammeled Workmen.

At the instance of three labor-union organizations, Lewis R. Works appeared before the Legislation Committee of the City Council yesterday to urge the passage of an ordinance creating a municipal plumbing commission, before which all plumbers would be compelled to appear for examination before they would be permitted to do contract jobs in this city.

It is proposed that this commission shall consist of two journeyman plumbers, to be appointed by the Mayor, and the city plumbing inspector. Just how far this commission might go in shutting out non-union workmen from an opportunity to handle jobs, is a question that must be settled before the ordinance will receive favorable action on the part of the Council Committee. Members of the committee expressed themselves yesterday, as doubting the necessity for such restrictions. They decided to take no action for a week.

"I don't like the idea of adopting any ordinance that would put individuals in the position of having the power to say whether a man shall go to work here or to refuse him that right," said Reed.

"Isn't the work performed the best test of a man's ability? I believe that is the real test, and if a plumber is doing improper work, we have a plumbing inspector whose duty it is to detect it."

Councilman Andrews expressed similar views, although declaring that it is possible the plumbing inspection is not rigidly enough enforced.

Works asserted other cities are adopting similar measures, but the committee decided it would not recommend the proposed ordinance at present and will look into it carefully, in search for "bugs."

It is a trick the labor unions have tried to play on the Council several times hitherto.

FREIGHT CARRYING.

CHANGES ARE AGREED ON.

President Shoup of the Pacific Electric appeared before the Legislation Committee of the City Council yesterday, and gave his objections to the terms of the freight-carrying franchise ordinance for the Pacific Electric lines, east of Main street. He declared the ordinance as presented before the committee was different from that which he had discussed with the Public Utilities Board, and that it contained provisions under which his company would not be justified in operating a freight-carrying service.

After a general discussion the franchise was modified on three points, and with these changes, Shoup agreed to accept its conditions. One of these eliminates the plan of limiting the service only to three-car trains east of Alameda street, as Shoup showed that it would be necessary to move long trains from Lyons to Anderson streets if freight is to be handled expeditiously and economically. Another is that the company shall have six months' notice of revocation, instead of twenty-four hours, as the former plan provided, and there is also to be a clause whereby the present rights of the company are to be safeguarded in case the proposed franchise is revoked.

BRONSON AVENUE.

MAY BE A BOULEVARD.

The long-continued controversy over rock-hauling on Bronson avenue, Hollywood, was advanced a step nearer settlement yesterday when the Council Committee of the Whole voted, only Betkouski dissenting, to recommend the passage of an ordinance declaring the avenue a boulevard, from which heavy teaming shall be excluded. This will mean the passage of the ordinance over the veto of the Mayor, who declares such action would be giving a monopoly of stone and gravel hauling to the Pacific Electric.

The Council met immediately afterward, but as seven votes are required to pass a measure over the veto of the Mayor, and only six were available, action was postponed until next Tuesday.

Many property owners were present yesterday and declared that more than 500 teams a day traverse this street, and that the dust nuisance has become intolerable.

H. G. Farrell, manager of the Los Angeles Stone Company, said if the ordinance were not passed, and teaming is permitted, his company will be willing to furnish free of cost the necessary stone and gravel to improve the street.

Recently the Council closed the Nichols Canyon road, under the impression that it was giving the relief desired, but this was not satisfactory. An attempt will be made by owners of rock quarries in Nichols Canyon to have that action repealed. If this is not done, it is possible that damage suits will be instituted against the city for closing the only avenue for traffic from these quarries.

New Tunnel Project.

The Streets and Boulevards Committee of the Council gave its recommendation yesterday to the proposed tunnel to extend from Hill and Temple streets to the south end of Castelar street. This would give direct access from the East Side to the downtown district, through this and the Hill-street tunnel. A largely-signed petition was presented, asking for this improvement.

WILL LAY GIRDER RAIL.

The Board of Public Works granted the petition of the Pacific Electric yesterday, allowing that company an extension of ninety days within which to lay girder rails on its tracks on Hill street, between Pico and Sixteenth streets. The company's communication stated that its original plans for the repairing after the street paving did not include the laying of the girder rail, but that these plans have been changed, and time will be required to secure the necessary material.

Pass It to Council.

The Supply Committee of the City Council refused yesterday to make any recommendation on the demand of the Police Commission for more patrolmen, urged as necessary "in view of the threatened epidemic of hold-ups and burglaries and other outrages." The subject was sent to the Council without comment. The Finance Committee will have to consider the question of ways and means next Monday. Chief Sebastian says he must have at least twenty-five more patrolmen.

City Hall Brevities.

The Finance Committee of the City Council recommended yesterday that an appropriation of $1000 be made for a subscription to the funds of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, for which request was made by Congressman Stephens.

Councilman Reed addressed the Motor Truck Club of California last night at Brink's Cafe on the subject of the proposed tax on motor trucks.

The Civil Service Commission has begun an investigation to determine why F. W. Lloyd, who has been engaged in detective work for the city, was maintained on the payroll of the police department as a chauffeur under an emergency appointment.

The Legislation Committee of the Council recommended yesterday the adoption of an ordinance requiring the use of safety railings on swinging staging used on buildings more than two stories high.

JUDGE REBUKES HUSBAND FOR LANGUAGE USED.

Asserts Allegations Should Not Be Made in Complaints that Cannot Be Corroborated—Declares He Doesn't Care Whether Words Are True or False.

A sentence of less than twelve words cost Norman P. Cummings, a real estate broker of this city, a decree of divorce yesterday. The words were spoken by Cummings when he was examined before Judge Bordwell, on an order to show cause why he should not pay alimony. They were of such a nature, reflecting on the character of his wife, that they were not read in the proceedings.

"I will grant Mrs. Cummings this divorce," said Judge Monroe. "These words can't be explained and I don't care whether they are true or false."

The court also took occasion to make it emphatic that allegations should not be made in complaints that cannot be corroborated. He said:

"I don't think a woman's sensibilities are shocked if she is asked to repeat in court the language she uses in her complaint and which she tells her lawyer—matters of a private nature which they know cannot be corroborated in court."

Attorney Rush explained as to the language Cummings used in the supplemental complaint that at the time he was sick and nervous and had been subjected to a trying examination.

"He just naturally spit it out," he told the court.

From the evidence adduced in the case the court remarked that Cummings and his wife seemed to have kept up a running fight ever since they were married, in 1905, and he said he would not grant a divorce on any of the other allegations brought out.

The result of the property settlement was that Mrs. Cummings receives $2250 cash and furniture valued at $1500.

COURT CRITICIZES.

HITS OLD PRACTICE.

That possession is nine-tenths of the law was demonstrated in Judge Craig's court yesterday when Sylvia Dilles won a judgment from her erstwhile friend, E. F. Defever, a deep-sea diver, and incidentally laid bare a practice which the court said should be discouraged.

Sylvia and Defever met in Antwerp and their close friendship continued when they took up their residence at San Pedro. Defever made a deed to Sylvia which was to be delivered to her at his death. He alleged she took the deed from a safe deposit box and had it recorded. She brought suit to quiet title.

In a written opinion Judge Craig stated it is a common thing for one to give a deed of property to another, usually the parties being related as husband and wife, with the understanding that if the grantor dies the grantee will claim the property under the deed, but that if he does not die the grantee is to make no claim to the property.

Such a transaction, he held, is a fraud on the law as an attempt to evade the probating of an estate and probably the payment of an inheritance tax. It also encourages perjury, for in nearly every case, if the grantee subsequent to the death of the grantor, claims the property under such a deed, he must testify that the deed was actually delivered to him, when, in fact, in most cases it is not.

The court held that in the present case there is proof of the execution of the deed and it having been produced from the plaintiff's possession, there was a delivery.

SAYS HE'S A BOOB.

HUBBY CRIES "NEVER AGAIN!"

When a man gives his wife his entire salary, depending on her for car fare and small incidentals, and she tells friends in his presence she is the boss of the house, what ought he be called? Douglas E. White answered the question in Judge Monroe's court yesterday.

"Why did you give your wife all your salary?" the court asked.

"Because I was a boob," replied White.

He said he earned $25 a week and turned it all over to Mrs. White.

"I never got any of it, Your Honor," he continued. "One evening we were calling on friends and she told them she was boss of our home. That made me mad and I wouldn't give her my salary. Then she left me."

The case was continued and Mrs. White will be summoned to give her side of the story.

TITLE SUIT.

OMISSION CAUSES TROUBLE.

Three acres of land and a fence figure in the suit of the Sherman Investment Company against J. F. Figueroa, called in Judge Craig's court yesterday afternoon. The company claims title to the land. Figueroa says he is the owner and alleges that when a portion of La Ballona ranch, near what is now the town of Palms, was sold twenty years ago, the three acres in dispute was not included in the description.

One day several months ago a long fence mysteriously appeared on Figueroa's land. The obvious intention was to keep out trespassers, and an injunction suit was filed by the Sherman Investment Company, which alleged ownership to the land fenced off. This suit is pending. The company is represented by Gurney Newlin.

CAN'T RECOVER.

BLOW AT LOAN GAME.

A decision anxiously awaited by the Japanese colony was handed down by Judge Houser yesterday. An attempt on the part of the Los Angeles Savings Society to collect on a promissory note through Nichiro Hirakuma was ruled against by the court, who held that the organization, being in effect a partnership and a fictitious plaintiff to the suit, could not maintain the action. He found judgment for the defendants, S. Katosato, D. Mizuna and Kenichi Sakoda.

In the answer and cross-complaint to the complaint, it was alleged that the society conducted a lottery. The evidence brought out the facts that the first member to draw the lucky prize obligated himself by contract to continue his monthly payments of $25, in addition to which he gave a note for the amount of the prize. A bonus was collected from him which was distributed among the other members in the pool. The note Katosato gave and which he refused to pay was the subject of the suit. The plaintiff alleged that the amount Katosato received was a loan.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

LIFTS MORTGAGE. An indebtedness of $225,000 was lifted by the Economic Gas Company yesterday when Trippett, Chapman & Biby filed the release of a mortgage for a trust deed at the County Recorder's office. The mortgagee is George H. Hayes. The mortgage covers property of the gas company and was given in June, 1909. The company regards the discharge of the lien as an evidence of prosperity.

TWO SIDES. Attorney William T. Kendrick will sit as judge in Extra Sessions Four today to try a damage suit with a peculiar feature. While J. P. Sheldon alleges he was struck and injured by an automobile owned by C. H. Howard, a contractor, October 8 last, and that the auto was driven at a reckless speed, Attorney George P. Adams, counsel for Howard, says he has five witnesses who will testify the auto was stationary and that Sheldon ran into it.

WINS JUDGMENT. Although doctors disagreed as to the extent of her injuries, a jury in Judge Wood's court awarded Mary A. Bowser $2642 damages yesterday for burns she received from a newspaper device in a Pacific Electric car. Her testimony showed that she was severely shocked. Her claim was for $15,398.

MURDER TRIAL. James Brown, colored, charged with the slaying of Maggie Norton, an octoroon, June 16, 1911, was on trial before a jury in Judge McCormick's court yesterday. At the preliminary examination, July 5, Brown was committed to Patton. He escaped the following day, made his way north, and obtained employment as a Pullman porter. His arrest followed.

WILL FILED. W. George Davison, who laid out the Orchard Dale tract, leaves an estate valued at $40,000. He died at Monrovia on the 10th inst., leaving his estate to his widow, Cora Augusta, and his daughter, Dorothy Alvira. The assets include 215 shares of the stock of the West India Gardens, and 5000 shares of the Southwest Land Company. Davison owned considerable real estate.

QUICK WORK. Filed, tried and a decree granted all in twenty minutes, was the history of a petition yesterday. Attorney Goudge filed the petition at 10 o'clock for the appointment of a trustee for the San Pedro Water Company, to fill a vacancy. At 10:20 o'clock Judge Bordwell had named the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank. The position was formerly held by the Broadway Bank and Trust Company.

JOYFEST FOR SHRINERS.

Big Show and Smoker Under Direction of Al Malaikah Temple on Saturday Evening.

Effervescing joy and scintillating a triple distillation of class, the entertainment features provided for Al Malaikah Temple's big show and smoker, to be held tomorrow evening in Shrine Auditorium, promise to furnish those who attend with a storehouse of pleasant memories that will last them for months.

There is something of mystery about parts of the programme, copies of which have been sent to Temple devotees by Potentate Flint. Each Noble, for example, must deposit his personal visiting card in a box as he enters the door, and this simple operation is said to have much to do with amusement of a most surprising and delightful character later on.

Only members will be present at the big doings. There will be "big eats" while the stage performance is going on, and liquid refreshments, together with an ample supply of cigars, cigarettes and other smoking materials will contribute to the joy and comfort of the Shriners.

A few of the entertainment features from which the veil of mystery have been partly lifted are given as follows on a three-foot folder with which Potentate Flint has favored brother members:

Jiu jitsu exhibition. Astu Nitram versus Yokahoma Elgan; Bentley Trio, singing, dancing and talking; lightweight boxing match, three rounds, Kid Flint versus Kid Mitchell; silver-tongued orator Dave Martin in a short dissertation on boneless duck; Fritz Shade, "the funny little Dutchman;" Japanese fencers, Sedohr versus Yevreh; the two Danby girl dancers; heavyweight championship boxing match, Rendiwe versus Yrrep; Billy Machin, singing, dancing and talking; concert and ragtime pieces by the Shrine band.

FRESHMEN TO FEAST.

Annual Event of College of Law Will Be Given at University Club—Many Stunts.

The annual freshman banquet of the College of Law of the University of Southern California will be held tomorrow evening at the University Club. Three hundred students, former students and alumni are expected to attend.

An excellent programme of set and impromptu speeches has been arranged by the Entertainment Committee, to say nothing of the "stunts" that will be pulled off during the evening. The speakers for the occasion are F. H. Bloodgood, George P. Adams and Mattison B. Jones. James L. Patten will be the toastmaster. The presidents of the various classes who are assisting in the general arrangements, are: A. H. Stockton, senior class; A. B. Campbell, junior class, and A. C. Fisher, freshman class.

UNGENTLEMANLY CONDUCT.

Kid-Glove Burglar Caught in all His Paraphernalia, Including Patent Leathers and Spiketail.

One of the annoying things of life with which the esthetic burglar has to reckon is the unimaginative officer of the law. Being a policeman and sworn to protect the lives and property of his fellow-citizens, the latter comes to look upon crime as a concrete something that should be suppressed. He fails to differentiate between the common or garden variety of burglar and the so-called gentleman burglar, much to the discomfort and discomfiture of the latter class. It is to this lack of perception that Isaac Smith, erstwhile gentleman burglar, owes his present predicament.

Isaac was captured early yesterday morning in the building at No. 129 South Broadway. The light from a flash lamp which revealed his hiding place in the office of the Home Builders also revealed the business end of a blue steel revolver in the hand of Policeman Oakley, and the combination proved sufficient inducement to persuade Smith to report at Central Police Station.

In the presence of uncultured policemen this exponent of esthetic in the profession of burglary gave vent to some of his beliefs. A man should be a gentleman, even though a burglar, he contended, and in support of this belief flashed a perfectly good diamond ring and a silk handkerchief. Smith was faultlessly attired and insisted that kid gloves and patent-leather shoes were essential to success. Frequent recourse to a manicuring parlor and proper care of the teeth he also recommended. Smith is being held for further investigation.

PLAYS THE WRONG TUNE.

Teddy's Engine Sings Sweet Song to Driver's Ears, But Motor Cop Causes Sad Discord.

It cost Teddy Tetzlaff, daring road-racer, $25 yesterday for tuning up his big Flat racer on Seventh street two weeks ago. Justice Young heard his excuse for having not appeared in court Wednesday. Tetzlaff had mislaid his notification.

When asked whether he had ever been arrested before, Tetzlaff replied that he had been warned while on his way to the Santa Monica road race, which he won.

"I was only making an engine test the other day," he said, "and never had the car off second speed. There weren't any teams on the road and I went out of the city to escape them. There was no real scorching as a matter of intention."
